Presented at the last meeting of the Lenawee County Board of Realtors, the pin was given to Mr. Kohler by Donald Treadwell, president of the Michigan Real Estate association.

On June 18, the local businessman will receive a certificate from the University of Michigan in ceremonies at Angell Hall, Ann Arbor.

The educational courses stretch over the last 10 years and included: real estate sales techniques, Business I and II, finance, law, building, management, insurance and appraisal.

Golfers Vie for Prizes

Golfers at Tecumseh Country Club will compete in their first big intra-club competition of the summer this Sunday.

It's the second annual Judge Rathbun Day.

Breakfast between 8 and 9 a.m. gets things rolling, with linksmen teeing off after 8:30. About 50 are expected to take part.

Playing the quota system—one point for Bogey, two for a par, three for birdie and four for an eagle—golfers will have plenty of prizes to shoot for.

Awards go to the top two-man team made up of members and the best two-man guest unit.

Also for low putts, low gross, longest drive on No. 3 and closest-to-pin on No. 6 green.

There will be refreshments between No. 6 green and No. 7 tee.

Any ties will be played off with an 18-hole match on the putting green, explains chairman Harold Easton.

Entry fee is $2.50 and the entire pot will be used for prizes.

On The Other Side: Greed

Dulles and Hoffa.

When Dulles said we must be willing to tread to the "brink of war" with the communists to make our thinking felt, he stood by his words never faltering, even as the politicians dammed him.

When Hoffa told a delegation of labor leaders that he'd pull a nation-wide strike which would paralyze America, (and he meant it), he said he had been misquoted.

Dulles stood for world peace through national military strength and advancement in the atomic and missile age. He hated deceit, double-dealing, lies.

Hoffa wanted power and as fellow labor leader Walter Reuther put it, "Hoffa thinks with his muscles." Hoffa built an organization with grafters and chislers. who use arson, muggings and threats to win Jimmie's points.

Dulles and Hoffa—as different as Alaska and Hawaii.

When Mr. Dulles passed away America lost a truly great statesman.

America is full of men and women patterned after Dulles and Hoffa, maybe not as dynamic, certainly not as well-known. But they are here by the hundreds of thousands.

On one side stand those who work for a better nation, on the other those who greed for personal power and glory.

May the second group never outnumber the first.

Finds He Doesn't Have To Wear 'Em

Earl Greene, elementary supervisor of the public schools, said that about 200 of the expected 275 kindergarten children have been registered so far.

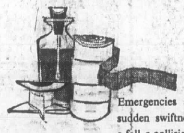
What to do till the doctor comes



Emergencies strike with sudden swiftness. A slip, a fall, a collision is seldom announced. So be prepared. At least one member of every family should have a working knowledge of first aid. There are books on the subject and the American Red Cross gives classes where such information and training can be acquired. We recommend that you, or someone in your household, acquire the know-how. Another worthy recommendation is to maintain a supply of first-aid medications on hand at all times—antiseptic, gauze bandages, adhesive tape, alcohol, soothing creams, etc. The cost is small and we'll be glad to assist you in your selection.

Home Ownership Here Tops National Average

(Special to the Herald)

The proportion of the local population owning homes is greater than it has been at any time. It exceeds the ownership ratio found in most parts of the United States.

Such are the conclusions arrived at after surveys by the Department of Labor, by the Commerce Department, which has just released its national housing inventory, and by other agencies.

They reveal an estimated 72.6 percent of the dwelling units in Tecumseh to be owned by their occupants, as compared with 54.4 percent in the United States and with 59.8 percent in the North Central States.

The gain was achieved in the seven-year span after 1950, when the Census of Housing, taken that year, showed home ownership locally at 70.1 percent.

The rise represents the average advance in the period for the region encompassing Tecumseh and is attributed in part to the fact that better economic conditions during most of those years made it possible for many people to satisfy their urge to own their own homes.

Other contributing factors were easier private credit, except during one or two years, as well as federal aid made available through the FHA and VA programs.

SOLID ADVANCES have also been made in the physical condition of dwelling units in the area, both through modernization and repair work and through the replacement of dilapidated structures with new ones.

At the time of the 1950 census, 70.4% of the dwellings in the State of Michigan had hot and cold running water, flush toilets and private baths and were found to need no major repairs.

The current housing inventory shows that 84.2% of the houses in the region are now in that approved category.

The steady improvement in the quality and condition of the nation's dwelling places, together with the better spread in ownership, are viewed as a great source of stability in our economy.

"I'm going to stop at the bank to see about a new refrigerator!"

Yes, you heard right. Of course the bank doesn't carry a line of refrigerators. She has selected the one she wants at her appliance dealer's. But bank credit will help her finance the cost. Our bank makes loans to help people buy all kinds of household equipment: Refrigerators, home freezers, kitchen ranges, automatic dishwashers, washing machines and driers, and many other appliances that will make the homemaker's job easier . . . living more pleasant. With a bank loan, a purchaser finances economically and spreads repayment over a comfortable period of months — while enjoying the convenience of the new equipment purchased.

What new appliance will lessen the burden of housekeeping at your house? Tell us; and we'll tell you just how easily and quickly the low-cost Appliance Loan you need can be arranged here at our bank.

Did you know that your laughing and chuckling at a comedy TV program isn't always caused directly by what you see and hear?

Actually, sometimes a psychological trick is being played on you. Some networks are using a record sounding gadget which can be tuned in to various kinds of laughs, giggles, snickers, and hysterical guffaws. Set-off at the right moment, you hear a presumably good response from the invisible audience. Actually, you are hearing this laughing machine.

This gadget is used because of the theory that laughing is contagious like measles. The more response you hear, the more chances that you'll laugh, too, even if the program is mediocre.

But even with this 'make believe' your TV receiver must co-operate with a clear, steady picture. If you don't have this, Phone 692-J. COOK ELECTRIC will give you satisfactory results (not psychological) with the latest, electronic testing and servicing instruments.

Britton-Macon Prom Takes Guests to the Orient

There was a Shangrila setting throughout even to the marquee over the entrance. A huge Buddha greeted the couples as they entered the gym.

About 100 couples danced under a heavenly-blue ceiling spotted with Japanese lanterns.

The entire ceiling had been dropped to within 10 feet of the floor with 37" stripe of fire proof paper. The class had painted brightly-colored scenes of pagodas, mountains, cherry trees, rice fields and little villages on the walls.

A partition was made on three sides of the room with rose yellow and green streamers. This made a pleasant setting for the card tablese where snacks and punch were served to the guests.

One of the main highlights of the evening was a life-size water fall made by the boys that flowed continually into a pool below that contained water lilies and gold fish.

Red lights shone on the falling water that ran down through rocks, violets and lilacs and helped to make it more beautiful.

The stage was set with a Chinese garden. The background was of real apple trees. There was a little white bridge that guests walked over and look down into pools on either side.

The "Playboys" of Detroit furnished the music.

Long AND Short OF IT

By TOM RIORDAN

Louella wrote that Joan Crawford doesn't have a sou. Since Joan has long been a screen favorite of mine, I decided to switch my soft drink habit to straight Pepsi.

Thank goodness, the next edition reported Joan saying she was not really sou-less. Fact is, she had a pretty fair annual income of them.

So, here's a toast to you, Joan, in Vernor's.

☆

Tecumseh has quite a few.

Although his may be a small business as compared to places like J. L. Hudson and Penney's, it takes every bit as much hard work, good sense and sales ability to keep Helms Furniture growing and making money as the big boys.

Claude has been selling sofas and chairs, bedroom suites and hutch cabinets for 42 years.

Over this span he has gained an education in retail merchandising and selling which could never be obtained in books or classrooms. Guess you'd call it the Ole School of Hard Knocks.

Enlarging and expanding a small business is a gamble, no matter how many angles you study it from.

And that's why I admire the small businessman so much.

He calculates the risk, figures he has a good chance and boldly steps ahead.

It is he and he alone who suffers the pangs of wonderment and concern. Later, if all goes well, he will bask in the sunlight of success.

This seems to be the driving force behind many of the small businessmen, who have confidence in themselves, their God-given abilities and the community which they serve.

Due to a rush of stories, pictures and ads, the third installment of our series on Tecumseh taxation will have to hold until next week.

Did a parade ever save someone's life?

Each is better than the year before and folks just don't want to miss it. So they stay home Memorial Day and forget about hitting the road on a quick weekend trip.

So I'll wager, our Memorial parade has saved lives.

As always, men, women and children taking part in the march from Ottawa and Chicago to Brookside Cemetery turned in fine performances. The lineup included a little of everything.

Marshal Harold Easton is to be congratulated. When I did this in person Monday, Harold made this modest comment:

"Know why the parade was good? Everything I asked folks to do was done."

This speaks volumes, that wonderful spirit of cooperation and sacrifice.

Being in a parade takes more than just turning up at 10 a.m. For those in uniform—from veterans' drill teams to Cub Scouts—there are hours of practice. Making a float is a real project and even decorating a bicycle takes time (often for mom or dad).

As I roamed along the line of march, watching the faces of spectators, it was easy to see enjoyment written there — and pride, too. Who wouldn't be proud to see fellow townspeople striding along as an honor to our war dead?

At the last minute, two Herald apprentices, Paul Surratt and Kim Dabe, got a bright idea for covering the affair. Why not a press car?

Kim borrowed one from Noel

SNEAK PREVIEW—Taking a peek into the show window of Helms Furniture Monday morning was Mrs. Bertram Updike, who just couldn't wait until Saturday's grand opening.

Helms Furniture Opens Addition

In 10 short years, Helms Furniture store in Tecumseh has grown nearly five times its original size.

Newest addition, completed this week, gives the business 1,375 sq. ft. more of space.

Open from 9 to 9 Saturday for its "debut", this extension to the sidewalk helps bring Tecumseh another accomplishment.

As the years rolled along and business improved, they made a total of three additions.

☆

BESIDES THE inventory at the store, Claude Helms maintains a warehouse so that almost every item is "double stocked", meaning when one piece is sold, it is immediately replaced.

The new facilities make possible the addition of many new pieces in both the modern and Early American lines, explains Mr. Helms.

Mr. Helms expressed a confidence in the growth of Tecumseh as the reason for the addition and the added fact that business has called for more display space.

He will be vice-president and sales manager of the company.

Mr. Partridge founded the business in March, 1939, and his son, Owen, became a partner in 1940.

Because of his age and poor health, Mr. Partridge said he is retiring.

Girl, 4, Run Over by Trailer

By the narrow margin of a few inches she escaped death or possible serious injuries while she was playing near her home.

Pulling a trailer behind his car, Harold Ashenfelter, of Occidental Rd., was driving away from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Martin, 510 Cairns, when he heard a child scream.

Stopping his car, Mr. Ashenfelter found Bonnie Skampo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Logan, 605 Cairns, lying beside the road. She had been run over by the trailer.

Mr. Ashenfelter was not held by police.

All-Night Party for THS Seniors

An all-night party for Tecumseh seniors is being sponsored by parents of the class from 10:30 to 5 a.m. Thursday evening at the Tecumseh Grange Hall.

Because last year's event following open house in individual homes was so successful, it was decided to repeat the event with dancing, games, prize cards, surprises and refreshments.

Buffet lunch will be served from 11 p.m. to 12 and breakfast from 4 a.m. to 5 a.m.

Art Smith's Combo will provide the music.

Baptists Hold Barbecue June 19

Llewelyn Sissons and the Clifford Currans will be in charge of the first barbecue to be held Friday, June 19, in the Youth House.

Mrs. Earl Wood and Mrs. B. O. Bashore were the hostesses and Mrs. Clifford Curran was in charge of the program.

This was the last meeting until September.

VFW Post Gives Flag

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

FLAG RAISING—A new 49-star flag flys over the boulevard in front of the Tecumseh library. It was presented by the Tecumseh VFW on Memorial Day morning and accepted for the library board by its chairman, Allan Seager, who stands at right. VFW members who raised the flag were Terry Allion, Warren Filter and Gaza Kish. Mr. Kish, post commander, made the presentation.

Stickers Would Be Placed on All Vehicles in Town

By JIM LINCOLN

Action to control the city dump was taken Monday night by council with a request for necessary legislation from the city attorney.

The resolution to be acted on at the June 15 meeting will call for:

1. Stickers for all Tecumseh vehicles.
2. Closing of the dump to out-of-town vehicles.
3. Allowing the dumping of both garbage and trash, with each being separated and to be dumped at designated places.
4. Charge of $1 for sticker for a six-month period.

A lengthy discussion preceeded the action, including comments by Herb Dillon of Tecumseh Hauling Company.

Mr. Dillon had proposed a garbage pick-up service at a charge of a $1 a month. The service included twice a week pick-up of anything brought to the curb.

Complaints reported by councilmen from residents was the possible unsightly conditions at the curbs with trash and garbage cans.

Mr. Dillon said garbage and trash could be picked up at the houses but at a sightly higher monthly charge.

He also said that exceptions would be made for homes occupied solely by ladies and those by elder people.

☆

ATTORNEY James Beardsley, in an opinion to council, said that E. L. Simmons Ford agency could properly occupy the old International Harvester building at the corner of Occidental and W. Chicago Blvd.

A question was raised at the previous meeting whether garage operations there would conform to the zoning regulations.

☆

● Erection of a bridge over the creek in the new park behind Patterson school.

● And, scheduling of a hearing for curb-and-gutter installation on Evans St., between Patterson and Cummins.

Two Board Vacancies

Terms of two members of the Tecumseh School Board — Mr. Jens Touborg and Mr. Virgil Tucker — will expire July 13, Superintendent of Schools James McDowell reported this week.

Elected to the board in 1941, Mr. Touborg has been a continuous member since that time. He also has been president of the board since 1944. Mr. Tucker has served one three-year term as a board member.

Any person who wishes to become a board candidate must meet these requirements:

1. He must be over 21, a citizen of the U.S. and a resident of the school district for 30 days preceding the election.
2. He must be a property owner.
3. He must file a nomination petition with Dr. Ralph Helzerman, Secretary of the School Board, no later than 30 days prior to the election.

Each candidate's petition must be signed by not less than 50 or more than 75 registered voters of the school district. Petitions may be obtained at Mr. McDowell's office.

No voter can sign more than two petitions.

The school board election will be held Monday, July 13, and all petitions must be signed by that time.

TOUGH TASK—Harold Easton had good reason to mop his brow Saturday morning about 11. He had just finished the job of marshalling the Memorial Day parade. Read about the parade in The Long and Short of It and look for photos of the event in this issue. There'll be more next week, too, as we didn't have room for all of them.

It's All Over on Friday, Kids

Tecumseh elementary schools will close Friday for summer vacation according to Earl Greene.

Elementary children will not be in school Thursday. However, they will report Friday at 10:30 a.m. for their grade cards.

Busses will run their regular routes Friday morning starting at approximately 9:30 and will be held at school until children are dismissed.

Sportsman Club Holds Car Wash

It will run all day with free pick up and delivery. The wash, which will only take a few minutes since several boys will work on each, will be by donation.

Fund Fails

Britton's $50,000 revolving fund was soundly trounced at the polls Monday, by nearly a two to one vote.

Sixty-eight voters cast ballots against the issue, 37 voted for it, and two votes were void. A 60 percent majority was necessary.

Young Baseballers Marching in Parade

Tecumseh's Major Baseball League gets its official sendoff Saturday with a parade at 1:30 p.m.

All 90 players, dressed in full uniform, will be featured, as they ride in and march next to 17 convertibles.

Daughter of the six managers will be queens for opening day and take part in the parade. They're:

FORMING AT S. Pearl St. and Chicago Blvd., the parade will move east to Ottawa St., north of Recreation Field, down past the swimming pool and to the diamond.

In field ceremonies, Oley Hanna and Ed Nelson, mayor and city manager, will form the opening day battery. (It's not known who'll pitch and who'll catch, Oley and Ed are keeping this a secret until this last moment.)

Following this, the six teams will play three, three-inning exhibitions.

League play begins next week and the schedule is listed below.

A six-man committee has been busy getting dugouts ready for the No. 1 diamond. Included are Rip Smith, Joe Dziachan, Vic Peterson, Barney Goodman, Tom Brooks and Ron Henkel.

Janet Nash and Gordon Bernstein Marry

Janet Marie Nash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nash 4350 Macon Rd., was united in marriage to Gordon Leon Bernstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bernstein of Clark Lake, on May 24 at the Methodist Church by the Rev. James D. Nixon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her gown of ivory taffeta with sequin embroidered lace bordering the scoop neckline and around the waist.

Long tapered sleeves ended in points over the hands and the full skirt draped from a bow at the back waistline to form a chapel train.

A Juliet cap of matching embroidered lace held her elbow length veil in place and she wore pearls at her throat which were the gift of the groom.

☆

Mrs. Kenton Hunt played traditional music and accompanied Mrs. Susan Southard of Michigan Center who sang.

Mrs. Morris Tuttle was the matron of honor and Doris June Nash was the bridesmaid. Both are sisters of the bride.

Mrs. Tuttle wore mint green chiffon and lace with a bouffant skirt worn over a hoop, a white petal clip hat, white gloves and pumps.

Floral arrangements from the church were used at the Nash residence for the reception immediately following the ceremony which was held near the flower garden on the front lawn.

Mrs. Lenore West and Mrs. Duane Steele were hostesses assisted by Mrs. Darrell Blakeman of Napoleon, Mrs. Dean Wooden, and Mrs. John Kruse of Litchfield.

Long & Short

Kohl and then Paul and Kim retired into our back shop. They searched about until finding some large "horse" type—about five inches high.

Choosing a P, R, E, S and S, the lads moved over to the proof press and rolled out about four copies on heavy stock. These they attached to the scooter.

I arrived shortly afterwards, admired their transportation and asked if three could ride.

Unfortunately the law says two, so Kim and Paul sputtered off, Kim driving and Paul wielding our 4x5 Speed Graphic press camera.

Me, I was given the 35mm and the boys said they'd contact me latter.

Well, to make a tall tale tiny, I started walking the route, snapping away and watching hopefully for a lift at least by midpoint. No soap.

Trudging into the cemetery, I learned the boys had been having a ball and Paul actually shot some pictures.

After the program was over, Kim gave me a ride back downtown, so for a few minutes I felt like a real press photographer—even if the excitement was long past.

The high school Talent Contest, sponsored by the student council, held recently had 14 acts.

He was assisted by several girls in short costumes who held the cards announcing the acts.

There were two tap dancers, Janet Murphy and Vickie Peterson, who performed together and separately.

There were a number of vocalists among them Lana Bays, Suzie Day, Paul Scott, and last but not the smallest, Dan Cisco.

A pantomine of "Tia Juana Jail" was done by Linda Andrews and Susie Harris, assisted by Mr. Lectka and Jerome Kemp.

The Daughters of the Cuban Revolution played several jazz numbers. This popular band is made up of Ted Harvey, Jim Neitling, Paul Surratt, Bill Fielder, Chuck Baird and Craig Winters.

Mary Tilton and Jean Thomas won first prize in the serious division and the hilarious Daughters of the Cuban Revolution won first in the novelty.

Some Fun, Lynn Says

But that wasn't the end of the fun. There were special guests and presents.

Dorothy invited two of Lynn's neighborhood chums, Letty Ringman and brother (both canine) Duke, who make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ringman.

And the guests didn't come empty-handed (er, pawed, we mean). Gifts includes a box of Dog Yummies and some Lolli Pups.

Lynn's mistress added a shiney new rubber bone and leash to the list of gifts.

Diane Socks Married to Dewey Baldwin

Diane Socks and Dewey Baldwin were married Friday evening by the Rev. Richard Staple, pastor of the First Congregational Church, in Clinton, in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormand Socks, 505 E. Pottawatamie St., and the groom is the son of Mrs. Irene Baldwin, of Clinton.

Through it came the May Queen, Barbara Klught, Linda Hannah who carried the flowered crown, Charles Mudgett and Stephen Sancho bearing the queen's attendant Dianne Donahoe.

Crops, Soil Research Will Be on July 9

Crops and soils research at Michigan State University goes on its annual display July 9, 1959 at Crops-Soils Field day.

Starting time for tours of the various research plots is 9:30 a.m. on the crops and soils research farms at East Lansing.

Small grains are main features of the field day this year.

During the tour of the farms, scientists in the two departments will be at plots where they are conducting their research work.

Methods of planting, seeding management and establishment, width of row, placement of fertilizer, Hessian fly control with chemicals, soil sampling techniques, plant materials from foreign lands that may have use in Michigan and what's new in winter barley.

Other research plots that also may be selected for tour stops include: Weed control in alfalfa and clover (both new and established seedings), weed control in soybeans, corn, and field beans, turf grass plots and developments in types of wheat.

King is 'Dog' Again

King, a collie-shepherd owned by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Spreeman of Murphy Rd., is becoming a dog again. He had been a foster-father for 14 kittens since the Easter weekend.

Now, the brood of felines has been reduced to four and King can relax, report the Spreemans.

King, however, was a proud father. He didn't mind being evicted from his dog house so that the young kittens could have a shelter. He was their protector and was very willing to show them off to the neighbors.

Two weeks ago, the Spreemans noticed that King was over-playing his role; he had circles under his eyes and was too concerned about the future of the kittens. So the Spreemans began a relief campaign.

If any Herald reader wants a kitten, you may phone the Spreemans at 7016-J.

Celebrates Birthday

Celebration services honoring the 20th anniversary of Grace Lutheran Church in Tecumseh were well attended Sunday. About 276 were seated for dinner.

A tape recording from former pastor, the Rev. A. Jeschke, was played during the church school and evening services. He spoke to the children and played his accordian.

☆

FOR THE celebration Sunday, the church was beautifully decorated throughout. The basement featured a mammoth cross of Spirea stretching from floor to ceiling with purple Iris at the base.

Mrs. Sharon Hinkle made the cross and the Girl Pioneers provided table favors at each dinner plate made in the shape of a cross.

The after-dinner program was highlighted with selections by the choir with Bill Cyr as soloist.

Bert Filter read the history and recollections were given by the visiting pastors and the Rev. Koeplin.

The history of Grace Lutheran goes back to August 14, 1938, when the first services were conducted by the Rev. A. G. Wacker of Scio in the Braun Building at 206 E. Chicago Blvd.

At this service, the Rev. R. W. Scheele was ordained and installed as the first pastor of the Tecumseh Mission.

On September 11, 1938, a Sunday School was organized. Growing steadily, it now serves 145 children and has a staff of 21 teachers and workers.

Richard A. Teske is the present Sunday School Superintendent.

A Ladies Aid Society was started in February, 1939. The present membership of this energetic group stands at 40.

Growth of the congregation coupled with a fire on March 20, 1940, which to a large extent destroyed the building in which services were being conducted, caused the congregation to move to its present site of Maumee and Shawnee Sts.

On December, 1940, the new church building was dedicated.

There have been two building additions to that original church. In the spring of 1955 one was dedicated. This doubled the size of the church. In January of 1958 an educational auditorium was added as a wing to the church.

☆

GRACE LUTHERAN Church has been served by four pastors.

The Rev. Scheele served from 1939-'43; The Rev. J. A. deRuiter, 1943-'49 and the Rev. Jeschke, 1950-'58.

The present pastor, the Rev. K. F. Koeplin was installed on August 28, 1958, after having served Memorial Lutheran Church of Williamston, Michigan for almost 5½ years.

During its 20 years of existence Grace Lutheran has increased from 33 communicant members to 234; from 53 souls to 415.

There have been 168 persons confirmed in the church with 193 children and 37 adults baptized.

Fifty-three marriages have been solemnized and 19 persons have received Christian burial.

Tecumseh Motel Is Recommended by 2 More Groups

The Tecumseh Motel, 518 North Evans St. is now recommended by two more nationally recognized groups.

The "Diner's Club," with almost a million members, has added the Tecumseh Motel to it's list. This also enables members to charge their rentals and services. Diner's Club members are mostly of the upper-bracket business firms.

Also approving the Tecumseh Motel is the Army, Navy, Air Force association.

"Added to the AAA and Duncan Hines endorsements, these bring many hundreds of people to Tecumseh during the next few years—and most of them spend some money here," commented A. C. Hamaker, owner of the motel.

Mr. Hamaker states that the Tecumseh Motel has hosted more than 11,000 guests during its 6 years of operation.

Memorial Day Parade Attracts 3,000

REV. ALVIN BRAZEE (left) AND REV. FRANK HAWTHORNE

It was Memorial Day in Tecumseh, a time for one of the finest small community parades in this part of Michigan. Dark skies threatened about 9:30, but not a drop of rain fell. Exactly at 10 a.m., the line of march was ready and at marshal Harold Easton's signal, the Tecumseh high schoool band snapped to attention, moved out smartly. Following it were 30 units, on foot, in cars and trucks or astride bicycles and horses. Spectators—nearly 3,000 lined the path of march — were treated to an exciting morning. Services at the cemetery climaxed the day and underlined this axim: we shall never forget those among us who sacrificed their lives for this nation.

Episcopal Church Helping To Buy Reactor for Japan

St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Tecumseh is one of the more than 7,000 at home and abroad taking part in an unusual project.

They are contributing funds toward the Episcopal Church's gift of a nuclear reactor to be used for scientific and medical research at St. Paul's University and St. Luke's Hospital in Tokyo, Japan.

Approved by the Church's General Convention last October, the reactor will be a "birthday present" from the Episcopal Church to the Nippon Seikokai (Anglican Church in Japan), which is now celebrating its 100th anniversary.

It will be the second reactor and the first privately-owned one in that country.

Estimated cost is $500,000. The Episcopal Church will contribute $360,000 towards this amount, and Japan's Fuji Electrical Company has subscribed the balance.

VENETIA
Georgette Heyer

Lively, colorful, entertaining, here is regency romance in the best Georgette Heyer tradition. Venetia had an independent spirit, calm good sense, a live sense of humor and an equable disposition. What she did not realize was that she also had quite a breath-taking beauty that was wholly wasted on the Yorkshire moors where she had been kept a recluse by her father.

STORM IN THE VILLAGE
Dora Saint

The ineffabel Miss Crabbe, well briefed in the jargon of the sociologist; the incomparable Mrs. Pringle, fountainhead of gossip, walking compendium of mysterious complaints; the slight indomitable figure of Miss Clare; the Vicar and the doctor — all these are joined in the battle against the atomic project housing development that threatens to engulf the little town of Fairacre.

THE MIDDLE AGE OF MRS. ELIOT
Angus Wilson

This story of modern England relates how Mrs. Eliot, a wealthy and fashionable London matron, becomes an impoverished widow and learns to be a stenographer. More importantly it is the story of how this charming and intelligent, but selfish and domineering woman becomes aware of what she is, and finally devises a new life for herself that will not permit her to damage the people she loves.

Improved Curriculums To Be Offered In Tecumseh Secondary Schools
Second of a Series

The senior high curriculum will also be improved in the same area as discussed in the first article of this series—namely, Dr. Conant's Recommendation.

In general, the present varied courses of study—college preparatory, commercial, vocational and general — provide for individual differences in ability of the pupils except for the very slow reader and the academically talented.

Last fall, honors courses were inaugurated for superior pupils who desired to elect them.

These courses, together with the regular college prep ones have challenged the highly-gifted pupils and, in addition, these pupils have been encouraged to elect other courses which, although not needed for graduation, may develop their special interests.

NEXT FALL the slow readers entering the ninth grade, those reading at or below the sixth-grade level, will be given special consideration in a program designed to meet their needs.

The pupils will be instructed in English and required social studies by teachers who are interested in working with such students and who are sympathetic to their problems.

Remedial reading will be a part of this work and special types of textbooks provided.

These pupils will be assigned, following conferences with their parents, according to their ability as tested and observed in the past, to remedial arithmetic, general mathematics, or algebra.

Also, each pupil may choose a vocational course — shop, home economics, or agriculture and band, chorus or physical education.

☆

THUS THESE pupils will have three academic subjects, a vocational subject and an elective of either band, chorus, or physical education.

Any pupil in this group who demonstrates the ability to succeed in the regular academic courses will be changed to the regular classes.

It is hoped that through the improved junior high curriculum and this special ninth-grade program that these pupils will be able to enroll and do a creditable job in regular academic courses by the sophomore year.

Through My Window

MY, WHAT A DAY

(This article was to have appeared last week but the cruel unwarranted stoning of Gertrude's duck caused a change of plans. However, talking about a perfect spring day can never be too untimely; can it?

It all happened on the third of May and, if you will remember, that was our first truly warm Sunday. When we awoke, the sun was shining brightly and there was that certain feeling in the air—on such a day as this, good things simply had to happen.

On this particular Sunday morning there was no dawdling over breakfast to watch the comings and goings outside. We were in a hurry to be up and out, participating in all the warm weather activity.

For the first time this year summer clothes were the order of the day; denim slacks and a short sleeved shirt.

Hardly had the folks gotten me into my braces and comfortably settled in the wheel chair when the action began.

A harsh rattling cry, which sounded above all the other bird voices, bespoke of a Kingfisher nearby. A dash to the window and sure enough, there he was, sitting on his favorite branch just this side of Doctor's bridge.

For perhaps 10 minutes we watched him fish, but then being inside could be tolerated no longer.

☆

A QUICK tour of the yard showed both good and bad things. The rose garden was a sad empty looking place. Most of the roses and many ornamental shrubs had winter killed.

On the bright side however, tulips, daffodils, hyacinths, violets and oh, so many other dainty springtime flowers were beautiful.

Our small collection of wild flowers had come through the winter well and the trillium buds needed only a few more hours of warmth to open.

The inspection of the yard completed, we succumbed to the "lure of the open road". Oh, Mards, let's not get carried away —actually, what we did was to take a short ride.

A buzz around town (and how pretty everything looked, all fresh and green and flowery for spring) showed the magnolia trees, even though they were beginning to drop a few petals, still to be lovely.

OUR NEXT port of call was Hidden Lake Gardens. Gorgeous, absolutely gorgeous. A few fruit trees and early flowering shrubs were in blossom, billows of fragile sweet-smelling flowers.

Formally planted tulips were bright and gay and the daffodils, and narcissus, planted as naturalizers, afforded spots of color everywhere. Blood-root, a little myrtle, some early prim-roses and spring beauty were beginning to carpet the wood's floor and could easily be seen from the car.

The enjoyment of the twisting turning drive was acentuated by the calls, chirps, whistles and turning drive was accentuated by rills with which the birds, many of them unseen, filled the air.

Dominate, of course, were the Cardinals, Catbirds and Bluejays.

As the road dipped down to encircle Hidden Lake itself, we thrilled to see a dozen or more wild ducks enjoying the cool sparkling water. We paused a few minutes to watch them splash and play about.

We were to find, as we drove back roads and gradually worked our way home, that many of the little lakes and ponds were hosting water fowl.

☆

WHENEVER I AM in the car, my one big problem is knowing where to look—to the right, to the left or straight ahead, there always seems to be an abundance of things to see.

On this day peppy little Goldfinches, brilliant streaks of yellow were everywhere; V-tailed Swallows sat on telephone or electrical wires; male Red-winged Blackbirds seemed perched atop almost every other fence post; Meadowlarks flew in front of the car; and an occasional Quail or Pheasant was disturbed, but only slightly, as he sauntered across a dusty gravel road.

Of course, we must not forget the ever present, but always enjoyed, flashes of red and blue which told of Cardinals and Bluejays. Actually, it was such a busy, busy day and there was so much going on that it was impossible to take it all in to say nothing of listing and describing it here.

THE DRIVE through the country was lovely; birds, flowers, and just the general beauty of a gorgeous spring day. Just to have been out, enjoying Mother Nature at her unsurpassed beat was an exciting, yet humbling experience.

Little did I realize that once back home my biggest thrill was yet to come. Opening the back door to let in the happy thrilling of a newly-welcomed home Wren, Dad suddenly, but cautiously, closed the door and called for Mother.

My bed was twisted around and, with no explanation, I was propped into a sitting position.

Carefully the door was opened again and there, completely unaware of all the commotion they had caused, were two gorgeously brilliant Indigo Buntings!

Just what could Mother Nature have provided for a more perfect ending to what we thought was an already perfect spring day.

Check Finds 77 Defective Rear Lights

Defective rear lights — 77 of them—was the trouble spot in most cars which didn't pass last week's annual Safety-Check.

All told, 622 autos and trucks went down the safety-check lane Wednesday afternoon following the parade, all day Thursday and Friday.

Only two of the 10 items checked, brakes and rear view mirrors, were found in A-1 shape on every vehicle.

Others

Windshield wipers—30.
Exhaust systems—25.
Tires—16.
Glass—4.
Steering—4.
Horns—3.

In the parade, five candidates for Safety-Check Queen rode in convertibles as judges Dwight Hodges, Elmer Eberhardt and Harold Pickard compared notes. They named Janet Murphy to the regal role with Kendra Ringman as runner-up.

Others taking part were Linda Wilson, Donna Nixon, Sharon Burleson and Linda Hanna.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editors:

Dr. George May of the Michigan Historical commission, meeting with the Irish Hills Historical Society at the home of Mrs. Forist Keith at Cambridge Junction May 22 helped lay plans for a state historical marker to be erected at Walter J. Hayes State Park on 112.

The marker will depict the early history of the region.

Dr. May pointed out that the State would like other regions such as Tecumseh, Adrian and Clinton to get into the state historical marking program.

In placing these markers, he said the State does not do all the work. It only works in conjuction with interested persons or groups.

The Irish Hills Historical Society, under the direction of Elwood Little, superintendent of schools of Onsted, is interested in marking the Irish Hills region.

The markers should not contain dry historical material, Dr. May advised. They should have some point of human interest which almost anyone from any walk of life might enjoy reading.

Motorists will drive from marker to marker for many miles through the State, Dr. May declared, if the markers are interesting.

The historical meeting concluded with the serving of afternoon tea. Dr. May inspected the rooms of Historic Walker Tavern Museum before returning to Lansing.

Father Gerst, Pastor of St. Joseph's Shrine, who attended the meeting said: "We should all feel highly complimented that the State thinks our region of enough importance for historical markings."

VOICE of THE HERALD

Historical Markers

In an adjoining column is a letter concerning the state's historical marking program. It is suggested by the writer that someone in Tecumseh get a move underway to collect information for a marker in this community.

We heartily second the motion.

Our area is rich in historical significance. Even as residents of less than two years, we can think of several logical subjects for markers—site of Chief Tecumseh's pow wows, the huge tree near Kroger's which is the oldest living thing in the state, underground railroad station here at the Jim Beardsley home, to mention three.

Markers "should not contain dry historical material," says the letter and we congratulate the folks in charge for this point.

We recall travelling in eastern states and stopping to read roadside markers, which told of past history in that immediate area. Looking about, we had the feeling of drifting back over the years.

Particularly fascinating were those markers in the Gettysburg area giving snatches of Civil War history. It was easy to vision the Blue and Gray troops maneuvering for position over the hilly terrain as we perused those tablets of metal.

Dr. George May of the Michigan Historical commission in Lansing, is the man to get in touch with.

Control of the Dump

No one likes dictatorial powers or forced measures, especially when they affect your neighbors and friends.

If necessary, however, such legislation by council could be beneficial here in regards to disposing of garbage at the city dump.

Not only are residents in the dump area complaining of the stench, but also those at the hospital—which is one of our finest institutions, and by nature of its services and purposes, should certainly be free of offensive odors.

Council took steps Monday night which may or may not relieve the situation. If residents cooperate and dispose of garbage properly, the problem will be remedied.

If garbage is still mixed with trash, or garbage dumped at will and left to burn and smolder, then we suggest that council take other action.

We project the future possibility of prohibiting the dumping of all garbage and limiting the city dump to trash and other similar refuse. Enforcement could be made by an overseer and a penalty or fine for violations.

There are several ways in which residents could dispose of garbage other than dumping at the city dump. Unless council's recent action is effective, the city should consider limiting the dump solely for trash.

A Trip to the Moon

The Tecumseh Public Library has announced that it will hold summer reading club and story hour programs emphasizing space, rockets and planets. All youngsters may attend the Spaceman's Story Hour at 2:30 each Wednesday, beginning June 10 and continuing for eight weeks.

However, those youngsters, in the fourth through sixth grades, may belong to the Rocket Reading Club, too. These story hours, as educational devices, may very well be stimulants for scientific acumen. Well, for concerned parents, the encyclopedia reports that the moon's mean distance from the earth is 238,840 miles!

17 Teenagers Tour Upper Part of Michigan

Seventeen teenagers of the First Baptist Church accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Champanois, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Buehrer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dahlke spent a recent weekend in northern Michigan.

The group worked through the winter earning money to finance the tour through Hartwick Pines and the Underground Forest, north of Fredrick.

Arrangements were made through the Grayling Chamber of Commerce for many tours including a trout hatchery and foreign sportscar races held Sunday afternoon.

The Chamber provived logs for a campfire and marshmallow roast on the Au Sable River on Saturday evening.

The group were guests at the Methodist Church in Grayling Sunday morning where the speaker was from Hawaii and each feminine guest was presented with a baby orchid.

The weekend activities climaxed the year for the Baptist Fellowship with Mr. and Mrs. Dahlke as leaders.

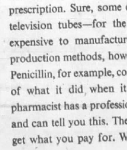
In case you think you might be stung



Some people seem to feel that prescriptions are outrageously priced. The truth of the matter is this: Last year the average American bought about 3 prescriptions for a total cost of around $7.50. An average of less than $3.00 per prescription. Sure, some drugs cost a lot. So do television tubes—for the same reason. They're expensive to manufacture. New and improved production methods, however, bring prices down. Penicillin, for example, costs only a small fraction of what it did when it first came out. Your pharmacist has a professional knowledge of drugs and can tell you this. They are fairly priced. You get what you pay for. We are always pleased to serve you.

CHAMBER of COMMERCE

By DON MURPHY
Executive Secretary

At the first annual meeting of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, there was one certain thing that really hit home with me.

Dr. Coak, president of the Chamber said in his opening remarks that he was happy to see most of our business leaders present, concerning themselves with the many problems important to our city's welfare.

The reason this struck home with me is the similarity to a remark made by another president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, at the 47th annual meeting of the Chamber of the United States. President Eisenhower said, 'it is particularly gratifying that in such meetings (as this) you, leaders of the business community from all parts of the country, concern yourselves with the broad range of problems of great importance to our nation's life".

After Dr. Coak's opening remarks he called on committee chairmen for their report of activities for the past year.

Although there are many things accomplished that everyone can see, there are still many more that will not show any results for years, but they are the ones that really show results in the end.

After this brief summary of the activities of the past year the activities for next year were discussed.

Some of the items in the agenda for the coming 12 months:

A well-planned program to coordiniate the activities of, and make better, the rural-urban relations.

Under civic affairs the following things were mentioned:

Work to get an agreement between the city and the Myers Aircraft as to the maintenance of the airport.

Under education we have "sponsor a career conference for high school students, BIE (business in education) day, EIB (education in business) day, to keep in close contact with our Tecumseh people who are attending college and to pay tribute to our teachers.

Under established industries, we plan to improve city services and support a "Know Your Tecumseh Industries Campaign."

Then we have the new industries campaign, whereby we try to locate new industry in town to improve our economy and make Tecumseh competitive with any city in the U.S. economically.

"Why did I let him get me so upset?"

When your worries take the wheel, you're a potential killer! It's a fact. When worries get you down, you just can't concentrate on driving. And that's when you can cause an accident! Last year, many of the nearly 37,000 who died in traffic accidents were killed by drivers whose minds were on their troubles, instead of on the road. So check yourself. Don't let anything distract you when you drive. You'll live longer—and so will others.

Gluckmann Flying Meyers 200 Plane in Record Attempt

By DON BAUERLE

In the summer of 1949, a young German immigrant, while driving near an airport, noticed a sign which said: scenic rides, $2.50. Influenced by the sign, he said to himself, 'What have I got to lose.'

So he went for a ride.

Now, after accumulating nearly 2,000 flying hours since his first ride, Peter ("The Flying Watchmaker") Gluckmann, a 33-year-old bachelor who operates a watch repair shop in San Francisco intends to make aviation history.

Next month, he will leave Tokyo, heading for New York City and a distance record of 7,800 miles for a non-stop, single engine flight, using a Meyers aircraft made in Tecumseh.

Meyers Aircraft Co. is Michigan's only airplane manufacturer. The company introduced its Model 200, the same as Gluckmann has, in the fall of 1958. Each plane is handmade, although a miniature assembly line is used.

Before and during World War II, Meyers assembled OTW two-seat military trainers. The OTW was cited for its excellence by the federal government.

Another San Francisco flier, 56-year-old Max Conrad, now holds the record for a non-stop flight in a light plane. Last week, Conrad flew from Casablanca, Africa, to Los Angeles, in 58 hours and 38 minutes. Length of his flight: 7,683 miles.

Thus, Conrad erased the record set last August by Captain Pat Boling, of Palo Alto, Calif., who made a 6,856 mile flight from Manila to Pendleton, Oregon.

☆

LIKE CONRAD, Gluckmann will have to maintain a low flying speed to conserve his supply of 100-octane fuel. Conrad's plane, weighing 5,000 pounds, carried 500 gallons on fuel. Gluckmann's plane holds 480 gallons of fuel and weighs close to 6,000 pounds.

Each gallon of fuel weighs six pounds.

At the end of his flight, Conrad had 18 gallons of fuel left in his tanks.

Remarked Gluckmann: "I normally cruise about 190 m.p.h. but on my flight I will do about 120 m.p.h. I expect to be in air about 50 hours.

"I had wet-wings installed so that I can take on more fuel. Each wing is a huge fuel tank. The capacity of each wet-wing is 120 gallons.

"Because of the wet-wings, the wing span of the plane has been extended six feet and allows for more lift," Gluckmann explained.

The standard wing span is 30 feet, six inches.

So the plane, with all its weight, can leave the ground, Gluckmann will have two rocket assists installed in California. Each rocket will give 250 pounds of thrust for 15 seconds during take-off.

☆

THE INTERIOR of his plane has been altered, too. There is only one seat—for Gluckmann. The other three seats were removed to make room for the extra fuel tanks which have been grouped together in the cockpit.

"I am not flying a direct route from Tokyo to New York City," Gluckmann said. "The trip would not be long enough to break the record. I have to exceed the old record by one per cent to have a new one recognized.

"Instead, I will be flying two great circle courses. One will be from Tokyo to San Diego and the other will be from San Diego to New York City."

Gluckmann is very confident that he will exceed Conrad's record, by a margin of 117 miles. His experience supports his opinion. He has flown three times over the Atlantic and once over the Pacific. In addition, he holds a world mark for a flight across the polar cap.

But last Friday night before he left for the West Coast, Gluckmann admitted, "I don't think the public will be interested in my flight. Conrad has already broken the record. I will just be making a repeat performance.

"I guess I will have to do something different. Maybe I will fly across Russia. I could start at Siberia and end at Alaska."

Glancing at his plane, he added, "I guess I might have to paint it red."

NON-STOP FLIGHT ROUTE — Peter Gluckmann shows Al Meyers, president of Meyers Aircraft Co., the course he will fly in his attempt to break the distance record for a non-stop flight in a light airplane. Gluckmann will use a Meyers Model 200 for his flight.

Only 2 Petitions Filed for School Board Positions

Only two persons have filed nomination petitions for the two school board positions, James McDowell, Superintendent of Schools, said Monday night at the monthly meeting of the Tecumseh School Board.

They are the incumbents, Mr. Jens Touborg and Mr. Virgil Tucker.

All petitions, which must be signed by not less than 50 or more than 75 registered voters of the school district, must be returned to Dr. Ralph Helzerman, Secretary of the School Board, by this Saturday, June 13. No voter can sign more than two petitions.

The election is Monday, July 13.

Any person who wishes to become a board candidate has to get a petition at Mr. McDowells office and has to meet these requirements:

1. He must be over 21, a citizen of the U.S. and a resident of the school district for 30 days preceding the election.

2. He must be a property owner.

In other actions Monday night, the School Board:

● Voted to sell the Culberton School, situated on Macon-Tecumseh Road, to Oneda Smith for $3,000.

● Authorized Superintendent McDowell to get more bids for blacktopping the roads on school properties.

● Approved the election commission composed of Marjorie Bryan, Ruth O'Neill, Ruth La Prad, Carmen Hendershot, Ruby Preston and Lillian Service.

Library Seeking Tax Support

By ALLAN SEAGER
of the Library Board

The voters of Tecumseh are going to be asked whether or not they want to vote .32 mills for the support of the public library at the annual school election, July 13. At present the money to run the library comes out of the general school budget.

The reason separate support is being asked for the library is this: each school in Lenawee County has been docked ½ mill. This cut was made because county operating costs have risen, chiefly welfare, and the board of supervisors asked the County Tax Allocation Board to give them ½ mill to make up their deficit.

Obviously this means less money for the schools. To offset this loss, the Tecumseh School Board is asking the voters to provide separate maintenance for the library.

We have a good library here and it is getting better all the time. More books are being circulated, more services offered. Beside a wide variety of books, you can take out phonograph records and rent pictures to hang on the walls of your home. Soon we hope to have a stock market information service available.

The separate maintenance of the library is not new. In 1942 the people voted to pay 1 mill for library support for five years, and this 1 mill levy was renewed for five years more. In 1952, however, the School Board took over the operation of the Library. Now, the Board is asking to be relieved of its responsibility for the reason given above.

Please notice that 1 mill is not being asked for, only .32 of a mill. What this amounts to can be explained in this way: a home which the owner would not want to sell for $12,000 to $15,000 is assessed at about $5,000. This owner's tax for the support of the library would come to little over ½c a day.

We would like to urge you to vote favorably on this measure. A good library is an asset to any community.

THE Long & Short OF IT

By TOM RIORDAN

"Say, is one of my sons in trouble?"

The caller said she was Dolly Weakly (Mrs. Harry) and had spotted something disquieting in the Police Blotter column of our paper last week.

Grabbing a copy and quickly turning to page six, I read down the blotter. At the end was this incomplete sentence: "uate of the Tecumseh high school, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weakly, 206 S. Oneida, Tecumseh."

"No, no, your sons aren't in trouble," I rejoined, knowing in a flash what the situation was.

"Did you see that item about Hal being rush chairman for his fraternity?"

"Yes."

"Well, that was part of it. It all wouldn't fit at the end of the column, so I pulled off the last three lines. They were supposed to be thrown away. Somehow they ended up at the end of the Blotter."

Mrs. Weakly said thanks with a relieved voice.

Now I'll have to find that little gremlin who did the dead.

☆

And speaking of deeds, the follows in the backshop marked up one Friday afternoon.

Camilla Grigg, daughter of our society editor, has been dying to tear down page forms after the paper was printed.

So Friday, we had her put on a printer's apron and go to work. She hadn't been at it more than five minutes when someone wanted to know where the lead stretcher was.

'Camilla will you see Tom and get it?" one of the boys asked.

When she made their request, I stepped back and asked foreman Lonal Bishop where it was and "Say didn't Jim take that home?" Yes, he guessed that he had.

"Millie", I said in a business-like tone, "Go over to Baldwin's and get a lead stretcher. Tell them the same size as the one Jim bought there. And we don't want that big one."

She dashed out the front door. As she did, I phoned Earl Baldwin to tell him she was on her way.

Earl told her the last one they had was the one Jim Lincoln got. Try Gamble's, Earl said.

At Gamble's they didn't know what it was, so she returned to the office.

"Try Western Auto, Millie."

Off she went, still not sure whether it was a gag.

Skip Rex played it like Yul Brynner, said he was sorry, but to be sure and check with Cal Damon at Cal's Tog Shop.

Our phone rang and it was Cal, "Say, there's a girl here who wants a lead stretcher and we don't have one."

I went into quite a harangue about the stores not having complete inventories, ending with the thought that Mike Hite might have one.

A few minutes later, Camilla returned, grinning with this comment. "Mr. Hite said the type lice ate up the last one."

So ended an initiation into the wonderful world of the print shop.

A History-Journalism major, Don is spending three months with us to learn about weekly newspapering and assist us with a special edition we're getting together.

He arrived a week ago Tuesday morning and within 10 minutes found himself elbow-deep in copy to be edited and headlines to be written.

Laboring until the wee hours that evening, Don was back at it early Wednesday, our press day. By 8 that evening he was done — more than 12 straight hours.

The following day we had him on the Peter Gluckmann yarn, which really fascinated him (and we hope you'll be as interested, too.)

About 5:30 that afternoon, pretty well beat, Don exclaimed, "Things are really hopping around here."

This is the hard way to find

Tim Whitney collected a trophy for his high series of 639. Mike Tucker and Gordon Greiman Jr. tied for high game with 233 games. Each of them received a trophy.

A touch of humor was added when the last place team got an award and Gary Elliott got a trophy for having the most fouls.

Mrs. Leu Will Retire June 15 From Hospital

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"I love my work and it has done so much for me. Anything I have been able to do for others is nothing in comparison to what my work has done for me."

These are the words of Mrs. Wilson Leu, Director of Nursing Service at Herrick Memorial Hospital, who is retiring June 15.

Mrs. Leu, formerly Mrs. Helen Miller, who came here from Clinton when her former husband died eight years ago, found solace in her work.

She especially enjoyed the student nurses from Wayne State University who came each year. She liked to show them the city as well as the hospital facilities.

Not only the nursing staff, but the complete personnel at the hospital help to make a wonderful atmosphere where patients are more relaxed and their recovery is more rapid, said Mrs. Leu.

"Tecumseh residents should be very proud, and I think they are proud," she said, "to have such a fine, well-equipped hospital in a city of this size."

The Hospital Auxiliary honored Mrs. Leu at its meeting Tuesday evening. Mrs. Cecil Smith read a poem of tribute and presented a gift of milk glass to her.

Mrs. Leu is moving to Swanton, O. in August with her 13-year-old son, Tom, and her husband, Wilson, whom she married in December.

Mr. Leu is employed in Toledo and has a dress shop in Swanton.

County's 7th Traffic Victim Is Britton Man

Green Highway, north of Sutton Road in Raisin Township, claimed Lenawee county's seventh traffic victim last Saturday.

The victim was Pedro J. Espinosa, 28, of Britton, who died in Herrick Memorial Hospital. He was an employee of the Tecumseh Products Co.

Driving alone, Mr. Espinosa was heading south on Green Highway when he apparently lost control of his car in the loose gravel, sheriff's deputies said.

As his car rolled over, he was thrown from it. Then the car rolled on him.

Lenawee County Coroner Edward Braun said Mr. Espinosa's death was accidental. Mr. Braun attributed Espinosa's death to internal injuries.

Mr. Espinosa is survived by his mother, Mrs. Isidra Espinosa, of Britton, and a brother, John, and a sister, Mrs. John Garcia, both of Tecumseh.

Funeral services were held Monday at St. Elizabeth Church. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery in Adrian.

General Telephone Buys Tipton Co.

Nearly 2,500 Visit Helms Grand Opening

Nearly 2,500 folks visited the newly-enlarged and remodeled Helms Furniture store Saturday during its grand opening.

Nearly 1,200 flowers were given to ladies almost twice the number originally ordered. As the supply was depleted, additional orders were made until the supplies at both Ousterhouts and Pickards flower shops were exhausted.

"Folks who couldn't make the grand opening are invited to drop in at any time to see the new setup," said Claude Helms.

'Furture Is Up to You,' Say Graduation Speakers

"Let us all strive to live our lives to the utmost for ourselves, for others, for our country and for our God," Mary Lou McConnell, valedictorian, told the graduating seniors in ceremonies Thursday evening at the high school.

"We have all set a goal, let us hope that the methods which we use to reach these goals will reflect honor on our past and set an example for the future", she said.

Nancy Day, salutatorian, spoke of the ambitions realized with the help of parents, teachers and friends and urged:

"As we leave tonight, we are fully aware of your hopes that accompany us in thought and with God's protection and guidance we shall try to transform these hopes into reality."

Greg Mason, who gave the main address of the evening said, "We must seek for ourselves that which we are capable of doing."

After speaking of Pearl Harbor bombing, which occurred the year the seniors were born, he told of other world events which have happened during their lives and concluded with the class motto, "In Ourselves the Future Does Lie."

Before presenting the scholarships and awards, Neville Hart said they are given for superior scholastic records, need, the display of desirable qualities of character, citizenship and leadership.

Astride Roberts received the Michigan College of Mining and Technology scholarship.

Elizabeth Lee Kiser received the University of Michigan Regents Alumnae Scholarship.

Nancy Day received the Future Homemakers Award from Gerber Baby Products and the Lucius B. Lilley Scholarship.

This is the first year that the Lois D. Service Future Teachers scholarship has been awarded. Ann Marie Haughn was the recipient.

Mr. Hart said this is the ninth year he has presented the William C. Gaston award watch. Greg Mason was called to the rostrum to accept it.

Herrick Foundation scholarships were presented by the Rev. Blair Bashore to Mary Lou McConnell, Nancy Day, Ronald Johnson and David Holden.

He also said that an increase of $100 per year has been added to these scholarships making a total of $2,800.

Moonlight Sale Here

Staged at night, after normal store hours, it has a lot of appeal for the buying public.

Tecumseh merchants, always ones to stage events they hope will please their patrons, are planning such a sale.

It's going to be Saturday, June 27, from 9 p.m. until midnight. Dan Reed, of WABJ, is chairman and has some zany stunts already planned.

Last fall's Sidewalk Carnival, high-water mark in town-wide promotions in recent years, may have its popularity threatened.

Three hours is a short time, but if promoted properly, it can pack a real wallop for Mr. and Mrs. Buying Public.

Blissfield had a Moonlight Sale several weeks ago and it was rated as a howling success. Merchants came from as far away as Saginaw to observe the event.

Truck Driver Turns Fireman

Waiting for the traffic light at four corners in downtown Tecumseh, Larry Snyder, 211 W. Shawnee, saw the flames coming from the hood, leaped from his truck and ran across the street with a fire extinguisher. He quickly put out the fire.

Sometime this month, about 200 homes in the area will be visited by a team of interviewers. They'll be Tecumseh college girls, home for the vacation.

Poisonous Plants

Please don't eat the daisies!

Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center warn that many plants and weeds, from June through August, produce high concentrations of alkaloid drugs, which are poisonous.

The more dangerous plants are classified as "Solanaceae." These include the jimsonweed and the common nightshade. Both contain powerful alkaloid drugs.

Other common plants in the Solanaceae family are the ground cherry, tobacco, tomato and potato.

Jimsonweed and nightshades are often found near yards and along the edges of cleared fields. There is no clear-cut way of identifying the poisonous varieties except that they resemble the vines of the ordinary potato or tomato plant.

480 Gallons of Fuel

Experience is not only essential for trying to break a distance record in a light airplane. Fuel economy is important, too, especially when the length of your flight is 7,800 miles. That's why Peter Gluckmann (story on page one) had extra fuel tanks installed on his Meyers Model 200. Ordinarily, his fuel capacity is 82 gallons but now it is 480 gallons. The wet-wings, which added six feet to his plane's wing span, hold 240 gallons. Each wing is a huge fuel tank, Gluckmann said. In addition, five separate fuel tanks, having a total capacity of 240 gallons, were placed around Gluckmann's seat in the cockpit. The other three seats were removed so that there would be enough space for the tanks.

Peter Gluckmann, "The Flying Watchmaker from San Francisco," explains his fuel system to Don Bauerle of the Herald, with five special cabin tanks in foreground.

"WHEN EVERYTHING else seems to slow down or discontinue in the summer, churchmen remember that worship continues" said the Rev. James D. Nixon.

He was speaking about the sermon he is planning for this Sunday, "Summer is for God."

Mr. Nixon will speak of the many types of worship experience that are available in summer, public and private. He will also speak of the marriage ceremony as a service of worship.

"During this time of the year when there are so many weddings, I want to say some pretty pointed and serious things about how to plan weddings and how to attend one," he said.

Methodists continue to worship at ten a.m. throughout the summer. Church School is at 11:15 a.m. each Sunday.

Reception for Donna Marie Roe

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. A. Roe held a reception honoring the graduation of their daughter, Donna Marie, at their home Thursday night following ceremonies at Tecumseh High School.

Mrs. Roe decorated a three-tiered cake in white and placed alternating one inch busts of boy and girl graduates around the base. A seven inch doll complete with gown, mortarboard and diploma topped the cake.

About 50 guests from various cities in Michigan and Ohio were present. Donna received many gifts.

Six Will Attend Church Conference

Janice Saling, Harriett Blanden, Judy Truesdale, Alice Titley, Bruce Parrett and Mary Kay Ries will attend the Lansing Presbytery Senior High Conference at Alma College August 23-29.

Dr. James H. Robinson will present four aspects of the theme, "Alternatives for Christians in a Time of Promise and Anxiety."

Dr. Robinson founded the Church of the Master and the Morningside Community Center, located in Harlem. These institutions, under his leadership, provide religious guidance and practical assistance to over 3000 men, women and children of all races.

Over 5000 students have given voluntary service to domestic and overseas projects initiated by Dr. Robinson such as camps for underprivileged children.

One of his most important contributions was the sending of nearly a half-million books to colleges and schools in Africa, which he collected across the nation.

Improved Curriculums To Be Offered In Tecumseh Secondary Schools

Third of a Series

The Board of Education, administration, and language staff of the Tecumseh Public Schools have long recognized the advisability of Dr. Conant's recommendation 18: "The school board should be ready to offer a third and fourth year of a foreign language, no matter how few students enroll.

"The guidance officers should urge the completion of a four-year sequence of one foreign language if the student demonstrates ability in handling foreign languages.

"On the other hand, students who have real difficulty handling the first year of a language should be advised against continuing with the subject.

"The main purpose of studying a foreign language is to obtain something approaching a mastery of that language, and by a mastery is surely meant the ability to read the literature published in the language and, in the case of a modern language, to converse with considerable fluency and accuracy with an inhabitant of the country in question."

HOWEVER, in a small high school as we have been in the past with barely a hundred in the graduating classes, the cost of language classes for small numbers of language students who might wish to continue beyond the second year has been prohibitive.

Now that the total school population has grown so rapidly and with the offering of exploratory language courses in the Junior High, the Board has authorized the teaching of first and second year French and Spanish each year, and third and fourth year French and Spanish as needed to meet the requirements of the pupils.

Latin will be continued as a two year course and will be offered every other year so that every pupil, who so desires, may elect and complete two years of the subject before graduation.

☆

THE TECHNIQUES of teaching foreign languages have improved greatly in the last few years and many of these are being used in our high school.

But Tecumseh Schools have not been able financially, as yet, to purchase modern sound and recording equipment so that each pupil in a class may receive such instruction simultaneously.

All our language programs do, however, meet the requirements of the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges and the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services both of which accredit our schools.

FAREWELL PARTY

The Ridgeway P.T.A. 1958 and 1959 officers and dance committee attended a farewell party recently for Mr. and Mrs. Ned McPhail. Mr. McPhail will work toward his masters degree at a school in Tennessee.

Mrs. Harry Dernberger and Mrs. Merele Humphries, of Pontiac, were here Thursday to attend graduation ceremonies for Charles Hartsell.

After testing all cars, the editors of CAR LIFE, America's foremost motoring magazine, chose RAMBLER

HERE'S WHY: "Rambler is a well-made, efficiently designed, comfortable car with outstanding structural strength and rigidity, smooth, quiet economical operation, outstanding maneuverability in traffic and parking, satisfactory roadability, ride and handling, competitive performance, good operating economy and very significantly low ownership costs—in short, it's our choice for overall best buy among U.S. cars."

● COST: ". . . has a lower initial price, and on the basis of current figures will retain a greater percentage of its original cost than any other car anywhere near its price."

● STYLING: ". . . has developed in just three years into one of the most attractive cars on the road."

● BODY DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION: "Most evident is the solidity of the unit-construction body. On the road there is never a trace of annoying body shake or vibration."

● INTERIOR: ". . . an extremely comfortable car for all six passengers because the centers of both front and rear seats are not crammed down close to the transmission housing and driveshaft tunnel."

● HANDLING AND ROADABILITY: ". . . amazingly responsive and maneuverable at moderate speeds."

● QUALITY: ". . . gets high marks in quality of manufacture."

VOICE of THE HERALD

Tax Increase Analyzed

One of the shortest and best-written editorials about the current Michigan financial crisis appears in the Michigan Tradesman, a magazine for business people.

Written by Tradesman publisher, Russell J. Boyle, it is titled "There are many ways to skin a cat, but to get the skin, you eventually have to get the cat."

THE MEANS

A 1% increase in the present 3% sales tax would bring money into the State Treasury immediately — within 30 days, through existing bookkeeping procedures.

Any State Income Tax could not produce funds for the State of Michigan immediately. The creation of a new State Income Tax Department would cost between three to ten million dollars a year.

Your private matters of business and personal finance would become public property, open to inspection through the records in a New Income Tax Building at Lansing (which would cost ten million dollars more.)

Your office and home records would be subject to search by an army of snoopers, policing the State in a vast fleet of State owned cars. GONE WOULD BE ANOTHER FREEDOM IN "THE LAND OF THE FREE AND THE HOME OF THE BRAVE."

A State Income Tax can be as low as 2% to start with, but once the machinery is set up, it can rise until it becomes 20% for some 91% for others. Just reflect for a moment on the FEDERAL INCOME TAX.

THE SOURCE

The CONSUMER is the source for all taxes. Income-taxed-wages lead to more wage demands and higher labor costs for the employer. These are passed on to the CONSUMER in the forms of HIGHER SERVICE CHARGES or HIGHER PRODUCT PRICES. In every way, whether through sales taxes (direct to the consumer) or Income Taxes (indirect to the consumer) the CONSUMER is the one who pays in every way.

Taxes are the first cost to every business (new or old, weak or strong) and as a business cost, Taxes must be passed on to the ultimate CONSUMER as part of the price he pays for products or services.

'Where Is Tecumseh?'

Where is Tecumseh?

It is our guess that these three words will be uttered next month by thousands of people throughout the world as they read a story in their newspapers.

Why? Peter Gluckmann, "The Flying Watchmaker from San Francisco," has indicated that he has a very good chance of transcending the distance record — set recently by Max Conrad, also of San Francisco — for a non-stop flight in a light airplane.

A very experienced flier, Gluckmann has recognized the talents and craftsmanship of the Meyers Aircraft Co., as did the federal Government during World War II. Thus, he has selected a Meyers Model 200, made in Tecumseh by Tecumseh people, for his historic flight.

Once he has completed his flight, people will be able to answer the question, "Where is Tecumseh?" D.D.B.

TUBE TESTING FACT.

Many folks bring electronic tubes to the COOK ELECTRIC for testing. Sometimes a replacement of a bad tube will solve the customers TV or radio trouble. But often it doesn't work out like that.

The very best of tube testers cannot simulate the conditions of your TV set. Your tube could be bad on the tester and be good in your TV set; or, it could be the other way around, too. Sometimes, certain tubes will show weak on the tester but will remain that way through years of good TV operation.

For this reason, we use special equipment for checking the performance of the tubes as well as the circuits of your TV set as a whole unit. This gives us an accurate answer to what needs service or replacement among the hundreds of complicated TV devices. When you phone 692-J for electronic services, you will notice that we use only the latest electronic instruments for fast and efficient maintenance.

Murph Reports

By DON MURPHY
Executive Secretary

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce is trying, with its new industries campaign, to locate new industry in town to improve our economy and to make Tecumseh competitive—economically—with any other city in the U.S.

We are currently producing a "Factual Story" concerning Tecumseh, and this story gives all the important information that any industrialist would want to know before moving his business here.

At the present time the city government is making a "Master Plan" so that there will be no questions concerning zoning problems in our city and the Chamber has offered any help, or suggestions, that it may be able to give.

This is a very important phase of the program as zoning is a must in any city today.

☆

THE MEMBERSHIP committee has a big job cut out for itself. Some of the duties of this committee are:

1. To develop a comprehensive program for the chamber to follow each year.
2. To maintain an adequate budget to carry out this program.
3. To keep membership advised of the progress of the program.
4. To interest all people, industrial, business, professional and civic persons in Chamber work and its importance.

In the past year we have tried to publicize Tecumseh as the shopping center of Lenawee County and are going to continue to do this in the coming year.

Some of the things listed were: Buy Tecumseh made products, shop Tecumseh stores and publicize member reliability.

This last item is very important because a member of the Chamber of Commerce has bought and paid for his share in making Tecumseh the place in which to live and do business. It shows that he is interested in good business.

The retail division, business has worked hard this first year to make our downtown section a one-step shopping center and promises to continue this promotion the next year by holding year-round promotions, sponsoring Christmas Decorations, controlling solicitation improving merchants participation in community efforts, planning special events for the buying public and improving public relations for business as a whole.

☆

CHAMBER OF Commerce, an organization not understood by many people, will be discussed in this column for the next four or five installments.

A definition commonly used is, "The Chamber of Commerce is an organization working to make your city a better place to live and earn a living."

However I would like to add that the Chamber is a cooperative, non-partisan, non-sectarian and non-political organization dedicated to the purpose of advancing, improving and protecting the business and civic welfare of the community.

It is the Clearing house for all community wide interests.

Composed of the majority of the public spirited citizens, it spans sectional and group interests, modifying them to the greater interests of the community as a whole.

The ability, experience, knowledge, facilities and integrity of this leadership cannot be bought or "hired" for money . . . yet, it is available, gratis, to your community through the Chamber of Commerce.

A housewife thinks of a Chamber as the place where her husband, a director, spends so much time. A milkman refers to it as "the outfit that straightened out the traffic problems."

A young married couple knows that the Chamber worked real hard to improve schools. A mother is grateful because the Chamber brought in a new plant so that her sons can work and live right in their own home town.

☆

A BUSINESSMAN looks on the Chamber as the organization that made it possible for him to expand his payroll.

Each individual sees the Chamber of Commerce in the things it does which directly affects him. But these are only small pieces in the big pattern . . . because a Chamber of Commerce is always working for and with people.

People who make up a community all have a stake in improving their town. By improving the community, they help develop conditions under which business can be conducted properly and profitably.

None of this can be achieved through individual effort.

The Chamber of Commerce is the means of unifying people and making their work more effective . . . to develop leadership . . . to find solutions . . . to unite businessmen for effective action and to lend the talents of it's many members to the solution of community problems.

Tuesday evening, June 2, the eighth grade class and their parents were guests of the seventh graders at a graduation dance.

The gym was lovely, decorated in green and white streamers coming to a point at the center of the dance floor. Tiny graduation caps with each student's picture were attached to the main streamers where the King and Queen, Fred McCrate and Diane Malinowski, reigned.

The main feature of the dance "It Could Be You!", wherein, brought to light by the seventh grade hosts.

Little favors connected with the "heroic deed" were awarded to the many victims of "It Could Be You."

Thank you, seventh graders, for this truly enjoyable evening.

☆

Friday, the eighth grade class went on retreat. The Reverend Father Collins, retreat master, made this special day for our class.

☆

The graduation Mass was Sunday followed by a banquet. The prophecy and will were read there. Later in the afternoon, diplomas were given to the class. This ended the important day for the eighth grade graduates of St. Elizabeth.

Through the Years

Looking back we see
That first momentous day,
As entering with glee
We began our educational stay.

Through the years we came
Learning lessons: A, B, C,
Seven wonders and their fame,
Confederate General Robert E. Lee.

But suddenly, due sadness is unfelt
In our excited state,
From elementary grades in which we dwelt,
We now shall graduate.

In these past years, what did we do
To make our knowledge soar?
Volumes and volumes, it seems, 'tis true,

Loyal friendship in our class;
Discovering a hidden ability;
Forgiving an uncharitable trespass.

Yes, the last day has come and gone
Presenting the fruits of our labor:
In this world, finding ourselves;

THE TIME OF THE YOUNG

Truly, Spring is a time of young things. Trees adorn themselves with bright new green leaves; bulbs, planted last fall, push up leaves and flowers that are adequate payment indeed for the back aches and cold fingers of last October; flowering trees and shrubs burst into fragile fragrant blossoms; but almost best of all, Spring is the time for baby birds!

Several weeks ago the Grandparents saw the first baby Robin of the year. Looking out the picture window in the living room they saw the youngster hopping around the back yard.

Slowly the young bird worked his way toward to ramp which comes from the porch and is directly in front of the window.

Reaching the goal he hopped up on the railing and sat there calling in a loud baby Robin voice for his Mother.

The Grandparents watched the whole performance from the window and got quite a kick out of it. They were also feeling quite superior because they were seeing a young Robin before we, in my room, were.

There smugness was short lived though for soon I noticed a small ragged unkept looking something—my good old faithful window had not let me down! I too had a baby Robin to watch!

☆

MY, HOW young the baby looked!

He just didn't seem old enough to be out of the nest but of course, Mother Nature knew what she was doing.

His first few hops were wobbly and weak but each minute his self-confidence grew and we could see him becoming more sure of himself.

As if acting on instructions from the boss', he made his unsteady way through the grass and headed straight for the post and rail fence.

Just as he hopped up to the bottom rail, a devoted Mother met him with a fat juicy worm in her bill. A fitting reward for the first lesson well learned!

☆

WHEN THE adult bird flew away for another tasty tid-bit, Junior sat on the fence and we had another good look at him. Oh, dear, but baby birds are such frowzy little things!

This one's feathers looked so rumpled and mussed up. No trace of his long slender Robin tail was showing yet and the red breast, for which his kind are famous, was merely a speckled and streaked combination of gray, white, brown and black with faint things of very very pale orange.

A rough grubby looking little character he was—but so cute! His mouth was comically large even when closed and when it gaped open to receive the offerings of the adult bird, we could not help but laugh aloud.

After a short rest on the bottom rail, Mamma apparently decided it was time for Junior to have more exercise and another lesson. Off the fence and into Dr. Marsh's yard she hurried.

What a procession they made —she led the way, being careful to move not too fast for Junior and turning around every few steps to make sure he was following closely behind.

He was following alright and his little wobbly legs made amazingly fast progress. When the twosome reached a low spot under the big elm tree a halt was called.

☆

HERE THE youngster was apparently told to stop and wait and being the obedient child that he was, he did precisely that. Instinctively, or was this another lesson, he crouched down and nestled in the grass until he looked more like a piece of bark than a bird.

Really, from a distance it was hard to tell what he was and had we not known he was there he would never even been noticed.

Mother Robin searched the yard carefully and it was not hard to imagine her great pleasure when the hunting proved good and she was able to take many juicy squirming worms back to her well behaved offspring. It was fun to note that, whenever she came near, the piece of bark suddenly came to life—an excited chirping thing with cavernous mouth opened wide and little wings fluttering wildly.

This went on for perhaps ten minutes and then another move was ordered.

With Junior close behind, doing a manly job of keeping up, Mother Robin hopped to the creek bank's edge and then disappeared into Doctor's wildflower garden.

Since our first afternoon of baby Robins there have fortunately been many many others. Even when we don't see the little guys, we hear their shrill loud crys. Of course, where there are small Robins there are older ones too and so, during this time of the young, we have been enjoying the young and old alike!

Note: This is perhaps an appropriate time to put in a word about the dissasterous results of intensive D D T spraying for Dutch Elm disease.

Much has been written and said about it and according to all reports, the adverse effect this insecticide has on our bird population is even worse than first suspected.

It affects not only Robins but all of our song birds and, although spraying when the trees are dormant is a slight help, the persistent use of this deadly material, anytime at all, can bring nothing but tragic disaster to our birds!

Next Week
Exciting Goings On!

Michigan Is Fruit Basket

Many people may know Michigan agriculture best as the "fruit basket of the midwest."

Actually, though, the state's farmers get most of their income from the herds of beef and dairy cattle and hogs and flocks of chickens and sheep.

A Michigan Week report shows that more than half—57 per cent —of the $700,000,000 farm income comes from meat, milk, eggs and wool produced by the livestock in the state. Dairying is the biggest single income-producer.

Fruits and vegetables, on the other hand, make up about 14 per cent of the farm income. Apples and cherries lead these crops in value.

Field crops contribute about 23 per cent of the income to the rural people who work the land.

Wheat is the most important cash crop in the state. It ranks behind corn in value of grain produced but most of the corn goes to feed livestock. Michigan's wheat goes for flour for cakes and pastries.

Forestry and nursery products account for the remaining income farmers get from the land.

business. And the determination of farmers to use the best practices and materials available promises to keep it one of the state's major industries.

Upward Trend in Egg Prices

Egg prices increased in the last week of May, says a report from Michigan State University.

Michigan producers should get about 30 cents for a dozen Grade A large white eggs by the end of June, Henry E. Larzelere, poultry economist at MSU, points out.

He goes on to say that farm prices for Grade A medium eggs should be about 25 cents a dozen and 22 cents a dozen for high quality small eggs.

He predicts that Detroit wholesale distributors may pay 40-42 cents a dozen for Grade A large white eggs in July. Wholesale distributor prices generally run 5-10 cents a dozen over the farm price.

Our Readers Write

To the Editors:

On the Magazine Page of The Detroit News, May 24, 1959, there was an article entitled "What's Cooking in Tecumseh". I am always interested in anything regarding Tecumseh, but in this article was a reference to "Hendershot Road", which I had not heard of before.

My grandmother was Laura Belle Hendershot (Mrs. Darius Hendershot), and my mother was Julia Louise Hendershot. She was born in Tecumseh on June 26 sometime in the 1890's.

She and my father, James (Jay) Louis Kenyon, were married on October 15, 1913 in Detroit, and Miss Marion Rosecrans of Tecumseh was maid of honor.

My father was born on a farm in Raisin Township.

Miss Clara Hendershot of Macon was my grandmother's first cousin. This is the extent of my knowledge of the Hendershots in Tecumseh, but I would appreciate it very much if you could put me in touch with someone who could give me more information regarding my family.

I would also be very interested in knowing about the naming of "Hendershot Road".

Incidentally, my husband's aunt, Harriet Welchli (Mrs. Wm. A. Evans) of Detroit taught school in Tecumseh for quite a few years before her marriage in the 1890's.

Thank you very much for anything you can do for me.

(EDITORS NOTE: We have been told that Consumers Power Company originally named Hendershot Hwy. when they numbered consumers homes for business reasons. It was so named for Ralph Hendershot who had lived there from the time he was 12 until he died at the age of 88. Several years ago the Grange put up new road signs and used the same name. We are of the opinion that this makes it official.)

"What can I do about this pain?"

Customers often ask questions like this. And every year we sell perhaps a ton of pain relievers. Relievers. That's the point. We can sell simple analgesics, but we can't prescribe drugs to eliminate the cause of pain. Diagnosing and prescribing are in your physician's province. We, as professional pharmacists, work with doctors, providing the drugs they order. So, if you have any kind of a persistent pain, see your physician. Trouble "Shooters"

Stretch Taylor, captain of the high school basketball team, thought up a great way to keep the new schoolyard clean.

The teachers were having trouble keeping the kids from leaving their ice cream wrappers, empty milk cartons and paper napkins in the area after lunch and after school . . . in spite of the handy trash cans.

So Stretch got the idea of equipping each can with a small basketball backboard and a sign saying "Shoot a basket." From the way the trash problem disappeared, our school should have a basketball powerhouse next season.

From where I sit, every problem needs just one good solution. For instance, it occurs to me that in getting along with our neighbors, tolerance is the solution. That means that your choice of tea should be honored just the same as my preference for a glass of beer. Makes for a "high scoring" combination in the friendship department.

SALLY HUNT

Sally Hunt Is Worthy Advisor of Rainbow Girls

Sally Hunt was installed as worthy advisor of the Rainbow girls in colorful ceremonies May 29 at the Masonic Temple in Adrian.

Leslie Bennett, soloist for the evening, sang 'Have Faith," as Miss Hunt knelt at the altar before being escorted to the East through an aisle of Knights Templar by her father, Kenton Hunt, and brother, Stephen.

She was presented with a basket of yellow roses representing the flowers and color of her term.

CHEVY 7 (COUNT 'EM) BESTS

Independent experts and official facts and figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways.

BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not: Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE . . . Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." It's the only car of the leading low-priced three that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

Kids at A Parade

Hundreds of towns throughout Michigan hold Memorial Day Parades. Tecumseh was no exception. The high school band and 30 units formed the parade. But what is a parade without kids? There were plenty viewing the parade here. Many came with their parents and crowded the sidewalks but some came by themselves, riding bikes or driving home-made cars. Three youngsters even drove a horse and buggy. Two adventurous girls cranked up their miniature car and drove to town. Hey, kids, can you find yourselves in these pictures?

"BOY, WE WISH THERE WAS A PARADE EVERY DAY."

"OKAY, YOU GUYS, KEEP THOSE LINES STRAIGHT. SINGLE FILE, THAT'S RIGHT."

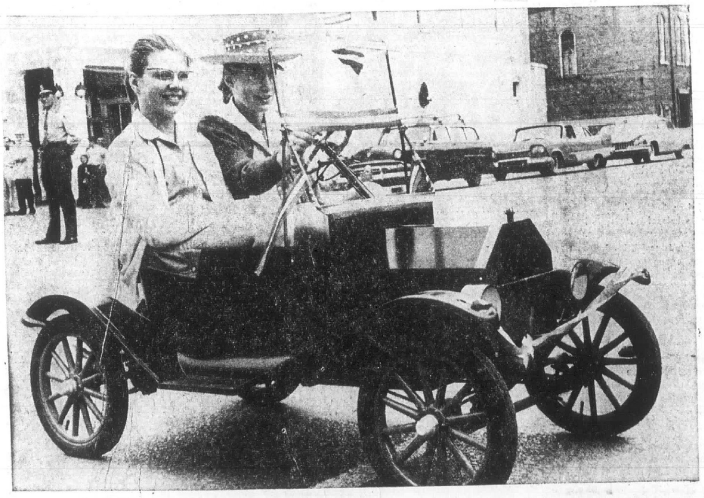
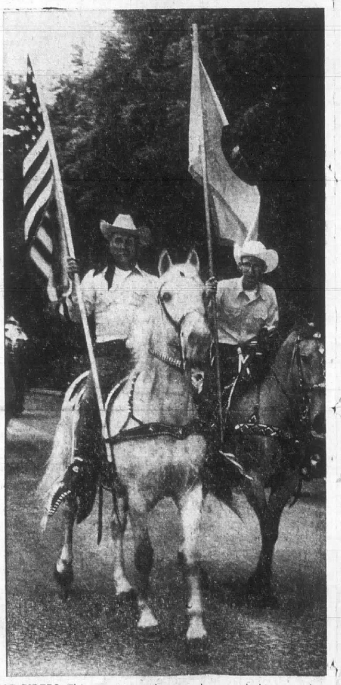
"LOOK, I DECORATED MY BIKE FOR THE PARADE."



"WE HOPE WE CAN FIND A PARKING PLACE. HEY, EVERYONE IS LOOKING AT US. WE WONDER WHY."



LEAD RIDERS—This two-man color guard preceeded mounted portion of the Memorial Day parade. William Lamson carries the American flag and Francis Hite the River Raisin Riders Club bunting.

Stickers Will Be Required to Use Dump

By JIM LINCOLN

Action to control the city dump was approved by Council Monday night when city attorney James Beardsley was requested to draw up an ordinance and to submit it at a special Council meeting, June 22.

Effective July 1, Tecumseh residents will require a car sticker for admission to the dump, if Council passes the ordinance.

Residents using the dump will be instructed to separate garbage from trash and to dispose of them in different locations at the dump.

Non-residents of Tecumseh will not be allowed to use the dump with the possible exception of Tecumseh Township residents.

Al Merz, township clerk, sought permission to use the dump and said the township would be willing to pay its share. Councilmen thought arrangements could be reached.

Resident A. C. Hamaker urged Council earlier to adopt the plan proposed by Herbert Dillon, owner of Tecumseh Hauling Company, or another plan, if better.

Mr. Dillon said Tecumseh Hauling would pick up garbage and trash on the premises for $1.75 a month. Residents would not have to take their cans to the curbs.

☆

A PLAN to improve fishing sites for children along Evans Creek and in Mill Pond was approved with the recommendation that the Tecumseh Conservation League take over the project.

Hugh Donahoe of Herrick Park Dr. said the creek and pond should be poisoned to rid the water of carp and other rough fish and construct rip and log dams.

He said the poison would be harmful only to fish and the dams could be constructed at a minimum cost. The Jackson Conservation office would re-stock the water with game fish—bluegills, crappies and bass.

Mr. Donahoe reported a gift of $500 already had been made and thought other gifts or donations could be obtained.

☆

IN OTHER action Council approved:

- Purchase of 1959 Rambler from Wilson Rambler Sales, Inc., for the police department.
- Paying $900 for three years for maintenance at the local airport.
- Buying a cage around the ladder to the water tower.
- Request by city manager Ed Nelson to investigate costs for spraying city property. Jack Curtiss, of 608 Center Dr., previously offered his services at a nominal charge.

Long AND Short OF IT

By TOM RIORDAN

After spending much of Saturday afternoon going over the county budget with Roy Titley, Tecumseh insuranceman, my head was spinning.

Roy, who is chairman of the county tax allocation board, was providing fodder for the third in our series of yarns about local taxation.

There was at least one item which was news to me:

The county has nothing to do with road funds. This is state business and when county citizens vote a levy, say for bridges (as was not approved last year), the cash would be used just for this and the county wouldn't see it.

I had always somehow envisioned most of our money going to repair roads, but that's hardly the case.

Welfare, right now, is the big item.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore, local Baptist minister on the county welfare board, tells us the group is doing its darndest to hold the line.

This is a whale of a job when you figure that down-and-out folks (many through no fault of their own, especially children) needed $438,000 for food, clothing, shelter and medical care last year.

Another item—this gives a fellow the feeling of a bur under his shirt—is the requirement for boarding county prisoners, a goodly portion of the $131,000 allotment for the sheriff's department.

Wouldn't it be grand if there was some way of having gin-oners work off their sentences so that taxpayers wouldn't have to carry this burden?

Ah, but a pipe dream, no more.

While chatting with Mr. Titley, who should walk into his office but Rollo Conlin, tax chairman for Michigan's House of Representative and one of the hottest news sources in the state today.

Naturally, we got going on the Big Mess, with Mr. Conlin stating his opinions.

Upshot of this chance meeting is the adjoining story about state taxation, which I gathered Tuesday in Lansing.

It was an unusual experience and one I'd like to have more often. Certainly, from it comes a yarn that's quite different from average weekly newspaper fare.

☆

That circus-stunt genius who shoots folks out of a cannon seems to have been hired by the Detroit Tiger management.

At least one might surmise the Bengals have been fired from a longtom—and how their followers love the trick.

But the easiest answer to the querry is simply: Detroit has been getting really solid pitching. Hurling is about 90% of the game.

Batters, being able to get a hit at least every fourth or fifth time up—and one or two on a team more often—a couple of runs can usually be had if the chucker will hold down the opposition.

Dykes has the right philosophy in handling pitchers, telling them to relax, take their time and let him do the worrying.

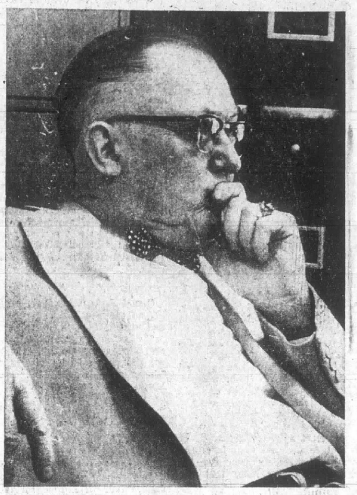
Public Office Brings Fame, Brickbats

By TOM RIORDAN

LANSING—It was exactly noon when the big door of room L swung open and several men slipped out.



CONLIN LISTENS, THE GUEST RAMBLES ON AND ON.

Four reporters dashed in and asked the man in the light tan summer suit, what happened.

"We tabled 1361 and voted out 1322," he replied.

"Will you ask to have the rules suspended?" a newsman inquired.

"Yes."

"Would that mean a vote today?"

"It might."

Three of the reporters were suddenly gone. The fourth stuck around. This being his first experience in getting a story at the state legislature, he needed more of an explanation.

The tan-suited law-maker was happy to oblige.

"Senate Bill 1361 on equalized property valuation has been tabled."

Then, the writer, growing more confident of his ground, asked, "And the other bill is the one on the use tax?"

"That's right."

The legislator went on to say that if regular House rules would be suspended, an immediate vote could be taken on the tax, which would cost you 4c every time you spent $1—should it pass.

☆

THE MAN in the light brown suit was Rollo Conlin of Tipton, a member of the House the past 15 years, who had just completed a two-hour hearing — part open and the rest closed—in room L of the capitol.

As chairman of the House tax committee, Mr. Conlin is a key figure in the current drama, which could be entitled "Michigan's Money (or lack of same) Madness."

A staunch proponent of a state income tax, Mr. Conlin decided to toss the use tax to the floor for a vote because he feels it will immediately be found unconstitutional — and thus out of any contention as a solution for the state cash deficit.

Then the drive for an income tax—something that 33 states already have—would begin.

Mr. Conlin's position in state government and his stand on taxation have got him something else besides the spotlight.

He also has been lambasted by verbal brickbats from all over the state. One bitter letter from a professional man in Adrian is particularly damning and rates a spot in a pocket of Conlin's suitcoat.

It claimed Conlin is "out-Williamsing Williams."

But that's the price of holding a public office.

And Mr. Conlin is an old-timer at this, having served 23 years as a representative for fellow citizens, first as a Lenawee county supervisor for eight years and since 1944 as a member of the House.

The present situation is the toughest one he has had to face, admits Mr. Conlin.

"The only thing you can expect is the unexpected," he muses.

"I've had these a while and thought I better get them up."

Forgets Safety Rule

A seven-year-old Tecumseh boy forgot a safety rule last Saturday afternoon: he didn't cross the street at the intersection.

Result: Dennis Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Williams, 702 W. Pottawatamie, suffered multiple lacerations on the left side of his face, resulting in a black eye, and lost four teeth—two permanently—in an accident about a block away from his home.

Dennis was injured as he ran into the street and was hit by a car driven by Joe Perry Hayden, 19, of 512 E. Logan, who was heading south on Adrian, near Pottawatamie.

Hayden, who was not held by police, said Dennis ran from behind a car going north on Adrian into the rear fender of his car.

Dennis was released Tuesday afternoon from Herrick Memorial Hospital. Said Mrs. Williams:

"It is hard for Dennis to talk because his mouth is still swollen. There are stitches in his upper lip and lower lip, running to his jawbone.

Camero's car collided with another car driven by Daniel D. Dermyer, 307 Cummings. Camero apparently misudged the distance between his car and Dermyer's, the police report said.

Camero's son, Israel, one-year-old, suffered head bruises and cuts when he was thrown against the windshield and instrument panel. The child was treated at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

New Park Now Open

Calvin R. Zorn, city engineer, disclosed Friday that Tecumseh residents have been using, for about the last three weeks, a new city-operated park behind the Patterson School, N. Union near Bidwell.

No announcement, officially opening the park, has been made by city officials.

Many shade trees and a slow-flowing creek are on the park site and water, sanitation and recreation facilities—swings and a baseball diamond—are provided on the school property.

"About a month ago, the Jaycees bought six tables and trash cans and placed them behind the school. Then the city painted them," Zorn said.

"Although there are other areas that could be developed, Patterson School was selected because it already had shade trees and other facilities.

"We're even planning to build a foot bride across the creek so that residents on Seminole Street can have access to the area."

Zorn added that the city's parks and recreation committee has to maintain the park.

It is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and is an organizational workshop.

TAXES IN TECUMSEH — A SERIES

County Budget: $1 Million

LAST IN A SERIES

Your winter taxes are divided into three parts—schools, county and township.

Basic control of all three falls to the county tax allocation board, a six-man group chosen by statute. It includes:

1. Finance chairman of the county board of supervisors (who currently is Roy Titley of Tecumseh.)
2. County superintendent of schools.
3. School board member from county's largest school district.
4. Assessor of the largest tax-paying municipality.
5. County treasurer.
6. Member-at-large appointed by the probate judge.

It's their job to break down 15 mills of taxation (limit allowed by law without a vote of tax payers) for schools, county and township.

Schools come in for about two-thirds of the total winter tax, as educating our youth requires the greatest amounts of money. (We talked about school taxes in a previous story.)

Townships are allowed up to one mill. Usually they don't need any (their expenses, when required are for roads, paved streets, fire departments and cemeteries.)

Right now, in Lenawee county, 13 townships ask nothing. Four—Blissfield, Madison, Palmyra and Ogden—take the full mill. The other five townships need one-half a mill.

This leaves 5½ mills for county purposes. Lenawee "lives" on the more or less minimum rate for this area. Of other adjacent counties, only Monroe is less than Lenawee (5¼), while Washtenaw matches us and Jackson needs 6, Hillsdale 6.15.

☆

NOW, TO GET COMPLICATED, this taxation is on state equalized valuations, meaning that all local valuations must be adjusted to state standards.

You might recall in the last of this series, when we discussed schools, how valuations varied all over the map in the 90-square mile Tecumseh district.

Example: Real estate and personal property in the City of Tecumseh have been valued at $17,747,400. The state says, nope, the figure really is $25,444,674 (based on a spot check

No, the frost isn't on the pumpkin nor the fodder in the shock but we certainly have had cool, chilly mornings this week.

Delightful for those ambitious persons who like to work, but it doesn't seem quite the time for Father's crowning day. However June 21 is fast arriving and Tecumseh people are scanning the stores for something just right to please Dad.

After viewing himself and being told he looked quite debonair, Pops started to the kitchen for a snack, where upon the fumpus began.

"Sam" (our boxer, cocker, what have you dog), sleeping in the dining room didn't recognize father in his short pants and nearly ate one hairy leg off.

COUNTY TAXES

Thus, Tecumseh is 30¼% low as far as the state is concerned. The winter tax notices, then, are 15 mills of the state figure.

Tecumseh township is closer to state valuation, actually 81% of it. But Cambridge township is way off the pace, 44½%. The adjusted figure is supposed to make the final dollar payment equal all over the county.

It's questionable if it does, but only Solomon could work out an answer—and maybe even he couldn't.

☆

WELL, NOW BACK TO the facts.

Total valuation for 1957, when winter taxes were posted, was $239 million. Property owners were assessed 5 mills of this, so the county realized $1,200,000 to conduct its business.

Incidentally, real estate and personal property taxation is the principle financial means for running a county. Other income is minor, according to Roy Titley of the allocation board.

The county found itself in trouble the following year, so the allocation board recommended a jump in the county's share of the 15-mill winter tax total, from 5 to 5½ mills.

However, in the meantime, over-all county assessments (principally in Adrian), had been dropped $2 million.

So the extra half mill, which the year before would have brought in an added $112,000, meant only $102,000, or loss of $10,000 due to the decreased assessments.

That $10,000 could have helped considerably.

☆

NOW, LET'S EXAMINE the major ingredients of the county budget.

Off the top comes $300,000, which pays off loans, required since 1957 when county financing dipped into the red.

Then follows:

1. Welfare and hospitalization (for those who cannot pay)—$438,000. (Up to 1957, the state split welfare 50-50 with counties. At that time, the ratio changed 70-30 with the state on the 30% end.)

2. Sheriff's department (includes boarding of prisoners)—$131,000.

3. Maintenance and repair of county buildings—$50,000.

4. County health program—$43,000.

Expense of operating a county has really been jumping. In 1956, using black ink on the ledgers, the county needed three mills.

In '57 it was four, then five for '58 and five and one-half for the current year.

Welfare needs have been dropping off and should continue to fall through the summer. Possibly, the deficit (started when the state switched signals), may be erased. No one will know until the year ends.

An entry blank will be printed next week in the Herald.

New Ordinance for City Dump

We are skeptical of the ordinance, proposed Monday night at the Council meeting, which would force all Tecumseh residents, after July 1, to either buy a car sticker in order to dispose of garbage and trash at the city dump or have it collected by a private company operating in the city. Our deduction: an ordinance, in order to be effective, has got to be an expression of the will of the people.

This particular ordinance is no exception. No one could escape its jurisdiction unless one was disconcerned, preferring to live like a pig.

But the Council's viewpoint can be vindicated because an expression of the will of the people of Tecumseh has been lacking in the Council's effort to control the dump. Very few citizens show up at Council meetings. The rest are dormant and listless. Their attitude, which is the paradox of democratic government: Let the few determine the laws for the many!

Perhaps you don't think your opinion is important, but each one is—in a democracy. It is guaranteed by one of the inherent rights in the Constitution: freedom of speech. We urge you to speak up at the special Council meeting this Monday night or forever hold your timid or apathetical tongues.

Products Team Beats Rumpfs; Tie Is Broken

By JEROME KEMP

Last Wednesday night was a turning point in the men's softball league: two teams were tied for first, two teams were holding down second place.

In the first game, the two teams tied for first played one another. Result: Tecumseh Products swamped Rumpfs, 9-0. Joe Petrowvich, pitcher for Tecumseh Products, allowed no batters to reach first base. No one got any hits, either.

The second game saw the Clinton Merchants subdue the Country Market team, 7-1, thus breaking the tie between the two teams.

AUTHORITY

On Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem, He found the temple desecrated by men who were practicing fraud, and He cast them out saying, "It is written, My house shall be called a house of prayer: but ye make it a den of robbers.". The chief priests and elders of the people asked him this question, "By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?" Read Jesus' reply in Matthew 21:23-27.

The question of authority in religion is all-important. "Is it from Heaven or from man?" If authority for what we do comes from God, it is right but if it comes from man, it is wrong. There are no infallible men today; the New Testament is our only infallible guide in religion. There are no unwritten traditions authorized of God to act as a supplement to the Holy Scriptures. "Every scripture inspired of God is also profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for instruction which is in righteousness: that the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work." (2 Timothy 3:16, 17.) "Seeing that his divine power hath granted unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness . . . " (2 Peter 1:3).

The Lord's church is not a legislative body empowered to change the laws of God which have been already sealed by his blood. "But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach unto you any gospel other than that which we preached unto you, let him be anathema." (Galatians 1:8) See also Rev. 22:18.

Carolyn Faye McClure Is Married to Gayle Wilson

Carolyn Faye McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Worth McClure, of 1009 Shady Lane, Tecumseh, was married to Gayle Robert Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, of Pontiac, last Sunday in the Assembly of God Church in Adrian.

Ruth Baldwin of Onaway was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Verlaine and Janice Wilson, sisters of the groom, and 12-year-old Marilyn McClure, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Their ballerina gowns were of pastel shades of taffeta and were styled with fitted torsos and bouffant skirts.

Danny Wilson, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were Wilmer Snyder of Osseo, Edwin Racine of Pontiac, and David Wilson, the 13-year-old brother of the groom was junior usher. After the ceremony a reception was held for approximately 200 guests at the Seventh-day Adventist school on Ives Road.

After the bridal party had entered the church, Charlene Clevenger, of Holly, sang 'Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee' and as the couple knelt at the altar, Norman Wilson, brother of the groom, sang "The Wedding Prayer".

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar in a floor-length gown of Skinner satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline which formed a V in back, and featured a yoke of imported Chantilly lace over satin.

The long pointed sleeves were also of the Chantilly lace and satin. The full skirt lay in soft folds over a front panel of lace and fell into a semi-chapel train in back.

Her fingertip veil was of imported silk illusion and was held in place by a head-band of satin and lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with streamers of ivy.

Preceding the bride and her father down the aisle was the four-year-old flower girl, Ann Elizabeth Kraner, of Adrian, and six-year-old Roger Brower, of Manitou Beach, who was Bible boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for a short wedding trip in the East after the reception.

When they return they will live in Berrien Springs, Mich., where they are attending Emmanuel Missionary College. Mr. Wilson is business administration major and Mrs. Wilson is a secretarial science major.

Girl Pioneers Place Fourth

The Girl Pioneers of Grace Lutheran Church attended a District Field Day last Saturday at Saginaw and placed fourth in the State competition in handicraft and field activities.

About 28 leaders and girls, aged 8 to 14, brought home 24 ribbons. The group was organized in Tecumseh less than a year ago.

Leaders are Mrs. Frank Humble, Mrs. Robert Mohr, Mrs. Gaza Kish and Mrs. Harry Hans. Mrs. Kenneth Hinkleman is the counselor.

About 20 boys and leaders of the Pioneers of Grace Lutheran went on a camp-out at Kilarney Lake last weekend.

They used the new pup tents purchased with the proceeds from a recent car wash.

Debbie Kish, 4, Has Birthday Party

Mrs. Gaza Kish entertained a group of tiny tots June 10 honoring the fourth birthday of her daughter, Debbie.

Games were enjoyed and prizes awarded midst the happy confusion of the little guests: Mark and Linda Withrow, Dougie, Lori and Gregg Downard, Joyce and Patty Kish, of Ridgeway, Johnny and Janie Gerten, of Blissfield.

Cake and ice cream were served and Debbie received a lot of gifts.

Police Blotter

Two autos were extensively damaged in an accident Tuesday and their teenage drivers escaped injury in a collision at the intersection of E. Chicago Blvd. and Maumee St.

Cady Craig, 16, of Rt. 3, Adrian, failed to stop for a traffic light at the intersection and struck the left side of an auto driven by Gary Fairbanks, 19, of Britton.

Craig was given a summons for failure to observe a traffic signal

Planes Will Land at Dawn

Airplanes from all over the middle east will zero in on Tecumseh next Sunday, June 28, as the Tecumseh Exchange Club holds its annual "Dawn Patrol."

After landing at the Tecumseh Airport, the fliers will be able to see the Meyers Model 200 on the production line and to examine used aircraft up for sale.

A ham and egg breakfast with sweet rolls, juice, coffee and milk will be served from 7 a.m. to noon. Price is $1 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Residents are invited to the breakfast and to observe the "Dawn Patrol" program which will be announced next week in the Herald.

Church's Gospel Meeting Successful

The Rev. Kenneth Frazier of the Church of Christ reports the gospel meeting which closed June 10 was the most successful ever conducted here by his church.

Visitors from as far as Detroit attended consistently and the attendance the last two nights was 104 and 108.

Two Phamplets on Social Secutiry Are Available Free

Did you know that on June 1, 1752, the first insurance policy in this country was issued at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and that Benjamin Franklin was responsible for organizing that first insurance company?

One insurance system that affects nine out of every 10 people who work for a living in Lenawee county is a social insurance program commonly known as social security.

In 1935, the Federal Government passed the first Social Security Act. Throughout the country there are now more than 12½ million people receiving old-age, survivors, or disability monthly payments.

In Lenawee county these payments amount to $362,000 a month.

There are two pamphlets, both free, available that furnish information that can help in this planning — "Your Social Security", and "How to Estimate Your Social Security Payments".

Address your request to Social Security Administration, County Building, Jackson, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Elliott entertained his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, from Greenville over the weekend.

HE CAUGHT IT IN THE EYE—George Surratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Surratt of N. Union St., was playing baseball in the back lot with the gang when a high fly came his way. "I didn't have the mitt in the right place" he said later after the confusion cleared away. The eye will eventually be all-right but he brought a look of horror to the face of anyone who looked at the nine-year-old for a full week following this mishap.

Ball Park Is Nearly Completed

Another ball park for little league is under construction at Tecumseh Acres and should be in use by next week.

Boys, 10-13, are still wanted for the minor leagues and boys, 15 and up, who want to play baseball are asked to contact Mr. Leetka.

An All-Star game in the mens softball league will be played June 26 at 7 p.m.

Mother Sparrow Makes Her Nest in A Weed Patch

As Charley Goodacre, 721 Seneca St., was preparing to spread top soil on the strip of land between his sidewalk and street Monday night, he saw a bird scurry from beneath a large weed.

Charley took a closer look, discovered a nest under the leaf in which were five eggs. Each was covered with greenish-brown spots.

Neighbors gathered, as the mother nervously scurried within 15 feet of her nest.

A contingent visited the home of Marda Gene Duncan, Herald columnist and local expert on birds, but she was on a trip with her parents. Her grandparents loaned the guests half a dozen books on birds.

Meanwhile, the little mother was busy hatching her brood and Tuesday afternoon two new white-throats were calling for food.

By Wednesday morning two more had been hatched.

FINDS EGGS—This was the nest, under a weed's leaf, found by Charley Goodacre. Containing five, brown-speckled eggs, it was on the Goodacre parkway, between street and sidewalk, in the path of a new lawn. Work on the project has been temporarily halted by Mr. Goodacre.

'Cool, Man, Cool!' Yes, MAM, Yes!

Mrs. Ray Zimmerman, 721 N. Union, was selected Monday by judges Jim Lincoln and Tom Riordan as the winner of the Bexel Swim Pool Contest, at Hodges Drug Store.

Her entry said: "I would like to win the Bexel Swim Pool because 'I'm cool, man, cool! That's me when my little ones are busy and I think they could give this roomy pool summer-long occupancy.'"

CONLIN IN LEGISLATURE

It reflects the hopes of the man who put it up.

☆

DURING THE few odd minutes before the hearing on No. 1361 was to start I had an opportunity to question Mr. Conlin briefly on his tax views.

Why are you opposed to the 4c sales (use) tax?

"It's unconstitutional, first of all. (State constitution reads: "At no time shall the legislature levy a sales tax of more than 3%.")

"It's just another patch on our already patch-work tax system and it's wholly inadequate."

Mr. Conlin is firm in his belief that the state needs $140 million and the use tax couldn't raise this. Most of his fellow Republicans figure $108 million is plenty.

What is the solution?

"A 2% personal income tax, 5% on corporations and 7½% on financial institutions. To give business relief, the business activities tax would be repealed, along with the intangible tax. The franchise tax would be reduced."

This opinion is backed by 18 months of working with a citizens tax study committee, which took apart and put back together the Michigan taxation structure.

The group was formed by Mr. Conlin and included many leading state residents.

Its chief recommendation was a personal income tax. Mr. Conlin agreed and has pushed the idea ever since.

Leading a drive for unpopular legislation is now Mr. Conlin's lot and it's proving a tough one—but he shows no signs of willing.

EXCITING GOINGS ON

"For goodness sake, Mom, what are you looking at?" But she was not about to commit herself till sure. For some minutes she stood at the back window watching something in the trees along the creek bank.

Her under-the-breath mumblings gave no clue as to what was going on but finally, the unintelligible became a triumph cry,

"It truly it! There is a flock of Cedar Waxwings out here!"

Sure enough,—tucked between the leaves of several small trees just in back of our screened porch were perhaps a dozen waxwings. So well did they blend with their surroundings that it was hard to spot them until they moved.

However, as they flew from branch to branch, in their quiet and graceful manner, we had ample chances to see their soft all over brown color and marvel at the brilliant yellow and red trimming which, although small, were so decorative.

We were again impressed by their close resemblance, but only at first glance, to female Cardinals.

☆

I SAID AGAIN because this was our second experience with cedar waxwings. A year ago last February, they paid a Sunday morning visit and at that time, with the trees all bare, we had a magnificent look at these brown beauties.

This time, watching as they searched through the new green leaves, was fun too; their dark face mask made them look like little bandits.

Several days after Mom spotted the big flock, I was looking through my west window and surprise surprise. The bright yellow band across the bottom of the bird's tail was unmistakeable —cedar waxwings again.

Actually, since they usually travel in small flocks, there were undoubtedly more around, but the foliage is so heavy now that much of the tree activity, the busy and interesting coming and going, is hidden.

Our second look at a cedar waxwing was most exciting.

Need I add that if started me on a campaign of tree watching —even though they weren't anxious to provide glimpses of their visitors, the trees were stared at, looked through, and squinted at.

☆

THE EYE-STRAINING paid off and last Saturday, thrill of thrills, the flock of cedar waxwings were back and, happy to say, spent the whole afternoon with us.

Another fortunate thing was that they spent most of their time in the walnut tree. By their nature its leaves are not as dense and as hard to see through as are the maples and also, the walnut tree is slower to leaf out —good for me, this made it quite easy to watch the birds.

What an experience. Never in too much of a hurry, never screaming and squawking in loud raucous voices — in fact, these birds do not have much of a voice at all and by not announcing themselves, they are often overlooked — the cedar waxwings are almost perfect ladies and gentlemen.

There is always a spick and span, just-stepped-out-of-the-box look about them. It is just a shame that their silent comings and goings are not noticed oftener. They are truly delightful birds.

☆

IN ADDITION, to the waxwings, Saturday afternoon also offered another bird we seldom see. Again it was the walnut tree which played host. To what? A female baltimore oriole.

She was not the dull drab thing bird books often picture but instead, her breast was a soft quiet yellowish-orange and her back and wings a lightish brown.

We did not get a really close look at her—wing bars could not be seen but I am sure the lady was a Baltimore Oriole.

Hers was not the flashy bold beauty of her husband, but like the female cardinal, she had a dainty demure charm all her own.

☆

ON SEVERAL occasions this year we have seen the male oriole; in fact, there has been two of them. We noticed them first when the leaves were just coming out.

As they streaked back and forth through our window picture, what a sight they made—brilliant streaks of orange and black flashing through green leaves so new that they still showed tings of yellow.

At first their chasings after each other looked like exciting games of tag but lately we have not seen the two together. I suppose they are now both busy with the serious job of family raising and I fear that now, if they did meet, the chase would not be so friendly.

So goes our Spring bird watching. The trees are almost fully leaved out now and even though they are most reluctant to share their secrets we, fortunately, have many exciting goings on to see.

Of the Bible's great military leaders, few are less known than Joab, the kinsman of King David. Yet it was Joab who brilliantly led Israel's armies; it was he who was the king's confidant. Only he had the courage to go against David's express commands and carry out the terrible killings of public figures so necessary to the kingdom's safety. Joab even sacrificed his beloved Reba and his own son for David. Why? Because David was the anointed of the Lord.

That Car of Yours Is a Real Expense

(Special to the Herald)

NEW YORK—How much does it cost residents of Lenawee county per year to operate their cars? How much have their costs gone up in the last year?

These are questions that owners often, ask themselves, especially when their insurance bills come due. Few of them really know.

According to figures produced by the American Automobile Association, the costs are somewhat higher this year.

Its report on maintenance and operating expenses shows that the typical driver, who owns a car in the popular-price range and travels the average amount, 10,000 miles a year, now spends $1,200 annually, or 12 cents a mile.

ON THE BASIS of current passenger car registrations in Lenawee county and under average driving conditions, it costs local residents an estimated $35,052,000 a year to run their cars.

The AAA analysis shows that a car incurs a bill of $2.19 a day, all through the year, even when not in use. Over the period of a year, these fixed charges amount to $801.

The largest part of it is depreciation, which comes to $648 a year. Next in order is property damage and liability insurance ($25,000 and $50,000), totaling $103. Fire and theft insurance plus license and registration fees make up the rest.

The variable costs, for gas, oil, maintenance and tires, come to 3.99 cents a mile, says the AAA. It all adds up to 12 cents a mile for 10,000-mile usage.

FOR THE DRIVER who goes 20,000 miles a year, it becomes less on a mileage basis, since the fixed costs are no higher. The overall expenses amount to $1,628 equivalent to 8.1 cents per mile.

On the other hand, the 5,000-mile driver fares worse. It costs him 20 cents a mile.

Rising costs, however, have had little effect on the amount of auto travel.

"How can I bank when I'm busy?"

To us — indeed, to bankers across the land — this is a familiar question; because housewives everywhere face the same dilemma. Children must be readied for school, housework must be done — how to find time to get to the bank to make that deposit, or attend to other routine but necessary banking business? Our bank, like many others, has an answer: Bank by mail. To send us deposits, you simply list them on a form and enclose them in an envelope; stamp the envelope and hand it to the postman, or drop it in the mail-box. Try it: Just come in and ask us for free forms!

CHAMBER of COMMERCE

By DON MURPHY
Executive Secretary

Most progressive communities in America have a chamber of commerce, and the number of such organizations is steadily increasing.

Although there is some variation in the structure, methods and activities of these thousands of community-level organizations follow a uniform pattern.

With reference to its function in community life, a local chamber of commerce might be broadly defined as 'people working together, to make their community a better place in which to live and make a living."

☆

PEOPLE . . . bankers, lawyers, manufacturers, doctors, advertisers, clergymen, teachers, retailers, wholesalers, salesmen—business and professional men and women who share a common interest and pride in their 'hometown."

WORKING TOGETHER . . . . meeting as a group or as committees, analyzing problems, proposing solutions, initiating discussion, examining related facts, acting in accordance with the expressed will be the majority, making mistakes sometimes, but constantly striving to improve business and build a better community.

TO MAKE THEIR COMMUNITY A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE AND MAKE A LIVING . . . a safer cleaner, more beautiful place; a place where businessmen, farmer, industrialist, and educator acknowledge a mutual dependency which is a challenge to each and a source of pride.

A place where the industrialist finds a promising site, the tourist a vacation dreamland, the visitor a sure and friendly answer to his question, and the neighbor finds . . . a neighbor.

A place that is bothered about progress, that likes to survey itself and eliminate the margin of its discontent, that looks with a critical eye on crowded streets and frowns at buildings with faded, grim facades.

A place where people grow restless if too frequently confronted with the past and where tradition is an insufficient excuse for stagnation and where each day is a day for accomplishment and tomorrow holds a promise of better living in a better community.

The Chamber of Commerce is a highly skilled organization. The same competitive forces that fostered the development of American business and industry, have contributed to the development of unique skills in community building.

These skills are applied in accordance with the demands of location, population, and economy — for a chamber of commerce must remain flexible and attentive to such influences.

In spite of its flexibility, there are elements in a chamber's structure which might be termed "fundamentals". A chamber is a voluntary association of business and professional men and women. Much of its strength is derived from the fact that it is composed of members who contribute personal and financial support because they wish to do so, and not because a law requires their contribution.

The vitality and effectiveness of American chambers of commerce is due, in great measure, to the fact that they have not sought to become tax-supported organizations.

The membership of local chambers of commerce is broad, it includes representatives of essentially every type of community activity and endeavor. Coordinating such varied interests is a challenging job, but, by their achievements, chambers of commerce have proved that it can be done.

☆

THEY SECURE the highest quality of community leadership. It is significant that a high percentage of successful businessmen are active members of chambers of commerce. Leaders in every phase of community life are drawn into the broad chamber of commerce program.

These business and civic leaders provide the sound judgment, the foresight and the enterprise necessary for maximum accomplishment.

The chamber of commerce makes use of community 'workers" as well as leaders. The member who invests his time and energy as a committee worker — who performs effectively under the direction of officers, committee chairmen, and leaders—is indispensable. The number and enthusiasm of such workers is indicative of the chambers effectiveness.

It is a democratic organization. Their by-laws provide for complete membership control. Constant application of the "spirit" of democratic procedure, as well as compliance with is formal provisions, has made the chamber of commerce a potent force in community life.

The administrative machiners is simple.

Most chambers are patterened after business corporations with primary administrative responsibilities vested in a board of directors elected by a membership. Committees are created to function in specific areas of activity determined by community needs.

At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right planes at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thriftmaster 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months!

Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action.

The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high.

Going into the real heart of Chevrolet advantages is where your dealer comes in. He'll show you, in feature after feature, that you can't buy more truck dependability – in any weight class–at any price.

BETTER PROGRAMS?

One of the big headaches of TV broadcasters today is 'what do the greatest number of people like best at this time'?

The best guess brings in the greatest advertising result and therefore is most profitable. But it will not remain a guessing game much longer.

Electronic engineers are working out the problems of having small built-in transmitters included in the chassis of the future TV and radio set. These will give an accurate and total count to the survey takers about 'who and where is listening to what'. This device will also be rigged so that viewers could indicate their likes and dislikes.

If you make a survey of your neighbors about television organizations in this area, you will find that COOK ELECTRIC is a leading one. Phone 92-J for professional services that cost no more.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

A Tip From Our "Cap"

Couple of months ago, Cap Anderson traded in that fifteen-year-old rattletrap of his and purchased a new snazzy '59 model car. A real beauty, two-tone, and complete with power-everything.

But yesterday, of all things, Cap rattled into town behind the wheel of his old car. Naturally, all of us wanted to find out "How come?".

"Bought it back," said Cap, "I'm now a two-car family. I like my new car because it looks real modern—but I like this car because it's real me!"

From where I sit, all of us have certain affections that grow more a part of us with each passing year. For instance, when I think of Saturday night, I always think of my easy chair and a cold glass of beer. Your idea may be something else. But let's not ask each other to "change"—let's just respect the other fellow's preference. Agreed?

What to do till the doctor comes

Emergencies strike with sudden swiftness. A slip, a fall, a collision is seldom announced. So be prepared. At least one member of every family should have a working knowledge of first aid. There are books on the subject and the American Red Cross gives classes where such information and training can be acquired. We recommend that you, or someone in your household, acquire the know-how. Another worthy recommendation is to maintain a supply of first-aid medications on hand at all times—antiseptic, gauze bandages, adhesive tape, alcohol, soothing creams, etc. The cost is small and we'll be glad to assist you in your selection.

Silo Ventilation Is Necessary

Farmers should have adequate ventilation while working in the silo, warns Richard Pfister, an agricultural engineer at Michigan State University.

Otherwise, Pfister says, serious poisoning or death may result.

Pfister makes these recommendations:

1. At silo-filling time, you should run the blower at least ten minutes before entering the silo.

2. If you see a yellowish-brown gas that smells like ammonia, you should stay away from the silo. It might be nitrogen dioxide, a very poisonous gas.

3. If you think unusual gases are forming in the silo, you should use a fan to help circulate the air.

4. Children shouldn't be allowed near the silo for five or six weeks after filling.

5. If a room at the base of the silo is attached to the barn, you should open the door or window leading to this room to eliminate the forming of gases.

☆

Says Pfister:

"Nitrogen dioxide sometimes appears within a few hours after filling, and it may form up to six weeks later. Scientists aren't sure of its causes.

Signs of nitrogen dioxide poisoning include coughing, shortness of breath and weakness.

IMPROVED CURRICULUMS TO BE OFFERED IN TECUMSEH SECONDARY SCHOOLS
(Fourth of a Series)

The board of education, administration and faculty are examining the Tecumseh High School curriculum with a goal of developing educational opportunities that are high in quality and varied in kind.

Some of the questions discussed were:

What is the position of the arts in our present high school curriculum? What shall this position be in the future? Is music, for example, one of the so-called "frill" subjects, or does it have tangible and worthwhile purposes? Does our society need the school music program?

1. The primary purpose is to disseminate the cultural aspects of music as an art. Since it is true that one measure of the level a civilization is the development of its art, it is evident that all generations must be taught the nature of the arts, including music. Inherent in such teaching should be emphasis on aesthetic values that will enable pupils to recognize and appreciate music of true beauty and greatness. Appropriate emphasis on music and art tends to maintain balance in the curriculum.

2. Music education is to help develop in pupils an understanding of other people through an acquaintance with their music. Music is an expressive medium known in various forms to all peoples; its communicative powers are a means of establishing a common meeting ground that minimizes national barriers.

3. Music education is to develop in each child knowledge and appreciation of, as well as skill in, music. This implies growth of a true love of music in all children—also for all children, but to a varying degree, development in the performance aspects of music. For some individuals this may be the foundation for a professional career in music.

4. Music education is to educate children in the use and worth of music in the home, church, and community. The development of values—often referred to as "good taste" with respect to the everyday use of music in normal living—should be part of the school experience of every child.

5. Music education is to encourage its use as a means of recreation, as an avocation or a hobby. At present, thousands of 'hi-fi" fans and record collectors have discovered music as an absorbing activity. Many individuals continue their school music experiences, too, by participating in choral or instrumental groups.

6. Music education is to encourage and explain its use not only as a cultural experience, but also as a means of relaxation and release from the tensions of everyday living, both as these prevail in present times and as they prevail in the future.

7. Music education is to identify the child gifted in music and guide the development of such giftedness so that the individual may realize his full potential, and so that such talent may be fully shared with society. Music may also be used in the development of the retarded or handicapped child.

8. Music education is to be used as a means of developing social relationships, desirable conduct, feelings of responsibility, and group cooperation. Music is a means of establishing and working towards worth-while standards of achievement. It is a vigorous, healthy avenue of group expression, too.

We believe that we can further improve our program by increasing the number of periods per day for our band and chorus instruction from one to two. This extra period will provide time for more individual instruction and the formation of ensemble groups.

Use Great Care When Spraying Pests, Plants

LANSING—Sprays used to poison plant and household pests should always be used according to directions, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

If directions aren't printed on the container, they should be obtained from the seller before the spray is purchased, the department advised.

Sprays can cause illness and even death if not used according to the manufacturer's directions. Health damage may result if poisonous fumes are inhaled or if poisonous liquid or mist come in contact with the skin.

If a spray is poisonous to humans at the concentration it is used against pests, this fact should be stated clearly in the directions.

The directions also should explain how the spray can be applied safely and what antidote is effective in case of accidental poisoning.

The department added that if fruit and vegetable sprays are used as directed, the amodnt of spray remaining on the fruit and vegetables when harvested will be harmless to man.

Even so, the department advised rinsing all fruits and vegetables before they are eaten.

The department also suggested that all poisonous sprays be stored out of reach of young children. These materials now rank third nationally among causes of accidental poisoning by ingestion.

"NO MAN CAN FEEL HIMSELF ALONE"

When you or your loved ones are sick, it is unwise to attempt to be alone with your trouble and attempt self-treatment. There is a friend whose whole life is dedicated to the treatment and cure of the sick — Your Physician.

The beginning of any illness is the opportune time for treatment. Delay can be dangerous. Home remedies that may only temporarily relieve distress often give a simple ailment time to become serious. Only a physician is competent to diagnose the true cause of sickness and prescribe the proper medication.

A healthy sign in any community is the amount of investment in the future. Such an investment, for example, is the construction of new homes . . . which bring new neighbors and new citizens and more playmates for the other children. A peripatetic Herald photographer took the following pictures while driving near and in new subdivisions in and around Tecumseh. His pictures show homes in various stages of construction and a skilled carpenter at work. Once the homes are completed, neighbors will probably be interested in the new occupants.

Free Ice Cream and Strawberries for 2,000

What a night Friday is going to be in Tecumseh. Thousands of guests are expected to flood the downtown area from 7 p.m. on. Their first mission will be to dispose of 2,000 servings of ice cream covered with strawberries and 2,000 donuts.

And it's all free, compliments of Tecumseh merchants.

Music will be provided from the city's Four Corners for two hours by Don Johnson and his Tecumseh high school "Five Little Indians" combo.

Each guest will have a chance on more than $100 in special awards, which will be given sometime during the evening.

All business places—except drug stores which must remain open—will be closed from 6 p.m. until 8:30. At this point, all front doors will swing wide, the start of Tecumseh's first annual Moonlight Sale. They'll be open until midnight.

Retailers will make good use of their two and one-half hours of closing, first to get fortified with a good meal for the late sale and secondly to mark down prices for the three and one-half hour selling spree.

Throughout the entire business area, some terrific bargains are reported . . . clothing price tags cut in half, new cars $50 over cost, two items for the price of one, $30 dresses nipped all the way back to $10, men's shoes at 50% off.

"This Moonlight Sale looks as though it's going to stack up with last year's Sidewalk Carnival," one veteran merchants has stated.

Kalamazoo Man Joins Bank as Vice-President

Resigning as superintendent of Michigan State University's W. K. Kellogg Station, Ronald G. Dillingham, of Kalamazoo, has joined the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh as vice president.

J. R. Thompson, president of United Savings, made the announcement Monday. He said Mr. Dillingham will start here "about July 15."

Mr. Dillingham has given his formal resignation to MSU's board of trustees. The board is expected to act on it at their June meeting.

Kellogg Station is MSU properties near Gull Lake. They include the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary, the Kellogg Farm, the Kellogg Forest and a feed research project.

After serving eight years as vice president and agriculturist with the First National Ban kand Trust Co, in Kalamazoo, Mr. Dillingham accepted his supervisory position at MSU in January, 1957.

A graduate of Purdue University, he spent 20 years with Aetna Life Insurance Company's mortgage loan department, operating in many midwestern cities.

Mr. Dillingham, a native of Baurbon, Ind., is a trustee of the Michigan 4-H Foundation, a national first vice president of the American Society of Farm Managers and Appraisers, a director of the Kalamazoo City Farmers Club, and secretary of the Kalamazoo Rural Service Council.

Presently, he is in his fifth term as secretary of the Kalamazoo Agricultural Society—governing body of the county fair—and Rotary Club.

He and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, have purchased a home in Tecumseh and will move here in July.

It was in 1936 that he came to Tecumseh and entered into a partnership known as Tresco, Inc. in the capacity of director of engineering.

Mr. Tucker was born and raised near Britton and graduated from Britton high school. He is 46, has worked at the Tecumseh Products Company since 1936, and today holds the position of secretary of the company.

Old Chair Tale

Reminiscing, Mrs. Richard Walker, 407 W. Russell, said Thursday that she identified the chair in the city dump, pictured on page three of last week's eHrald, as the one which belonged to her grandfather. She had sat in it since she was 14. The chair was discarded on June 14.

Dump Control Effective July 1

By DON BAUERLE

Council passed a resolution to control the city dump by a 5-2 margin Monday night at a special Council meeting. Councilmen Harold Easton and John Hamilton were the dissenters.

Drawn up by James Beardsley, city attorney, the resolution — which becomes effective July 1 — requires:

1. A car sticker, costing $1 for a six-month period, which has to be purchased at the police station in order to enter the dump.

There will be only one sticker for each family.

Tecumseh residents who have Herb Dillons' service will not be charged for a sticker. They will be required to show a receipt for service to obtain a sticker.

2. Separation of garbage and trash at the dump.

Residents of nearby communities — Clinton, Raisin Township, Macon, Britton and Ridgeway — will be prohibited from using the dump. The only exception is Tecumseh Township, said Ed Nelson, city manager.

In addition, Nelson pointed out, the city will not allow Dillons' trucks to dispose of garbage and trash collected in Clinton at the dump.

"We can't continue to take care of half the county's garbage and trash," Nelson declared.

"ABOUT 300 cars a day come to the dump. Half of the people mix garbage with their trash. Garbage should be put in one place provided at the dump and trash in another. But it's impossible.

Violators, whether residents or not, will be charged with a misdemeanor, Nelson explained, which carries a fine not exceeding $100.

So the dump can be managed, the back entrance will be closed and a guard will be stationed at the main gate on Wyandotte St. behind Herrick Memorial Hospital, Nelson said.

Dumping hours will be from 8-11 a.m. and 2-6 p.m. on week days, from 8-5:30 p.m. on Saturdays and from 1-4 p.m. on Sundays.

The three-hour period between 11 and 2 p.m. will give the bulldozer operator a chance to clear the dump," Nelson added.

Those from the Franklin Maidens Club were Mary Ellen Williams, Kay Creger, Judy and Linda Fenn.

Those from the Country Hi-Steppers Club were Carolyn Woods, Dottie Roe, Diane Mitzner, Priscilla Glascock and Gloria Sweet.

Jaycees Hold Annual Carnival

Cal Zorn, Jaycees vice-president, said the carnival has ponies, boat rides, a ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other attractions.

"This is our big proect of the year," Zorn said. "We use the proceeds for local baseball teams, Boy Scouts and civic improvement projects."

'Patronal Festival' at St. Peter's

St. Peter's Episcopal Church is anticipating the Feast of St. Peter the Apostle, which falls on June 29.

Since the parish is named after Peter, he is considered the "Patron Saint" of this church hence the expression "Patronal Festival."

Services are held at 8 a.m. with Holy Communion and again at the 10 a.m. family service.

At that 10 o'clock service there will be a dedication of light fixtures and new altar hanging.

A coffee hour will follow.

'Dawn Patrol' Is on Sunday

A lot of airplanes will crowd Meyers Airport Sunday morning, predicts Bill Powell, president of the Tecumseh Exchange Club.

Reason: the club is sponsoring its annual "Dawn Patrol."

"Flying enthusiasts travel to different towns, mostly in Michigan," Mr. Powell said, "for breakfast provided by a service club.

"We're expecting 150 to 400 airplanes and 1,000 to 1,200 people."

"The first plane should land at dawn."

Breakfast, which will be served from 7 a.m. to noon, will include ham and eggs, sweet rolls, juice, coffee and milk. Price is $1 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Local merchants have donated prizes for the lucky holders of breakfast ticket stubs. First prize is a Clinton engine kit.

Proceeds from the breakfast and a refreshment concession will be used for an Exchange Club project the electric football scoreboard for the athletic field.

The $1,800 scoreboard arrived about two weeks ago.

During the "Dawn Patrol" program, a Navy helicopter team will stage an air-sea rescue demonstration and go through other manuevers. Other features are a tour of the Meyers Aircraft Co. and the inspection of airplanes for sale.

SEVERAL HUNDRED PLANES ATTENDED LAST YEAR'S EVENT

THE Long & Short OF IT

By TOM RIORDAN

When Brenda Porter, a Tecumseh girl who just graduated from the University of Michigan, told me she was planning an outdoor art show, I asked her to furnish more details about herself and the show.

Her prompt response started, "Twenty-one years, optimistic about the world, I am beginning life as an artist."

In this day of power-packed living, it is indeed unusual for someone to come right out and say she intends to be an artist —not a scientist, not a secretary or teacher, or even a plain old-fashioned housewife.

Brenda's story was different from the usual ones we receive, so I'll just let her take over the rest of this week's column.

"Started studying art at Stetson University (in Florida) and graduated this June from the University of Michigan with my degree in art. My major was painting.

"Now it comes time for me to earn my own potatoes and the test of endurance (against starvation) begins.

"Before I journey out into the world to gain insight and experience necessary to fully mature as a painter I plan to show my senior year of college art work in Tecumseh.

"I want to get the townspeople's attitude toward my work, hope to bring some stimulation of imagination and perhaps even sell a few.

'My two day show will be July 1 and 2.

"Another phase of art that I majored in was ceramics and I also will display some of my work.

"Our town has not had many art shows before. I believe that my show will be the first contemporary art show attempted here.

"Depending on individual tastes in art, some people will not like what I am going to show. Contemporary art is often rejected from lack of understanding.

"Science has advanced greatly in the past 30 years and the world we live in likewise. So art, too, must not divorce itself from this progressive society of new ideas and abstractions.

"I am an expressionistic painter, that is I paint an idea plus the emotional meaning it has for me.

"Some of my paintings are completely void of recognizable subject matter, but through color and form I have expressed completely personal ideas and emotions.

"Sometime the painter is asked to explain a painting by a confused beholder. I feel that this is unfair to both the artist and the observer.

"Everyone preceives things differently and has had a different background of experiences. So how can an artist ask everyone to see in a painting exactly the same emotion, idea or experience that he individually did.

"I am always trying to create something new through my imagination and perception of things. I hope that the people that come to see the exhibit will also let their own imagination free and perhaps experience a new personal response.

"Included with my painting and pottery will be some lamps entirely designed and handmade by two Dutch brothers from Amsterdam, studying architecture at the U. of M.

"Hans and Gerry van de Bovenkemp have set up a little workshop in their Ann Arbor apartment and have wholeheartedly gone into the lamp business to produce the most individualistic lamps I have ever seen.

"Some of the bases are three or four-foot ceramic vases and the shades are rich colors of a grass fiber (raffia) that I doubt if many people have ever seen anything like them. The forms are all sculpturesque and the designs are beautiful.

"The Dutch brothers have the attitude that if you don't like them right away when you see them, then they won't let you buy one. "Honestly, these lamps are beautiful, Brenda concludes.

The outdoor show will be on the grounds between the Methodist Church and parsonage, all day Wednesday and Thursday, July 1 and 2.

See you there.

"Moon" Mullins, who switched from Rumpf's to the Products team last week, pitched the second perfect game of the season Monday night.

Mullins, who had hurled for Rumpf's up to mid-season, defeated his old teammates 5-0.

"Moon" was backed up by some fine fielding, especially the play by Dick Hadden on Russ Hyatt's blast in the fourth.

The game was hitless for both sides until the sixth when Myers singled and reached second on an error by the center fielder.

Two pitches later he scored when Tom Hamilton, Rumpf's catcher let one get buy.

The Products scored four runs in the seventh to ice the victory.

Interrupting, one citizen exclaimed: "You're going to control the dump regardless of how you vote. You've already ordered the stickers."

Three councilman had to assure the man that the Council wasn't acting hastily. The stickers were ordered early so that there would be no delay in enforcing the resolution.

Then the councilmen expressed their varied opinions on controlling the dump.

Said Councilman George McCombs, 'We should keep the dump clean and for Tecumseh. This is the first constructive thing we've done in a long time. We should give it a chance."

"I'm skeptical but I'm willing to try anything," commented Mayor H. H. Hanna. "It costs 17c each time Dillon makes a pick up, but you can't drive to the dump that cheaply."

Councilman Donald Brazee, snapped: "If you don't think it will work, don't vote for it. It's a good idea. If managed properly, it will work."

The problem is 50 per cent solved," agreed Councilman Harold Easton, "when you remove outsiders from the dump."

Councilman Ray Schlegel thought the resolution "will limit dumping because a guard will see that trash and garbage are separated."

Quipped Councilman John Hamilton: "He'll have to have a strong stomach."

City Has Two New Citizens

Mrs. Roberts and her daughter, Astride, were among those to receive certificates of naturalization June 18 from Judge Rex Martin.

Astride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school this year and her sisters, Rudite, Mary and Zaiga are students there.

Moreover, it is the second highest in the state for average attendance at weekly meetings, regardless of class. It is one of six clubs reporting an increase in membership for the year.

Deerfield Farmer, Struck by Bolt, Clinging to Life

Cheating death two months ago when he was struck by lightning while driving his tractor across an open field, Leslie Mueller, a Deerfield farmer, clings to life in the University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

He is in a deep coma.

Mueller, 33, suffered severe burns when his clothes were set afire and brain damage when the charge of lightning pierced his head, ruptured his eardrums, raced down his spine and grounded itself in the tractor.

U-M Doctors, amazed that Mueller survived, say he was saved from death because the heavy rubber tires on his tractor acted as an insulator, slowing the electrical discharge.

Although two operations — including one using skin grafts, have repaired the damage to the burned areas of his body, Mueller hasn't responded too well to treatment for electrical shock, doctors report.

☆

IN EEFECT, Mueller had a heart attack when he was struck by the lightning. Blood no longer circulated in his body and the lack of it affected the brain.

Damage to the brain, doctors say, depends on how long the heart stops pulsating.

His accident, however, has given doctors the chance to observe the effects of lightning on a human being. With the cooperation of his wife, Corrine, Mueller has become a living laboratory for U-M doctors.

Recent electro-encephalographs have shown a change in Mueller's brain waves and further EEG examinations may offer doctors evidence that he is recovering from the coma.

In general, the effect of lightning is either instant death or quick recovery. That's why Mueller's condition is a mystery to university medical experts.

Police Blotter

Eugene G. Avery, 21, of Defiance, Ohio, was arrested Friday and booked at the county Jail by Tecumseh police on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

He pleaded guilty before Justice Maurice Spears and was fined $100 and $4.90 costs or 20 days.

The arrest was made in Tecumseh.

At the same time, Kenneth E. Cunningham, 25, of Ottawa, Ohio was arrested for being drunk and disorderly. Cunningham also appeared before Justice Spears and was fined $25, costs of $4.30.

He paid and was released.

Summonses were issued last week to Christine Coffey of Green Hwy., and Gery Service of rural Clinton for speeding. Robert Schneider of Rt. 3, Adrian was given a summons for reckless driving and Donald Moore of Ridgeway was ticketed for excessive speed.

J. B. Bozeman, 33, of Tecumseh, was issued a summons charging improper overtaking on the right after his car was struck in the side by another driven by Richard A. DeJonghe, 17, of Britton.

The accident occurred on M-50 at Ridge Hwy.

Methodist NOTES

Mr. Nixon will preach on the theme, "What's The Difference" at the 10 a.m. service this Sunday. A nursery is provided during worship. Church School is at 11:15.

The Senior MYF will have a hiking party leaving the church at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. Nixon said his sermon will examine and explain the differences between Protestant and Roman Catholic beliefs.

"In a community like this, it is important for us to be informed, and to understand the religious faith of our neighbors," he said.

"One good way of growing in understanding of our own faith is to compare it with another; and an excellent way of combating many misjudgements about other churches is to understand them more fully."

Mr. and Mrs. Allen K. Belknap entertained the Congregational Christian Youth Fellowship Sunday evening.

Vacation Bible School Closes

About 82 attended the worship service Sunday morning at the Tecumseh Church of the Nazarene when the closing program for the Vacation Bible School was presented.

An abbreviated Sunday School service was held preceding the program.

Boys and girls marched into the sanctuary in their classes. They joined in singing their VBS theme song following a sermonette given by the pastor, the Rev. Dale Harvey.

Each class presented a song and memorization work. Then certificates were handed out by Mrs. Arthur Holdridge, school superintendent.

At the close of the service Mrs. Holdridge was given a gift by the teaching staff of the school.

It all is done by superimposing one camera scene into another camera scene. While the action is taken with one camera of the real actors, the second camera with its tiny scenic shot is imposing the back-ground into the picture that you see on your TV screen. There is no limit to the possibilities of these pictures, say engineers.

TV shooting has come a long way since its beginning. And so has the science of TV maintenance. Our latest acquirement of electronic instruments at COOK ELECTRIC for servicing makes those of a few years ago look like crude tools in comparison. HERE AND THERE

BY DON BAUERLE

Although I wasn't too sure of his answer, I told Tom the other day, "I'm going to become a columnist."

"Okay, kid, okay," he replied. Then, spinning around in his chair, he asked, "What are you going to call your column?"

I was embarrassed since every columnist usually has a name for his column. Because I didn't Tom, who is a generous fellow, offered a few suggestions.

One was "Summer Romance." Tom thought this was okay because I'll be here for the summer. I, however, think I may have one complaintant: my girlfriend in Detroit.

Meanwhile, while Tom was trying to confuse me and tax my mind with his corny names, I came up with "Here and There." Laughingly, Tom approved it.

But I hope he doesn't laugh too much. He and I are now rivals. And my arms get tired, playing second-fiddle.

IN LAST Thursday's Free Press, there was an article that told why "skinnies" stay skinny even though they have enormous appetites.

Answer: a regulator in your brain turns your appetite on and off. That's why some people are fat and other skinny.

"Everybody gets the same message but it is interpreted differently," the article said. "And some get it more frequently."

My comment: I wish I could repair the regulator in my brain and fill out my lean frame. If I can't, at least I have got an excuse for my knobby knees.

EVERY TIME Mrs. Clarke Goodacre stopped her car last week, she heard a strange noise. A friend told her that faulty power brakes usually grab, pull and make noises. Worried, she drove to Wilson Motor Sales, where her son, Chuck, is service manager. His diagnosis: a packet of cauliflower seeds made a hissing sound as it bounced around the glovebox.

"We don't play formula radio or the top 40, 50 or 100 tunes," Dan said.

"We try to please the listening public with listenable music.

"Ninety per cent of our music is taken from LP albums by semi-classical, swing, big band or vocal artists who have been accepted by the public over the year."

WABJ offers music, sports events and news from 6 a.m. to midnight. Dan does his local show from 10:30-11:30 a.m.

Last week, WABJ moved from the rear of the bank building to a new studio next to the Strand. Transmitting facilities are in Adrian.

FROM THE odds-and ends department:

My girlfriend, Betty, wrote, in her letter last Thursday, that her to sit with their baby next month girlfriend and husband want us when they go to a wedding. But Betty remarks in her letter: "I asked her what baby and she pointed to her tummy."

'Lil'i Abner and Daisy Mae' Are Married at Country Club

Mrs. A. J. Geisenhaver presented an entertaining mock wedding of "Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae", characters from the "funnies" for over 75 guests who attended the Ladies luncheon and bridge at the Country Club June 17.

Mrs. Ford Mudgett, the bride, was wearing the off-shoulder blouse and tight-fitting skirt with uneven, ragged hemline so typical of the comic strip character.

Mrs. Al Merz, the bridegroom, wore patched tight-fitting jeans with bright seat.

Mrs. Earl Woods played the minister's part in swallow-tail coat performing the no-ring ceremony in her bare feet.

Mrs. Robert Murray as "Mame McGoon.

Mrs. Richard Eggleston as "Stupefying Jones."

Mrs. Harold Easton as "Hairless Joe."

Mrs. William Macbeth as "Earth quake McGoon."

Mrs. Ned Rosacrans as "Available Jones".

Mrs. Royal Welch as "Azalia Phogbound."

Mrs. Marvin Rumpf as "Romeo Scragg".

Mrs. Curtis B. Brown as "Appassionate VonClimax".

Mrs. Frank Rheinhardt, Mrs. Frank Stanton, Mrs. Charles Mensing and Mrs. Ed Christison played the guests, "Scraggs, McGoons, Yokums and Fleagles."

Two door prizes were awarded to Mrs. Paul Ames and Mrs. A. L. Van Winkle.

Mrs. Charles Benedict cut and served the cake. Mrs. Glen Gripton, sister of Mrs. Benedict, and Mrs. Charles Patterson poured.

The guest book was in charge of Kay Lynn Benedict.

Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. John Beal and Mrs. Ronald Frayer. Others assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoagland, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ash.

Out of town guests were from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti Allegan, Mason, Mayville and Birmingham.

Her fingertip veil scattered with pearls and sequins fell from a Queen Anne cap and she wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

MISS CROSBY READIES HER CHARGES FOR LESSON

Swimming . . . Tecumseh Kids Really Love It

When it comes to love of swimming, Tecumseh youngsters rate right up there. Not only can our littie seven, eight and nine-year olds splash around, they can really dive, do the dog paddle, maneuver under water—and they show absolutely no fear. This, to a great degree is a direct result of having a first-class pool in the community and likewise a first-class summer recreation instruction program. The Herald camera, with Don Bauerle clicking the shutter, visited the city pool last week for a series of shots. It's easy to see the young pupils in this class conducted by Rita Crosby are having a whale of a time. The pool is open to the public each day, from 2 until 5 and 6:15 until 9 p.m. Admission is 15c for children and 30c for adults. J. J. Walper serves as pool director this year.

Swim Class for Gals

A synchronized swimming class for girls 12 and older, who can pass the basic swimming tests, will be offered at the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool beginning July 6.

The class will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 5-6 p.m.

Lessons will run for five weeks and will cost $3. Those interested may sign up at the pool during regular swimming hours.

CHAMBER of COMMERCE

By DON MURPHY
Executive Secretary

The medieval fairs of the twelfth century and the merchants guilds which developed during feudal times were the first organizations designed to protect and foster the trade interests of their members.

In 1599, the town council of Marseilles, France, formed the first organization to be known by the name "chamber of commerce."

Other French cities set up similar organizations, and their success in dealing with the problems of trade and commerce prompted Louis XIV, in 1700, to order that every French trading center establish a chamber of commerce.

Fearing the power these organizations were acquiring, Louis XVI had all chambers and trade guilds suppressed in 1789. A few years later, Napoleon approved their reestablishment in his efforts to stimulate trade and industrial growth.

Meanwhile, cities in England and Ireland had also established chambers of commerce. In 1768, a chamber was organized on the island of Jersey in the English Channel; in Dublin in 1783; in Leeds in 1785; in Manchester in 1794; and in Belfast in 1796.

In New York City, a group of colonial merchants who had found collective action effective in securing a repeal of the Stamp Act of 1765 decided to form a permanent trade organization.

Such an organization would be of value, they said, because "merchantile societies have been found very useful in trading centers for promoting and encouraging commerce, supporting industry, adusting disputes relative to trade and navigation and procuring such laws and regulations as may be found necessary for the benefit of trade in general."

Through their efforts the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York was organized in New York City in 1768. Five years later, the Charleston, South Carolina, Chamber was formed.

By 1801, chambers had been organized in New Haven, Connecticut and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and, by 1870, there were chambers in 40 major American cities.

The early American chambers of commerce, like those in Europe, were business organizations concerned exclusively with trade and commerce. During the latter part of the nineteenth century, the number of chambers increased rapidly, and the activities of both new and established organizations began to reflect changing economic trends.

With the spread of population to the West, the growth of towns and cities, and the rapid expansion of trade and industry, chambers became more aggressive promotional organizations.

While their activities were concerned principally with industrial and trade expansion, problems of general community development were also included in work programs. By-law objectives were broadened to include the advancement of civic welfare as a basic chamber function.

The Cleveland, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce, organized in 1848, is generally recognized as one of the first modern chambers in the sense that it was both a commercial and civic organization. In addition to its industrial and commercial activities, this organization took an early interest in housing, playgrounds, and city government.

☆

A CHAMBER of commerce designs its program of work to fit community needs. Each community deficiency shapes a community need, and in an analysis of need lies the beginning of its fulfillment.

Many voices and facts offer strength and balance to an anayl-sis. That is why chambers of commerce turn to their membership and, often, to their community for ideas.

The program of work of a chamber of commerce is practical. Projects are kept within limits imposed by manpower and financial resources. Activities are undertaken only after sound and thorough analysis of their value and importance.

In a city of 50,000 population, for example, the committees of the local chamber might include: agriculture, advertising and publicity, aviation, budget and finance, civic affairs, congressional action education, established industries, fire prevention, health, housing, industrial development, membership, recreation, retail activities taxation and transportation.

There are cities however, that need and use more than just these. The old adage, "people in my town are different" is just a saying, because where we have freedom loving American people we have the same problems and they are no different in one town than they are in another.

Adrian YMCA Will Open Day Camp on June 29

Tecumseh will be well represented by 20 youngsters attending the Adrian Y. M .C. A. Day Camp on Grand Lake from June 29 to July 10.

D. Duncan Patterson is camp director.

Featured at the camp will be swimming, boating, fishing, handicrafts, cookouts, riflery, archery and nature lore.

Youngsters take a sack lunch

The bus will be at Tecumseh Acres School at 9:25 a.m. and returned at 4:35 p.m.

The Ford Garage stop will be at 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. and the 'Y' provides milk.

IMPROVED LIBRARY SERVICES TO BE OFFERED IN TECUMSEH SECONDARY SCHOOLS

(Fifth of a Series)

There is strong support for a central library from school librarians because it can be more efficiently administered and can provide the types of services that are available under the other forms of library organization.

The central library can become the center of school life and can be the most potent agency for promoting the continuation of education after school days are over.

The new library will be a work room for students, a training school in proper methods of using library aids and a room for voluntary reading. Here, the student will have an opportunity to browse among good books and magazines of all kinds.

The modern school library is conceived as a genuine service unit because it supplies materials for developing and expanding interest, and cooperates with other agencies of instruction in helping students learn to use books, to find information and to study.

By its bulletins, exhibits, posters and atmosphere, the library teaches informally. By its introduction to books, it suggests the lifetime use of reading to further any interest.

Attorney Named

A Tecumseh attorney, Robert French, has been named by Judge Rex Martin to defend Frank Corner, charged with the murder of Thomas Winters June 12.

Before entering his plea, Corner asked for an attorney. Winters was stabbed seven times in the shower room of a trailer park in Adrian.

C & B Brings you the greatest advance in silo maintenance

STOP SOFTENING OF WALLS CAUSED BY SILAGE ACID ACTION!

Now your C&B District Representative can serve you with 4-Y-1, the revolutionary Silo Saver that can restore and protect your silo in one application that lasts for years. The liquid plastic penetrates deep into the cement leaving a durable seal of plastic that acts as a bond to replace cement that has deteriorated. Can't affect silage, and once it's applied cement staves or mortar joints are impervious to the acid juices of silage, and the destructive action of "freezing and thawing" weather.

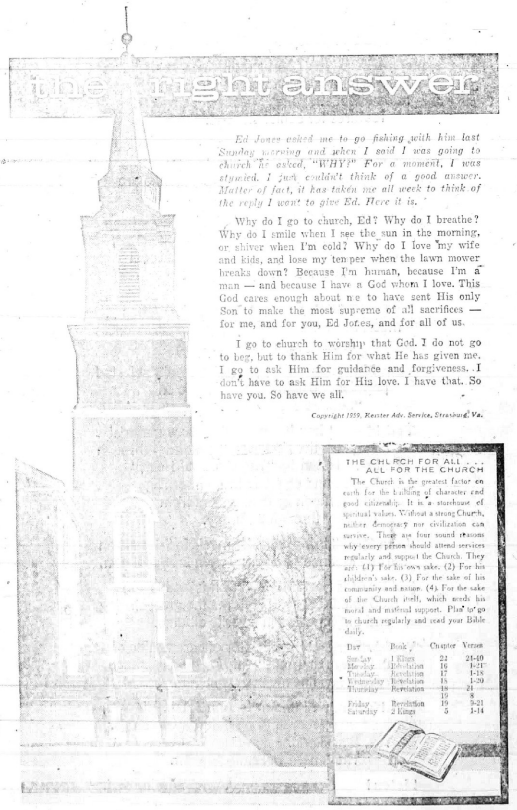
FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH!



Ed Jones asked me to go fishing with him last Sunday morning and when I said I was going to church he asked, "WHY?" For a moment, I was stymied. I just couldn't think of a good answer. Matter of fact, it has taken me all week to think of the reply I want to give Ed. Here it is.

Why do I go to church, Ed? Why do I breathe? Why do I smile when I see the sun in the morning, or shiver when I'm cold? Why do I love my wife and kids, and lose my temper when the lawn mower breaks down? Because I'm human, because I'm a man — and because I have a God whom I love. This God cares enough about me to have sent His only Son to make the most supreme of all sacrifices — for me, and for you, Ed Jones, and for all of us.

I go to church to worship that God. I do not go to beg, but to thank Him for what He has given me. I go to ask Him for guidance and forgiveness. I don't have to ask Him for His love. I have that. So have you. So have we all.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

the travel-lovin' Chevrolet

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with such solid assurance!

It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it.

The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still compete in the low-price field.

We use the word compete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by. There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple.

This one's really made to travel and loves every minute of it.

Stop by your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's and sample Chevy's road sense!

VOICE of THE HERALD

The Value of A Smile

What's in a smile? This short article appearing in the May issue of the Michigan Police Journal allows for reflection on a thing which is many times forgotten.

It cost nothing, yet creates much.

It enriches those who receive, without impoverishing those who give.

It happens in a flash and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.

No one is so rich he can get along without it, and no one is so poor but that he is richer for its benefits.

It creates happiness in the home, fosters good will in business and is the countersign of friends.

It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and Nature's best antidote for trouble.

Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen, for it is no earthly good to anybody until it is given away.

And if in the hurry and rush of the day, you meet someone who is too weary to give you a smile — leave one of yours.

TRAIL OF TEARS

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE
Clarence Budington Kelland

This is a tale of detection in the swiftest Kelland style. Adroitly plotted, loaded with suspense, and with the colorful, unusual background of New York's fire and police departments, it comes to its unexpected climax with all the pace and surprise that Kelland readers expect.

SOLOMON AND SHEBA
Jay Williams

An absorbing story of a great king and queen who loved each other, and the political conflicts that beset them. It is also a masterly recreation of a distant day and time, based on one of the most provocative of Bibical stories.

Juan Obregon was born with the good Irish name of John O'Brien. He nearly died with it at the age of seventeen, standing watch outside a cattle camp deep inside Spanish territory. But on a fateful morning in 1801 when the Spaniards attacked, he was saved by a mysterious older man. With the adventuresome spirit of youth, he followed this friend west into unknown country where he finally learned wisdom.

Sound Advice

Never use drugs left over from a serious illness for self-treatment of a similar ailment. You see, modern drugs are highly potent—that's why we dispense them only when your physician prescribes. If you dose yourself with leftovers, you may do serious damage. It's a good idea to pour the remains of old prescriptions down the drain and destroy the bottles.

Pfc. Jim Wilson Participates in Maneuver

GERMANY — Army Pfc James G. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne W. Wilson, 705 Outer Dr., recently participated in a two-week training maneuver conducted by the 3d Armored Division in Wildflecken, Germany.

This large-scale maneuver was conducted under simulated combat readiness of the division's air, armor, infantry and artillery units.

Wilson, a rifleman in Company D of the division's 4th Infantry, entered the Army in February 1958 and arrived in Europe the following August. He received his basic training at Fort Hood, Tex.

A member of Delta Tau fraternity, the 24-year-old soldier is a 1953 graduate of Tecumseh high school and a 1958 graduate of Albion College. His wife, Grace, is with him in Germany.

Dairy Month

June is Dairy Month. During this 30-day period production of milk, cheese, and butter reaches its peak.

Throughout the state, there are many 4-H dairy projects.

Some of the boys and girls are raising their own dairy animals under the guidance of Extension Service specialists and county agents. They are learning about production, sanitation, marketing and showmanship.

The state capitol (above) is the focal point of the tax controversy. It is here that the Republicans and Democrats agrue their viewpoints. One of the key figures (below) in the debate over the use of a sales tax or a state income tax is Rollo Conlin (R-Tipton) who is chairman of the House finance committee. Conlin favors a state income tax. TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTOS

"FARMER JOE" — driving his tractor. Kindergarten children attending classes taught by Mrs. Bertram Updike love to visit Joe O'Pravil's farm located on Hewlett Rd. Each year the class goes for a ride on the wagon behind the tractor and takes a big long, look way to the top of the inside of the empty silo. Farmer Joe is most understanding besides having such interesting things to see, such as the peacocks with their beautiful plumage and "Silver", the pony. The 75 children from this years classes just petted the pony because he was lame the day they toured the O'Pravil farm.

MARDA GENE DUNCAN'S

AN EARLY MORNING SERENADE ? ? ?

I used the question marks after serenade because — well, I'm just not sure! The word usually brings to mind a tender musical interlude, very sweet and very sentimental. At most times the voices of the neighborhood birds blend in such a pleasing way that they can be called a serenade; early early in the morning however, I am not quite sure that the word is appropriate.

If there is anything I dislike more than going to bed at night, it is getting up in the morning! "Oh, How I Hate To Get Up In The Morning" is of course, a famous World War I song written by Irving Berlin but the title is also a most apt description of my feelings.

Waking up is so hard, but since, like everyone else, I have to do it each day, I prefer the leisurely method.

Taking it slow and easy, waking a little and then dozing again —ideally, this is the routine to follow. The interludes between dozes become longer each time and eventually, a state of complete consciousness is attained.

The ability to go, in an instant, from deep sleep into wide awakeness is completely out of my realm of understanding.

This is the time of year however, when the birds try to convert me to their early rising habits. Try as they may, I remain unconvinced and intend to do so for many many years.

WITH THE days gloriously long and warm weather demanding that windows be opened wide, we are constantly amazed at the noise our 'feathered friends' can make. Anytime, except in the wee small hours, we thoroughly enjoy their songs.

All day long the air is filled with their music and, after the first early morning shot, we enjoy their efforts and do all in our power to encourage the singing. Just one question do I ask—why do they have to start tuning up so early?

Actually, this early morning bird performance is usually given in two parts. Fortunately I don't always take in the first one but the second, however, finds me a regular listener, even though oftentimes an unwilling one.

If by some unfortunate happenstance, early morning finds me half awake, I must confess that the going's on are somewhat fun to hear.

(That is, in the afternoon thinking back on the early morning performance, it seems amusing but at the time my thoughts are somewhat less enthusiastic!)

Just before the sun begins to think about getting up, at least to my uncooperative eyes the world outside looks dark and night-like, the first few bird sounds are heard. A sleepy chirp, a moment of silence, another soft cheep, silence, then a little louder chirping—and so it goes. It is truly amazing how sleepy those first few sounds seem.

☆

IN FACT, so reluctant are they that I always have hopes of the bird saying, "To heck with it!" and tucking his head under his wing not to wake up until a reasonable hour. It never happens though!

Just as the birds are beginning to convince themselves of the folly in early morning rising, 'happy Old Sol' puts in his two cents worth. As the first rays of the early rising sun start dispelling the dark of night, pandemonium breaks loose.

From all over the neighborhood, birds, whom I like to think were just beginning to settle down for another fast forty winks, come alive. Wide-awake, alive and how vocal they are about it!

The sun himself, of course, is no slouch in the getting up department and, although I remember all things that go on at this time of day through an unalert sleep fogged memory, it seems to me that when once he starts his early morning climb into the eastern heavens, daylight comes fast.

Now starts, the second performance, the one which we can seldom avoid. Just because it is expected of them, just because romantically inclined poets have written lyrically about the birds 'raising their sweet voices to greet the newborn day', the unimaginative feathered characters, who inhabit our neighborhood, refuse to show any initiative.

They must go along with the crowd and holler their lungs out! Oh, the chirping, cheeping, thrilling, whistling, squawking, warbling, wheezing, wailing, shouting, clamoring, shreaking, screeching, chattering, prattling and gabbling that goes on!

A serenade? Well, by midmorning the birds singing is beautiful and lovely and pleasant to hear; but in the wee small hours I still have doubts about it's musical quality.

Two 'Petticoat Politicians' Are from Tecumseh

Two girls from Tecumseh were among the "petticoat politicans" elected to the 19th legislature, governing Wolverine Girls' State at the University of Michigan.

Thely are Karen Hall, 46 N. Union, house of representatives, and Mary Colegrove, 716 W. Pottawatamie, senate.

In a letter received by her parents, Karen told of the inauguration ceremonies for the state officers of the mock government.

She also said that she spoke to and shook hands with Governor G. Mennen Williams who was present and sang in the choir for the occasion.

Sponsored by the University of Michigan and the Michigan American Legion Auxiliary, Girls' State will close Thursday.

Tecumseh Trailer Going on TV

No kidding about it, here was a whopper of a house trailer. In fact, the mobile home which arrived in Tecumseh last week is the second largest in the world. Manufactured in New Paris, Indiana, by the Smoker Lumber Co. for Don Maves of Paul's Trailer Court here, the long-boy measures 12 x 60 feet. It was almost exactly the same size as the New York Central railroad flatcar on which it was delivered. Featuring two bedrooms, the trailer has a full-size bath, kitchen with built-in freezer, refrigerator and range. Floors are made of hardwood and an automatic washer and dryer are included. There's even a fireplace. After arrival here, the trailer had to be jacked up, the flat car rolled from beneath it and then the mobil home lowered to the ground. This task took a full day. A motion picture crew from the University of Michigan was on hand for the unloading, shooting footage for a television show on trailer living. It's expected to be shown July 26 over WXYZ-TV at 9:15 p.m. Oh, yes, the world's largest mobil home? It's two feet longer than the Tecumseh model and is located in Maine.

THE Long & Short OF IT

By TOM RIORDAN

Making up the clan is a rather portly mother and two youngsters. Oh, yes, they are racoons.

About three weeks ago, Harold spotted the mother, flitting about his huge maple tree.

The offspring first came into view Friday after that brisk shower. Harold happened to look into the tree, about 40 feet above the ground and spied the kids.

Nothing appears to bother the new mothers, as she flits about the maple and down on the ground around it.

☆

About 25 youngsters from Tecumseh are attending the YMCA day camp, which opened this week at Grand Lake in Jackson county.

Serving on the staff are two Tecumseh young ladies, Linda Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Baldwin, and Jane Dillon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dillon.

Two busses pick up the youths each morning and return them late in the afternoon. It's about a 30-minute jaunt to Grand Lake.

Maybe we can arrange to go along some day and take the 35m camera and snap enough shots for a picture-page. Probably, I'd view a shady spot under a tree and end up sitting down for a moment and remaining motionless the rest of the day.

☆

It's being staged by Brenda Porter and two of her friends from the University of Michigan, who hail from Holland and have a flare for making lamps.

No charge for the exhibition.

☆

The board was on display downtown during the Moonlight Sale—and there was Coach Leckta.

Sunday morning, the board stood in its crate just outside the hanger where Exchangemen served breakfast at their Dawn Patrol. A few feet away was Dunc.

Someone got to talking about what was actually on it when a wag strolled up to the grid coach and explained:

"There wasn't room enough to print 'Tecumseh and Visitors' so instead it has 'Us and Them'."

Tax Increase Is Explained

By ALLAN SEAGER
Of The Library Board

As you know, the School Board is asking voters to approve a .32 mills increase in taxes at the July 13 election to maintain the Public Library. Several people have asked us how this works. We will try to explain.

According to state law, a tax can be levied to pay county, township and school expenses. This tax cannot exceed 15 mills on the dollar on property without a vote of the people.

The value of property has recently been determined by what is called the state equalized valuation: 15 mills on the dollar means $15 on the $1000. Thus, if you own property estimated at $5000 you pay 5 x $15 or $75.

This tax money is parcelled out by the county tax allocation board. They usually consider county, township and school needs in that order.

County needs are: health, welfare, salaries of county officers, maintenance of the sheriff's dept. etc. Township needs are usually roads and drains. School needs are obvious.

In 1958-59, tax money was allocated like this:

5 mills — County.
.65 mills — Township.
9.35 mills — Schools.

This year, 1959-60, the money was allocated like this:

5½ mills — County (because of increased Welfare costs).
½ mill — Townships.
9 mills — Schools.

A glance will show that the schools are getting .35 mills less this year than last. The tax increase of .32 mills is an attempt to make up this difference.

However, in spite of this increase, your general tax bill will probably be less than last year because property values in the Tecumseh school district have increased about $675,000 this year.

3 Are Injured As Dump Truck, Car Collide

Mrs. Don Nettleman and daughter, Dorothy Jean, of 408 N. Union st., and Mary E. Hollar of 307 Chippewa, were involved in an auto accident Tuesday at 10:50 a.m. at Summerfield and Morocco Road in Monroe County.

Mrs. Nettleman was driving the car when it collided with a dump truck driven by Don Hubbell, of Sylvania, O.

Mr. Hubbell was issued a summons for failure to yield the right of way at an unsigned intersection.

Mrs. Nettleman was treated at Herrick Memorial Hospital for bruises and abrasions of both legs and released the same day.

Dorothy Jean suffered neck strain and bruised knees. Her condition is improving.

Mrs. Hollar was treated for lacerations of the head and left leg. She received back and abdominal injuries, a possible ruptured spleen and is suffering from shock.

Cub Scouts, Dads to Go Camping

Neri Collingsworth, cubmaster of Pack 73, announced that reservations for the Father-Son campout July 17-19 must be made with Kennard Wise before July 6.

The outing will be held at the Conservation Club. Fathers will cook over the stoves furnished by Protane Gas Service Co.

The group will leave Tecumseh after supper Friday evening and return in time to attend church services Sunday morning.

Sharron Muhn, Chorale Member, Touring Europe

Only a few tearful farewells dampened the beautiful clear evening last Wednesday when 100 members of the Michigan Chorale — including our own Sharron Muhn — boarded the specially chartered plane at Metropolitan Airport.

The week before, eleven of Sharron's classmates gave her a bon voyage party Thursday nite. Sondra Hathaway and Ann Marie Haughn were the co-hostesses. The Haughn house was gaily decorated in red, white and blue.

The plane landed in Belfast, Ireland at 1:23 p.m. Thursday. The group is sponsored by the Michigan Teen-Age Exchange of the Michigan Council of Churches.

While visiting families of seven different countries over the eight-week program the youth will undoubtedly make their mark and receive new understanding from the experience.

Aid for Cancer Victim

By DON BAUERLE

Cancer has planted its destructive seed in the body of a young Tipton girl and she may never walk again.

There is only hope for the future of Susan Buell, 7, who is paralyzed below the waist. She only occasionally feels an itching sensation in her right foot. But she can't scratch it.

Susan lies in a special rack, ordinarly used for burn patients, in the University Medical Center in Ann Arbor. The rack, which resembles an ironing board, fits the contour of her body.

She has the use of her arms, neck and head but every few hours a nurse changes her position so that she is either lying on her stomach or back.

Three weeks ago, Susan was as healthy as her playmates. She did the things kids usually do. She hung by her feet on a trapeze. She rode her bike. She ran about the house. She jumped rope.

☆

"SHE WAS more studious than the others," said her father, Raymond Buell. "She was in the top of her class. She especially liked to read and she wrote poems and drew pictures."

Then she began to have leg pains as school closed for the summer. "They were mostly at night," said Mr. Buell. "At first they were diagnosed as growing pains or a vitamin deficiency.

"She slowed down. She didn't run or jump as much as before. But she didn't go to bed until school was out."

Susan was taken to Bixby Hospital in Adrian for observation and tests. An X-ray showed a spot on the second vertabrae from the base of the spine. Doctors there said it was either a soft cap or a tumor.

Transferred to Ann Arbor, bone specialists, after more tests and X-rays, confirmed that the spot was a tumor. They decided to operate last Friday. The operation, however, was performed at 12:30 a.m. Thursday morning. Susan was in the operating room for three-and-a-half hours.

☆

"THEY TOOK a sample from her back during the operation which was malignant," said Mr. Buell. "The tumor was only partially removed because it was growing in the hollow of the vertabrae.

"They don't know if they got all of it. That's why they are going to do another operation this week.

Susan is conserving her strength for the second operation. She has been on a liquid diet since the first operation. She can't digest any solids.

After she has recuperated from the operation there will be more X-ray treatments for 10 or 15 days. Then there may be another operation or convalescence in a nearby hospital.

☆

"THE DOCTORS don't promise us anything. They don't know whether or not she will walk again," explained Mr. Buell.

"The doctors don't have much hope, even though they have cured Susan's type of cancer. They can't cut out the rest of the tumor because of its location. They can only try to kill its growth by X-ray treatments."

Meanwhile, neighbors have started a fund to pay for Susan's medical expenses. Her hospital bill in Adrian was $125. The first week in University Hospital cost $500. The total bill for a 30-day period has been estimated at $2,500.

Mrs. Latham Dewey said contributions may be sent to the Susan Buell Fund, Tipton Post Office.

MR. BUELL, a foreman at the Hubbard Apiaries in Springville, which is six miles west of Tipton on M-50, owns his own farm on Tipton Highway. He and his wife, Geraldine, have four other children—Elfie, 6, Karen, 5, Greg, 3, and Rebecca, 6 months.

"I couldn't meet the hospital bills without selling some machinery. I suppose I could borrow the money but it would take a long time to repay it.

"The farm just pays for itself."

"I raise a few sheep and I use most of the crops to feed them. A cow supplies milk for the family.

"The hospital in Ann Arbor has been fair. I was supposed to pay $100 when Susan went there. I told them I didn't have it. I only gave them $25.

☆

SUSAN KNOWS she will be in the hospital for a few weeks. Mr. Buell said. Her mother stays with her every day from noon until midnight.

"The doctors told her she would be there for five days on June 21. She even counted the days. On the fifth day, she was operated on," Mr. Buell said.

He said Susan's relatives, teachers and friends have sent her letters, cards, books, games and flowers. When Susan is lying on her stomach, she answers the letters.

Two Scouts Attending Round-Up

Ann Cameron and Grace Dennis and two Senior Girl Scouts from Clinton and four from Jackson made up the "Towers Patrol" aboard the special Girl Scout train that left Chicago July 1.

The girls are going to Colorado Springs for the 2nd International Girl Scout Round-Up.

To qualify for the trip the girls spent 197 hours together with a group of alternates and Mrs. John Cameron and Mrs. Doris Stein from Jackson.

At least one weekend per month since last September was spent practicing camping skills in all kinds of weather.

Mrs. Cameron, who spent an extra 30 to 40 hours planning the training program, was appointed contact person by Region 7 Headquarters in Chicago.

All troops in Tecumseh and the Girl Scout Association presented good will donations to the girl for the trip.

"Living a Mile High and a World Wide" is the theme the 8,500 girls and 1,500 leaders will work with this year.

The plan is to have the round-ups each three years. The first one was held at Holly, Michigan, in 1956.

"Swap a token with a tale well spoken" is the deal on swap items, and Ann and Grace contacted many of the industries in the area including the Tecumseh Products, where they have learned the history of the compressor, and Revco, The Quaker Oats Co. and many others.

Items picturing the Irish Towers from where they took the name for their patrol were packed among the gear sent early to the camp.

It will be a wonderful way to learn first hand about other girls of their own age in every part of the world.

It is hoped by Tecumseh scout leaders that more will take advantage of the opportunity to attend the next round-up in 1962.

Cowboys May Tame Yoyo, a Bull, at Rodeo

Yoyo, a Brahama Bull, is still a "wild critter." A seven-year rodeo veteran, he hasn't been broken—yet.

But Yoyo may be tamed at 2 p.m. Stturday at the third annual rodeo at the B Bar J Ranch, 10585 Billmyer Road.

As each cowboy mounts Yoyo and both emerge from the chute, there will be a race against time. The cowboy has to hold on for eight seconds. Sutubborn, Yoyo is likely to rebuff all cowboys.

He isn't too affectionate or friendly.

Another feature is a wild horse race. Three-man teams will try to saddle and ride a bucking horse across the finish line. As many as six teams may be in the arena at one time.

Other attractions are saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling and calf roping. In addition, Cindy, "the glamour girl of the Ozarks," and her mule, Jitterbug, will do their comedy routine, and Bozo, the clown and his canine rascals will perform their stunts.

Slim Hill, a veteran cowboy who retired because of injuries suffered in a bad spill, will be the master of ceremonies. The rodeo is produced by Bob and Jane Spence. Admission is $1.

A LIFE-SAVER — John Saling demonstrates the fire department's pneolator. He used it to save a boy's life Sunday afternoon.

Young Boy Near Death Is Revived

Unconscious and motionless, a three-year-old-boy, Donald Wells, had his life restored last Sunday afternoon by John Saling, a Tecumseh volunteer fireman and Lenawee county civil defense director.

Donald was found face down in three inches of water in a small wading pool. He apparently fainted, his mother, Mrs. Donald Wells Sr., of M-52, said.

Using the fire department's pneolator, Mr. Saling was filling the boy's lungs with oxygen when the rescue device began to chatter. Wasting no time, Mr. Saling tilted the boy's head forward and cleared a throat obstruction.

"Time is meaningless in a situation like this," Mr. Saling said. "I don't remember how long it was until the boy started breathing again.

"When I got there, the boy was cold and there was no sign of life."

Mr. Saling was assisted by Sgt. Gene Skinner of the police department. Sgt. Skinner cleared the road for the rescue truck.

Once the Wells boy was revived, the Collins-Corkery ambulance rushed him to Herrick Memorial Hospital. He was released from the hospital Tuesday afternoon.

Clinton Man Is Injured in Accident

Harold Owen Brown, of 107 Locust St., Clinton, was injured in an auto accident at 5:20 a.m. Saturday on the Clinton-Manchester Road, ½ mile south of Fisk Road.

He was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital and transferred to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. He is suffering from fractured ribs, a fractured left knee and multiple bruises.

Directories Ready

The City directories are being delivered this week. Those who did not order a directory may call Jess Sluyter at 152.

The Robinson directory personel complimented the solicitors on the accuracy of information and said it was the best one they have published.

Indians Dancing at Pit

The performance of the group marked the result of more than two years of effort of Donald E. Stevens (Red Arrow) of 6135 Hiser Rd., Dundee.

It was Stevens' dream to organize an all-Indian dance group.

☆

THERE ARE 13 members who will be with the Minnie-Wankaleya Dancers at all times but on special occasions there can be up to 200.

All members of the organization are Indians.

A Sioux Indian, he is the grandson of Sitting Bull, famous Indian Chief, well known in this area for his part in the battle that took the life of General George Armstrong Custer June 25, 1876, in the Battle of the Little Big Horn in Montana.

Frank White Buffalo Man was born April 18, 1903, on a Cheyenne River Indian Reservation. He attended an Indian School in Oregon and played football while in school.

Citizens Will Vote on Board Members

In addition, there will be a proposition on the ballot asking for a millage increase — 2 mills for 2 years.

Reason for the additional tax: the school district has boosted teachers starting salaries and has more transportation and school maintenance expenses.

POLICE BLOTTER

Four arrests were made by Tecumseh' City Police this past week. Alfred Dolson, 38, and Ellis Sparks, both of Tecumseh, were booked in the county jail for being drunk and disorderly.

√

Keith C. Hopkins of Tecumseh also appeared before Justice Maurice Spears and pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk and disorderly and paid $20 fine and $4.30 costs.

He was arrested by city police Friday.

√

Tecumseh city police arrested Proctor E. Pace Thursday. He pleaded guilty before Justice Maurice Spear to being drunk and disorderly and was ordered to pay $25 and $4.20 costs or spend five days in the county jail. The five days were suspended.

How to swallow a bitter pill
First, find a bitter pill. There are so few nowadays. It all started because children, bless 'em, are so good at resisting bad-tasting medicine. You can medicate their chins or hair, but getting the stuff in them is beyond the ken of science. Kids can spit a country mile. So pharmacists began sugar-coating pills, putting medication in capsules, or mixing with sweet syrup. And we soon found that adults, too, like medicine the easy way. So now, most of our prescriptions are quite pleasant to take. If you should run into one of the few bitter ones, believe us, there are good medical reasons for it.

Teacher Writes Report on Special Education

EDITOR'S NOTE—The writer of this series, which will appear in two articles, is a pre-junior teacher in the Adrian school system.

By RUTH SHERWOOD

What is special education?

Residents of Lenawee county will vote on special education when they go to the polls on July 13. But before people make up their minds to accept or reject this proposal, they need to know what it means, how many students will be affected and what it will cost the taxpayers.

The county has 22,326 children in school, and 12% of this number—2,587—need more help than they get in a regular classroom These include 377 or more of the exceptionally bright whose IQ's range from 125 through 170—children with such high intelligence that they are capable of working several grades beyond their class level on problems far above average comprehension.

Most of these students waste a great deal of time in the average school. The bright need problems based on depth that lead to growth of reasoning and interpretation. Over half of the top twenty-five per cent never finish college.

Russia, a threat to world peace and a serious competitor in the race for space knowledge, has special education not only for the gifted but for the handicapped as well—she knows the need for thinkers as well as workers.

RUSSIA'S promotion of special education is a remarkable advancement (even though individual independence and creativity are crushed at the same time) when one considers that Russia was an extremely backward nation until 1917.

The county has 402 mentally handicapped children and most of them cannot keep up with regular assignments. Yet each can learn enough to make a living and become useful in the community if there is a special program.

Giving all children equal opportunity for education doesn't mean giving the same work to both slow and gifted students. Different methods and materials must be used as the gifted learn quickly with little repetition while the retarded learn slowly, forget easily, and need constant repetition in order to build memory and meaning.

Assignments must be brief and varied since attention span is so short.

Some cannot read from books at all but still need to learn of the world around them and be trained to do useful work. Most classroom teachers are unable to build a program for the slow, challenge the average, and enrich work for the gifted in the time-limited school day.

If these children are not educated to support themselves and become reliable persons someone will have to support them, and that will ultimately be the taxpayer.

THERE ARE 420 students who are emotionally disturbed in Lenawee schools. The needs of the emotionally disturbed child are so intensified that he is twisted and hurt because of environmental experiences and cannot accept the world as the normal do.

Unless his needs are met — first to be accepted as other children, then treated and educated for his handicap—he may go the wrong way and become a detriment to society.

Unable to hear well in the classroom, 318 county children have to face persons speaking to read lips. Not all these students are retarded educationally but most of them are several grades behind their grade placement.

These children must be trained to live in a hearing world.

A regular teacher cannot provide the special methods and techniques they need.

Every community had crippled children. Lenawee has at least 125 who need special equipment and supplies in school. These children do not need our pity—they need special education.

There are at least 62 children in the county who only have partial vision. They must learn to conserve their vision by listening more than they read.

They need far more time than normal to cover reading assignments, and should use large printed materials. Some need special tutoring.

OTHER DEFICIENT students: 420 have speech handicaps and 323 have special health problems which limit school activities. All these children must have programs to fit their limitations.

Sometimes adults do not understand that the handicapped have to be accepted with as little emphasis as possible on their handicaps. It is much better to deal constructively with these children than to ignore them.

It costs less than one cent a day for the average home owner to provide education for the bright as well as the handicapped child. Schools cannot sell this idea or can they pressure people who can think for themselves.

Schools only present students needs and let an informed community decide if the issue is worth the added expense of abou three dollars a year.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Yep, A Busy Week

Things were certainly popping around Tecumseh the past few days—proving once again it's fun to live in a small community.

There was the Jaycee's annual carnival through the week, closing on Saturday. This year, the event was at Meyers airport. It seems a good place for such an event, with plenty of parking. Of course, the neighbors might not quite agree.

The merchants joined the fun with their Moonlight Sale Friday evening. (See next editorial for additional comment on this.)

Kroger brought a junior-size circus to its parking lot Saturday and the kids loved it. There were displays of various wild animals, including a giant snake and a trailer-load of monkeys. But the two elephants stole the show.

One, which stood about six or seven feet high, was the star. In an act she obeyed her trainer in every demand, even to sitting up like a dog.

At one point, the trainer had her lie down and jumbo refused to get up. Four boys were brought into the ring from the onlookers and the trainer had two grab her by the tail and two by the trunk and try to lift her up. It was hilarious, but the kids were really serious about their job. Imagine four youths picking up several tons of elephant!

After a few moments, the trainer called the lads into a huddle and gave them a couple of magic words. Together, they shouted at her, "Get up." Without hesitation, she arose—and the crowd came through with a burst of applause.

At dawn Sunday, the big hanger at Meyers Aircraft was a beehive of activity as Exchange Club members went about the task of getting their mobile kitchen into operation. This was the start of their annual Dawn Patrol.

About six hours later, as they cleaned up, the men were well pleased with the 1959 edition.

There had been hundreds of planes from the midwest touching down in Tecumseh, stunts in the air, air-sea rescue techniques with navy helicopters and of course, that husky ham-and-egg breakfast.

About 1,000 were served. The diners consumed close to 200 dozens of eggs, 95 pounds of ham, 27 pounds of coffee, 90 dozen sweet rolls, 50 dozen donuts, three and one-half cases of fruit juice. Yes, they ate well.

They Bought by Moonlight

Upwards of 5,000 jammed downtown Tecumseh Friday evening for the merchants-sponsored Moonlight Sale. Two words describe the event: Rousing Success.

There was a battering rain storm in the late afternoon, but good weather greeted shoppers, who came in spite of threats that the evening might turn bad, too.

Any gamble they made paid off handsomely.

Dan Reed, who chairmaned the event, did an excellent job.

The evening got underway with free donuts and ice cream, covered with strawberries. By 8:30 the 2,000 servings were gone.

Setting up the tables and chairs and then dishing out the refreshments were members of the Teen Club, supervised by several Kiwanians. They're deserving of a real pat on the back for such on efficient operation.

When the goodies were gone, merchants opened their stores and the excitment began. From that point until the midnight closing, almost every store was nearly jammed.

The Herald went "round the horn," checking at each business place. It was the same story everywhere, customers galore — and they were buying.

Storemen happily checked sales for the evening shortly after 12 and in many instances found them way over and above their regular Friday nights. One place racked up $600 in sales, 50% over its regular total. Another was 25% up. One car dealer sold eight autos, another five. And so it went.

Which gets us right down to the base of successful merchandizing: give the public a new wrinkle to attract their attention, then follow through with some real bargains.

T.A.R.

Keep Safety Guard Up

What should you do on the Fourth of July?

Advises the National Safety Council, "Keep your safety guard up and keep accidents down.

The NSC pointed out that on a holiday highways are 25 to 30 per cent more dangerous than on a normal day. Added the NSC: "The fact that it is Independence Day does not mean we can afford to be independent on the highway. Cooperation and courtesy are the keys to traffic safety."

During the three-day Fourth of July weekend in 1958 more than 650 persons died in all kinds of accidents. Traffic deaths produced the highest total: 370!

About 45 million people are expected to be on the highways this Fourth of July weekend. D.D.B.

Captain Garrison Finishes Advanced Training Course

During the 22-week course Captain Garrison was instructed in the duties and responsibilities appropriate to field grade WAC officers.

The captain entered the Women's Army Corps in August 1952. She is a graduate of Clayton High School and a graduate of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Girls Win Bike

Sharyl Ann Gartee, of 209 Shady Lane, and Gladys Lynn Hartley, of 610 N. Union St., won the bicyles at the Jaycees Carnival drawing Saturday night.

About $800 was realized from the event to be used for civic projects.

'Tunnel Of Love' at Clarklake Playhouse

"Tunnel of Love," a three-act comedy of light love in the suburbs, opens Thursday, July 2, at the Clark Lake Playhouse on the north shore of Clark Lake.

Directed by William J. McAnallen, the play is the season's second production at the playhouse, and will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday for two consecutive weeks. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

The play was written by Joseph Fields and Peter de Vries and ran successfully on Broadway with Tom Ewell in the starring male role. It is a story of suburban New York and a five-year childless marriage.

Tickets are available at the box office, Clark Lake Playhouse, any evening between 4 and 8 p.m. Reservations should be telephoned in during those hours and be picked up by 8 p.m. the night of the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farmer of Pentwater were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Farmer.

Big Parade Will Start Homecoming

A parade of local children groups and clubs will kick off the Britton Homecoming July 9, at 5 p.m.

There will be free entertainment that evening that will include a talent show.

Prizes will be awarded and anyone interested should contact Mrs. Rowlands or Mrs. Martin Ivan.

Friday, children will be given rides on the 40 and 8 train and Friday nights free entertainment will include dancing by the Peg Harris dancers.

The Miami Indian Dancers, led by Wade Baldwin, will present interpretative dances Saturday evening.

Dancing is a hobby with this group which includes boys from 9 to 23 years old.

One of the dances presented by the group which is especially colorful is the very difficult Hoop dance in which the dancers appear all tied up in the hoops, but never once falter as they weave in and out and over each hoop, even jumping rope through the hoop first on one foot and then on the other.

Following the Miami Indian Dancers there will be a fireworks display and drawing.

Future Farmers Receive Award

The Tecumseh Chapter of the Future Farmers received a "Silver" award in the Michigan Association Chapter contest for 1958-59.

Fifty-three high school groups were awarded either the high "Gold" rating or a "Silver" rating in this annual program.

Ratings are based on over-all farming activities of chapter members, the operational activities of the chapter and the annual program of activities of the local group.

1,000 Served Breakfast

Held at Meyers airport, the affair attracted small airplanes from all over the midwest.

A new feature this year was a stunt flying exhibition by Paul Loar, of Ann Arbor. He flew a steerman, an open cockpit, two-wing ship.

Loar did snap rolls, loops and barrel rolls.

Naval airmen from the Grosse Ile Air Station sent two helicopters to Tecumseh to stage an air-sea rescue demonstration.

The Meyers hanger was set up as a mess hall. Wally Whiting and his crew prepared the breakfast which included ham and eggs, sweet rolls, juice, coffee and milk.

This year's patrol grossed about $1,100 said Bill Powell, president of the Exchange Club. The net profit of about $600 will be used for one of the club's projects, the electric football scoreboard for the athletic field.

The $1,800 scoreboard arrived about three weeks ago.

Bill Powell, president of Exchange, expressed thanks for all who had made the Dawn Patrol a success.

"This includes merchants who donated prizes, those who loaned equipment and facilities, and others who pitched in to help the Exchange Club."

Treasurer Dave Dick announced that as a result of this project there is now enough on hand to pay for the new electric scoreboard.

"All that remains is paying for the system of control cables connecting the board with the press-box," he stated.

"How nice if some other group would start moving toward providing a new pressbox, lights, or an adequate public address system" someone was heard to muse.

The Dawn Patrol will be scheduled in 1960 for the Sunday before July 4th.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Don't "Check" With Red!

Red Johnson, owner of the local hardware store, likes to keep business simple—"pay as you go," says Red.

Recently, to emphasize the point, Red had a sign painted for the store window. In big red letters, it read: "Please—absolutely no checks accepted—pay in cash only."

When the sign painter had finished the sign, he delivered it to Red and named his price—ten dollars. "Very reasonable," said Red. And the next thing you know he was handing the fellow a check for ten dollars!

From where I sit, some rules we make boil down to "don't do as I do, do as I say." It reminds me of a friend who drank nothing but iced tea and criticized the fact that I preferred a glass of beer. That's not only annoying, it's intolerant. Good neighbors should make tolerance the rule with more "do" and less "say."

Joe Marsh

"Can your bank help with my business problem?"

The answer is probably yes, especially if it's one that involves credit. Whether you are a "one-man business" or connected with a larger enterprise; whether you sell at retail, manufacture, farm, or deal in services; whether your problem is financing modernization of premises, inventory, fixtures, machinery, buildings, equipment, or something else—it will pay you to talk with us. We extend loans, at low cost, to sound local businesses of all kinds for sound purposes of all kinds. Come in: You will be welcome!

Spray Pine Trees to Control Pests

This pest is one of the more difficult pine tree insects to control as it spends most of its life inside the buds.

In late June and early July, the caterpillars hatch from eggs laid on the needles. They are exposed for a short time before they bore into needle bases and the buds.

Recommendations for spraying are to use 50% wettable DDT powder at the rate of 3 pounds of DDT to 100 gallons of water, or 3 level tablespoons to a gallon of water, or DDT emulsions at the rate of 3 quarts of 25% emulsion in 100 gallons of water, or 6 teaspoons in one gallon of water.

Goat for Birthday Is Party Stopper

A surprise party was staged in the Kapnick home at 507 Adrian St. Saturday evening with 33 friends and relatives suddenly descending unannounced.

Leland was overwhelmed.

But not so much as a moment later when his brother-in-law, Alfred Cutler of Canandigua (that's near Onsted), presented his gift.

It was a rather ragged, one-horned goat. Around her neck was a dainty birthday card.

"Nanny" is her name and she was purchased by Mr. Cutler at an auction that day in Hillsdale.

But that wasn't the end of the gag. After the goat had been tied out in back of the garage, Mr. Cutler phoned police to report that the Kapnick's had a goat on their property, which is restricted against such animals.

Tecumseh policeman, J. T. Callihan, arrived shortly afterwards to investigate and after a few minutes understood the prank. He made no arrests.

Sunday afternoon, Nanny was taken to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cutler, who were guests at the party and said they'd be glad to take care of her.

Smoking Straw Causes No Damage

A fire was extinguished by the fire department last Wednesday on the farm of William Kasno, 1503 Monroe Road. There was no damage. Mr. Kasno was inspecting his barn when noticed smoke in the straw on the floor of the barn.

Forty Jehovah's Witnesses from Tecumseh will attend a district convention sponsored by the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society, July 9-12 at Flint.

The event, one of 29 similar gatherings this summer in United States and Canada, will attract some 8,000 delegates according to Kenneth Ball, local spokesman for the group.

The convention next week will be held in Flint's I.M.A. auditorium where for four days, a flower-decked stage will be the center of attraction and the singing of 8,000 voices will replace the cheers of audiences and sports fans.

Featured on the program from the Watchtower's world headquarters in Brooklyn, N.Y., will be President Nathan H. Knorr. Mr. Knorr has recently completed a tour of Africa and parts of western Europe.

The climax of the program will come on Sunday, July 12, when Mr. Knorr will speak on, "When God Speaks Peace To All Nations".

4 Enjoy Girls State

The four Tecumseh girls who attended Wolverine Girls' State at the University of Michigan Campus have recently returned with tales of their experiences.

Their ten day visit was spent attending lectures and setting up their own imaginary state to carry on the government processes at the city, county, and state levels. A constitutional convention was also held to better acquaint the young citizens with the task that the state of Michigan is about to face.

Mr. Robert Sawyer, a professor from Central Michigan College, headed the educational program and was popular with all the girls for his interesting method of teaching.

High points of the session were the state convention, the formal inauguration, the mock trial, a picnic, and a pajama party.

Since one of the purposes of Girls' State is to acquaint our young female leaders with politics, it is necessary to stress the academic value of such a program.

Marilou Layton, Doris Oliphant, Mary Colgrove and Karen Hall would like to express their appreciation to their sponsors and to the community for giving them this wonderful opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Swarts and son Kenneth spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Muza Grove at her cottage on Round Lake.

Junior Hi Methodists Spend Week Camping

Sixteen members of the Jr. Hi Methodist Youth Fellowship spent a week at Camp Presque Isle, near Rogers City, June 15-19.

They were accompanied by six adults and four younger brothers and sisters.

This was the first experience in local church camping. The camp was made available by the Aden Meade family. Mr. Mead assisted the group throughout the week.

The Rev. and Mrs. James D. Nixon served as leaders, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lawson.

"We have had a lot of our young people attending camps operated by the conference camp commission during the past few years, and many are in conference camps this summer," explained Mr. Nixon.

"But this is the first time that we have taken total responsibility for such an experience as a local church.

This involved food, transportation, counselors, program, planning and insurance," he said.

Transportation was furnished by the staff and by Mrs. Jean Miller, Mrs. Frank Lasky and Mrs. Robert W. Bonner.

Activities of the group included cook-outs, morning and evening devotions, swimming twice daily, fishing, nature lore, group planning and discussion sessions, a trip to Ocqueoc Falls.

Younger campers attending with the counsellor-parents were Kathy and Nancy Mead, Bobby Lawson, and Pamela Nixon.

"We will never forget sitting around the campfire at night and hearing the whippoor-will so clearly," said one camper.

When your eye wanders off the road, your car can follow it! Remember when horses wore blinders to keep them from being distracted? Maybe drivers ought to wear them—to keep their eyes and minds fixed on the road ahead. Maybe this would keep them from killing themselves or others because of simple inattention! Last year, nearly 37,000 died in traffic accidents. Many just drove off the road or into trees—because they weren't looking! So when you drive, look alive—and stay alive!

TV ADJUSTMENTS

Folks occasionally phone us at COOK ELECTRIC and ask about how to make adjustments on their TV set. We're glad to give them any ifromation about outside controls, but the inside adjustments are a difficulty to explain. They are simple to make if you understand them, but dangerous for an amateur.

Also, when the back is taken off the set, a special cord is necessary so that the set can continue to operate. These kind of adjustments are definitely for an experienced serviceman.

Keep calling that number 692-J we're happy to be of service to you. If you haven't tried us yet, we're sure that you will be surprisingly pleased when you do. Ask your neighbor about us.

Fireworks on the Fourth

Fireworks in Tecumseh this Fourth of July will be on the golf course at the Country Club. It's going to be one of the really BIG tournaments, Frank Smith Day, in memory of the late Mr. Smith who owned the club and was one the game's greatest boosters. This year, Joe Rohweder, is serving as general chairman. Linksmen will breakfast at the club from 8 until 9 and start teeing off at 9. A trophy for low gross is the top prize and there'll be others. Taking part will be current club champion, Paul Callahan and three former champs, Roger Linger, Frank Rice and Charley Butler. A golf tourney for the gals in the afternoon at 1:30 will be followed by a clinic and buffet from 4 to 6 p.m.

The Putt's The Thing

As one sage says, "Drive for show, putt for dough." He's so right. In golf, the pay-off comes on the green. In the panel at left we see putting from all angles. Doesn't it look easy, tapping that little ball into the big cup? Just ask any golfer how simple it is —especially, if there's a dime riding on the hole.

VOL. 108 — ONE HUNDRED NINTH YEAR — NUMBER 38 | TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1959 | 12 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Long AND Short OF IT

By TOM RIORDAN

In telling about the event, the story referred to the tournament as "Fireworks on the Fourth." Only we didn't use any quotation marks around the term fireworks.

One man who brought his five children to see sky rockets and giant 'crackers was on the verge of punching golf professional Leo Bishop in the snoot when Leo told him there wasn't going to be a display.

To the people who actually thought there were going to be real, live fireworks, we are sorry.

This marks the last time we'll ever be "cute" in writing about a sports event.

In our series on local taxation, the subect of state aid to Tecumseh public schools was mentioned.

I wrote that the state pays the public school district $24 in basic state aid for every child between 5 and 19—no matter where they go to school—who lives in this district.

Thus, the state gives Tecumseh's public schools $4,800 for 200 youngsters, who live in the district, but go to St. Elizabeth's The sum does not go to the local parochial school.

However, someone didn't read it this way.

Word filters back four weeks later the fellow was telling his friends the state provided for St. Elizabeth children and therefore the private school doesn't have to worry about finances. This isn't so.

July is a strange time for an election, but there's a vote scheduled for Monday in the Tecumseh school district.

Two members will be named to the Tecumseh district school board. Only two have filed, so the interest for voters here isn't too great.

But there's another issue under consideration and one which I feel needs your support.

It seeks .32 mills for our library, which actually is not an increase to the library, but merely insurance that there will always be adequate funds to run it. (See Allan Seager's story on this page.)

"This it it!"

That's what Norm Burras of Dearborn told his wife, Clara, Thursday when they visited the outdoor art show staged by Brenda Porter.

The visitors to Tecumseh spied a modernistic oil painting done by Brenda and agreed, here was what they had been looking for. Their search has been going on since last February.

Norm, who is with Town & Country Homes, Inc., which builds houses here, explained that he and Clara have looked at more than 200 paintings over those past five months.

They knew what they wanted and that was an abstract which included golds and yellows and burnt oranges to fit the decor of their new home.

By chance, the couple were in town when Brenda's two-day showing was in progress. As they walked up to it from their car, they saw their quest was ended.

☆

The most wonderful and exciting thing happened to me Monday morning.

In the front door of the office strolled a priest from Notre Dame University, Fr. Joe Barry.

Fr. Barry was Catholic chaplain of the 157th Infantry, 45th Division, during World War II. This was the unit with which I served.

That old saw, "You could have knocked me down with a feather" was never more appropriate.

Fr. Barry is helping out at Boysville for the summer. I can hardly wait until we have some time to sit down and chat.

City Planning Group Opposes Ford Agency Remodeling Idea

By DON BAUERLE

Owners of Tecumseh's Ford agency, E. L. Simmons, Inc., will have to wait until the next council meeting to know whether or not they can add a display area to their proposed new showroom, west of town on M-50.

Mr. Martin has said he will remodel it, inside and out, and relocate in 1960.

In May, E. L. "Speck" Simmons and Bob Karle, his partner, purchased the agency from Mr. Butler.

Now, here's the rub: the city planning commission, by a 5-1 secret ballot, has rejected the dealers' request, allowing them to build a new front on the former International Harvester building.

☆

SAID ED NELSON, city manager: "There has to be a 50-foot right-of-way from the highway to the building. The state hasn't the authority to grant it, but the city does.

He said he had no objection if the owners "were willing to construct an addition to the front of it."

☆

JAMES BEARDSLEY, city attorney, did not agree. Mr. Beardsley said: "It isn't a matter of just or unjust, but what is right from Tecumseh's standpoint."

Then Mr. Purkey spoke again. He said that in the past there have been many concessions to the zoning laws. He named many businesses in the city.

Concurring with Mr. Purkey's opinion, councilman Donald Brazee added: "I can't see why we are so rough on others when we have made all these concessions."

Councilman John Hamilton suggested that the Ford agency may have to "revamp the building and build within the law."

JULIA BOYCE COMPILING SURVEY STATISTICS.

Is Herald Doing Its Job?

Specific neighborhoods were chosen in every section of The Herald's 125-odd square mile circulation territory so that an accurate cross-section would be obtained.

In addition, the girls submitted a copy of the June 25 issue to the person being interviewed and had him or her check what each read and if ads noted had prompted that individual to buy.

These all will have to be examined by Julia and fitted into the final statistics.

Each person interviewed was listed by sex, age and total income of his or her household. No names were recorded, the readers being assured this was an anonymous survey.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO ANSWER?—If you were not interviewed and would like to have your opinions included in The Herald readership survey, you are invited to drop into the office and fill out a questionnaire.

Questions included:

How much of The Herald do you read? Nearly all, about half or only a portion.

Do you think The Herald is serving the needs of Tecumseh as a weekly paper?

If you have submitted news to the paper, has it been correctly reported?

What do you think The Herald should include that it does not now include?

What is the best asset of the paper?

What would be some suggestions for improvement?

How often do you read the following—front page, Voice of The Herald, You Told Us, Heralds of Bygone Days, Long and Short of It, Through My Window, letters to the editor, out-of-town news, calendar of events, social news, Murph Reports, Supt. McDowell's Desk? (Readers could check: always, occasionally or never.)

In the advertising portion, such querries were asked as:

Do you read ads in The Herald?

How do you think shopping facilities in Tecumseh could be improved?

What percent of your buying do you do in Tecumseh—100%, 75%, 50%, 25% or 0%.

This question was followed with a breakdown groceries, men's clothing, women's clothing, children's clothing, teenage clothing, shoes, drugs and prescriptions, jewelry, flowers, gifts, hardware, building supplies, furniture and appliances and automobiles.

After each, the one questioned could note if he or she bought all, most, some, little or none in Tecumseh.

Then the person interviewed told why he or she did or did not favor Tecumseh for the specific item because of price, service, convenience, parking, selection, brands or hours.

Each interview took nearly 30 minutes and the girls working on the project report excellent cooperation.

Carol Kapnick, Adrian College.

Mary Jo Tressler and Marsha Kunkle, Siena Heights.

Barbara Boynton, Albion College.

Sharon Ries, Michigan State University.

Rita Crosby, Western Michigan University.

As statistics become available, they will be reported in future stories.

Funds for Library Could Be Insured by Voters' OKay

By ALLAN SEAGER

Next Monday, July 13, the voters will be asked if they will approve a small increase in school taxes. This increase, .32 mills per dollar of State equalized valuation, had been earmarked for the support of the Tecumseh Public Library.

There is still some confusion about this and some other points that should be cleared up.

1. It does NOT mean more money for the library.

In the last few years the Library's money has come out of the general school budget. If Mondays proposal is approved, the Library will have a separate budget account.

2. It DOES mean more money for school operation.

The money formerly given to the Library out of the general school budget will be used for school operation.

3. The reason the increase is being asked: the County, which has priority in claiming tax money, was granted a .5 mills increase this year because of heavier welfare costs.

This cut the amount of money available for schools.

Your Tecumseh Library Board serves without pay. Our only object is to provide the best library service we can on the money you people vote us. If we have a separate budget account we will know how much money we have at the beginning of each year and we can plan how to use the money more efficiently.

As it is now, we are never sure when sudden unexpected claims on the general school budget may limit what we can spend on books and services.

Your library is an important source of adult education and enjoyment in the community. Next to the schools, it is the only means of children's education.

Succeeds Himself as Board Member

LeRoy Titley, a Tecumseh insurance agent, succeeded himself Monday night as a member of the city's cemetery board. After a short discussion, Mr. Titley was unanimously re-appointed by the council.

Frank Rice Scores Ace

Frank Rice scored a hole-in-one Sunday, as he and his wife won the Tecumseh Country Mixed Baby Calcutta.

The ace came on No. 6, a 160-yard hole, as Mr. Rice's shot went into the cup on the fly.

He used a five iron.

Finishing second in the Calcutta were Mr. and Mrs. Al Merz, with Mr. and Mrs. Ted Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Miller tied for third.

On Saturday, Joe Rohweder had to go two extra holes to best Ned Rosacrans and Len Purdy in a sudden death playoff while winning a place on the Frank Smith Memorial Plaque.

The trio was deadlocked after the regular 18-hole play.

Low gross and the Frank K. Smith traveling trophy went to Andy Holmes, of Toledo. Andy scored a par 72.

He keeps the trophy for one year and must bring it back for the next annual tournament. Any-one winning the cup three times takes it out of play and a new trophy will be introduced.

Other low gross scores:

Kirk Smith, Tecumseh, 73.

Hal Zedwick, Toledo, 73.

Len Pietras, Toledo—75.

Max Smith, Jr., Tecumseh — 76.

Art Bowers, Toledo—76.

Ned Rosacrans, Tecumseh—77.

Fewest putts were turned in by Al Russell (26), followed by Virgil Tucker (27) and Jack Hanna (27).

Len Purdy was nearest to the pin on No. 6, just eight inches; Frank Rice next (7'2") and Skip Milheim (11'6") followed.

On No. 4, Sam Dodson ended up three feet from the flag and Willis Porter was runner up at 19¼ feet.

Low net was turned in by Mrs. Rice, 38. Mrs. Willis Porter had low gross, 45, and Mrs. Al Merz fewest putts, 14.

It's All Right, Mom There's No Charge

Councilmen reported Monday night that residents were complaining about a 25 cents spectator fee at the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool.

Ed Nelson, city manager, was then asked to investigate the complaints.

Result: Bleachers will be provided outside the pool, area for non-swimmers during the after noon pool hours.

Mothers, however, will be allowed to sit on the benches along side the pool area during the morning swimming lessons.

Said Mr. Nelson:

"More kids come to the pool in the afternoon who don't swim. They run around splashing water and throwing towels.

"The guards have to take their attention off the kids in the pool to watch them.

"Safety is essential," Mr. Nelson said. "Our objective: not to have an accident."

J. J. Walper, pool director, said he imposed the charge Monday to "keep the kids out who were not swimming." But parents objected.

Just for You

Mrs. Hall has worked out of Ypsilanti for over a year and Mrs. Lehman for a period of two years.

The new shop carries material from three national drapery and upholstery fabric companies. Kustom Kraft will install all material.

Samples may be viewed at the shop or a representative will call.

Polls Will Open at 7 am Monday for School Election

Polls will open at 7 a.m. Monday morning in the agricultural laboratory of the high school for the annual school election. They close at 8 p.m.

In the contest for positions on the school board, the two incumbents are running for re-election. They are Virgil Tucker, who has served one three-year term, and Jens Touborg, who has been a member since 1941.

There are two other issues in the election. Both involve finances. They are:

1. An addition of .32 mills in taxes (32 cents per $1,000 of teh state equalized evaluation of property) to operate the public library.

The school board has been supporting the library since 1952 without assessing the district. Before, the electors paid $1 per $1,000 to maintain the library.

Note: Even though residents would vote in the millage increase for five years, this year's school and library tax will still be less than last year.

2. The county board of education is asking .5 mills for educating handicapped children on a county level.

Jaycess Will Paint Park Thursday Night

The July meeting of the Jaycees will be held July 9 at 6:30 p.m. at Patterson Park. All you can eat and drink $1.

A painting session — all members should wear old clothes and bring a paint brush—will follow the business meeting.

If it rains, the meeting will be postponed until Friday night, Calf 1058 for weather information.

Dr. Laidlaw, Jaycees president, said the carnival metted the group $900 profit. "Congratulations and thanks to all who helped make the annual carnival a success," he said.

No, Sorry

Ed Nelson, city manager, told the council Monday night, in his report, that the city has to buy a new truck. The council's reply: send out bids. Mr. Nelson agreed.

Then Councilman Don Purkey asked: "Does Rambler make a truck?"

There was no reply.

Three weeks ago, the council approved the purchase of a "Rambler car" for the police department.

Freight Hours Changed

Office hours of the New York Central freight station in Tecumseh will be from 1 to 6 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday. The office will be closed on Saturday and Sunday. Loss of revenue resulted in the curtailment of services, NYC officials said.

BY DON BAUERLE

Tecumseh residents can boast that their fire department is one of the best equipped in the county.

Volunteer fireman, John Saling, using the pneolator, a device that pushes oxygen into the lungs, revived a young boy who apparently fainted in a small wading pool a week ago Sunday.

A 15-year veteran, John said the boy apparently was found just after he fell face down in the pool. Artificial respiration attempts were futile. The boy's body was lifeless.

Then John put the pneolator's mask to the boy's face. He noticed a chattering sound. Investigating, he discovered an obstruction in the boy's throat. Tilting his head forward, John said the obstruction disappeared.

About a half hour later although John isn't positive of the time, the boy was breathing again.

"WE LEARNED about government in general," said Paul Surratt, one of Tecumseh's twelve representatives at Boys' State last week at Michigan State University.

Paul said 50 boys constituted a city. Each city was named for a President of the U.S. Two cities made up a county. Each county was named for a Michigan governor.

There daily schedule was rigorous, Paul said. He was up at 6:30 a.m. each morning. From 7-8 a.m. there was room inspection. Then breakfast and meetings followed. In the evening, there usually was an assembly.

"There was little time for campaigning," Paul added.

But Paul said the boys were enlightened about the operation of the democratic system on the local, state and national level.

"We sincerely want to thank our sponsors for the opportunity to see government in action," Paul said.

A WOMAN RESIDENT called the office a week ago, complaining of a door-to-door salesman who invited himself into her house½ She was advised to report the incident to the police. She did, although she filed no charges against the salesman.

She said she was getting ready to leave for work when the door bell rang. It was the salesman. She told her children to tell him, "Mother doesn't want anything today." She thought he had left until she heard a strange voice in the house. The salesman, "an unwanted guest," had set up his display kit in the living room.

He was indignant and persistent. She kept telling him she didn't want any of his products. She warned him several times to leave her house. He did. She called the police.

Meanwhile, Ed Nelson reports that the city council has tabled a resolution relating to salesmen operating in the city. It should be discussed again at the next council meeting.

☆

WHEN I WAS returning to Tecumseh Sunday night, I passed a pick-up truck hauling a trailer loaded with a late model car. The car, by its looks, was used for racing: it had no windows, lacked a front right wheel and the body was covered with scratches and dents. Ironically, there was an advertisement on the right side of the car which said: "Ron's Auto Clinic." I wonder whether or not its owner had made an appointment.

☆

A FEW FOLKS told me the other day that a Tecumseh policeman had been seen driving a county sheriff's car, so the Roving Research Department investigated. Their reports were accurate. The '57 police car has been dismantled and the sheriff's office loaned the city another car until the new Rambler arrives.

A DUNDEE man wrote the Herald an interesting letter last Friday. He said: "In your column of news events of bygone years you had a notice that read for 1899 as follows, 'This week a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Waring.'

"I was the boy."

Betty Marie Day Marries Frank McGlasson

Betty Marie Day chose a gown of white parchment nylon for her wedding to Frank William McGlasson Sunday at the First Baptist Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day, of 1301 W. Chicago Blvd., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther McGasson, of Elkhart, Ind.

Leslie Bennet, tenor, sang "O Promise Me", "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Kenton Hunt at the organ.

Mrs. Day wore a pink nylon chiffon dress for her daughter's wedding, which was made by the bride. She wore a delicate corsage of stephanotis. Mrs. McGlasson wore a navy blue eyelet frock with an orchid corsage.

They will make their home in Elkhart until school resumes at Western Michigan University. Then they will live in Kalamazoo.

The bride is a senior majoring in music education and the groom is a junior in the school of engineering and expects to graduate from Purdue University.

Schuch-Fletcher Vows Are Spoken

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Harvey Hilyard, of Ogden Center, and Elwood Fletcher, of Tipton. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schuch, of Tecumseh.

D. Lee Johnson was best man and the guests were seated by Carl and Charles Fletcher, brothers of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Blissfield High School 1959 and the groom attended Tecumseh High School and is employed at Driscoll Brothers Motor Sales in Clinton.

Kidd-Rushling Are Married in Blissfield

Beverly Ann Kidd and George Edward Rushling, Jr. were married July 4 in a double ring ceremony at the Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church in Blissfield.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Kidd, of Adrian, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Ruby Rushling, of Britton, and the late George Rushling.

The Rev. William Wienlander performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a street length frock of white cotton dacron as she approached the altar on the arm of her father.

Her shoulder length veil was of nylon tulle and she carried a lavendar hybrid orchid and ivy with satin ribbons attached to a white brides Bible which was the gift of the groom.

The groom is a graduate of Britton-Macon School in 1957 and is engaged in farming.

Counties Need More Money to Fight Polio

"Fifty-two Michigan counties of the March of Dimes have a need for an emergency appeal to be conducted in August to continue financial support for victims of crippling polio," Paul D. Bagwell, state chairman of the polio-fighting organization, said this week.

Seven additional counties, are "on the border" and also plan emergency appeals in August.

"We are hoping there will be no epidemic in Michigan this year," Mr. Bagwell said.

"If another epidemic should occur this year as in 1958 the result would be devastating.

To forestall such an occurrence, chapters are doing everything possible to encourage persons of all ages to get themselves vaccinated against paralytic polio."

Chapters conducting an emergency appeal will retain 100 percent of all funds raised and use the money exclusively for care and treatment of paralytic polio patients.

Colorful green tents of Tecumseh's Boy Scout Troop 73 encircle the Camporee grounds at Camp Kanesatake this week on Washington Lake.

"Up here on the hill," the scoutmaster said, "they really learn scouting and to abide by their own 'boo boos.' "

Troy Oliver.
Gregg McEnroe.

Girl Scouts Fed Racoon at Camp Out

The ranger, Ike Lundberg, brought the little animal to the camp with a nursing bottle of milk and the girls fed it.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, association president, actually said that she came home rested.

She and Mrs. Howard Morris, camp nurse, spent all week at the camp while the girls came in two groups with their leaders or one of their mothers. Each group stayed three days.

The guards were Marilyn Van Camp, Susan Day, Inez Bolts, Jackie Dunn, Isabell McCombs, Sara Wright, Michelle Anderson, Sandra Howard and Ann Cameron.

Cancer Victim Is Improving

The condition of a seven-year-old Tipton girl, Susan Buell, who has a cancerous tumor in her body, is improving, her father said Tuesday night.

"She is getting some feeling back in her legs and she is no longer on just a liquid diet. She can eat anything," Mr. Buell said.

Instead of a second operation that was expected to be performed last weekend, Mr. Buell said doctors have started X-ray radium treatments, trying to kill the rest of the cancer cells in a hollow vertabrae in Susan's back.

Meanwhile, the hospital bill is mounting. Funds are coming in from a local fund but Mr. Buell said the county Cancer Society can only offer him a small amount of financial aid.

"They said about $100. There is only $3,000 for the entire county."

Extra ½ Mill Would Help County Program

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this series is a pre-junior teacher in the Adrian school system. This is the second and last article of a series.

By RUTH SHERWOOD

If Lenawee County voters approve a proposal by the County Board of Education to levy a half-mill tax for gifted and handicapped children July 13, the program will be put into operation as soon as possible.

Providing special educatiion for at least 15 per cent of the school children at both ends of the educational scale who are not developing as they should is a fairly recent consideration.

Michigan paved the way with a law passed in 1954 for financing, administration, and operation of the special program, and for the joining together of districts by contract for long terms (15 years or more) for special education.

Prior to 1954, the state matched dollar for dollar funds that local school districts contributed for educating the handicapped but many districts were too small and lacked money so could not take advantage of the state's offer.

The state agrees to pay four times ($70) the base amount per normal pupil ($190) for the physically handicapped, and double ($380) the base for the mentally handicapped. Districts have further reimbursements from the State such as $200 per year for transportation.

☆

VOTING FOR special education does not mean voting for new, expensive buildings. Vacant, available rooms will be used, and rooms and facilities will be located geographically where the greatest number of gifted or handicapped children live in a specific community.

Money collected from this proposal would pay for 12 special teachers and provide 2 special rooms each year. This does not include money which can be acquired from the State.

Children in the special program would not be separated from regular school activities but have special work in rooms apart from the others in order to develop new skills and understandings.

All registered voters can vote July 13 if they are property owners or not.

Some of the Counties which have voted on this issue and have the program already in operation are: Oakland, St. Clair, Macomb, Monroe, Jackson, Shiawassee, Muskegon, and Kent.

The program is not costly to the public—it averages less than one cent a day for most home owners. This would be an unusually valuable investment for the 15 per cent of school children involved.

Q—What is special education?

A—Education of a type designed especially for deaf, hard of hearing, blind, partially seeing, speech defective, homebound mentally handicapped, crippled or otherwise physically handicapped, or children having behavior problems, as all of such handicaps are defined by the Superintendent of public instruction.

Truck Turns Upside Down

Rain on the highway west of Billington's corners was attributed as one of the causes of an accident recently in which Palpant's Gas and Appliance delivery truck turned upside down.

Vic Palpant was driving when a car, occupied by a woman, stalled in front of him. To avoid the oncoming cars, Mr. Palpant hit the brakes and the truck slid on the wet asphalt.

"Sometimes physicians forget and talk their own language. Greek to most people. Now, about the mouthful above, ever hear something like this from your doctor? "... drawing on our present armamentarium to treat you..." Actually, "armamentarium" is just a doctor's word for the array of treatments and medications at his disposal. When it comes to drugs, this armamentarium is something. Thousands and thousands, literally. All are readily available in this pharmacy to help preserve your health when needed—a public service which we are pleased to render.

They Loved It

More than 1,000 folks of all ages had a world of fun at the recent Exchange club Dawn Patrol. These photos were scheduled to run last week, but lack of space postponed their use until this issue. The success of this year's Patrol, which attracted airborne guests from all over the midwest, sealed the club's purchase of an electric football scoreboard for Recreation field. The Exchangmeen, as usual, served a tempting ham-and-egg breakfast.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Slim Pickins-Up!

Slim Thomas' wife thought up a pretty slick way to get Slim to clean up their front porch.

Slim had a habit of leaving his tools there before coming into the house. And he'd always tell his Missus he'd get around to tidying up later.

So Mrs. T. nailed a large sign to the porch for all passers-by to see: "THOMAS' JUNK PILE, DUMP YOUR OLD EQUIPMENT HERE!" When Slim saw the sign he cleaned that porch so fast he was through before any junk depositors turned up. Threw the sign out, too.

From where I sit, sometimes it takes the "dramatic" to show folks they're wrong. But usually you can solve things by talking them out. For instance, my neighbor once objected to my preference for an occasional glass of beer. But after discussing it with him, he realized he was just plain intolerant. Now he accepts my choice as I accept his. What do you say we "clean up" all intolerant thinking?

Take a tip from the experts . . . in their own words . . . and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading low-priced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A.* makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR†-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: ". . . surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Ride MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself instantly, once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet 6's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon—with Powerglide.

Best Trade-In Check in any N.A.D.A.‡ Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

Thru My Window

TWO WEEKS OF WEATHER AND FUN!

We are thinking of hiring out—advertising and selling our services as experienced and expert weather-changers. Droughts ended, record high temperatures set or unprecedented cold-snaps started. Sorry, we don't seem to be able to do much about changing bad weather to good. Our qualifications? I am sure the people of New York, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont will be glad to vouch for us.

We have been on a two week vacation you see and my, the weather we saw and the fun we had! Leaving Tecumseh we enjoyed two days of pleasant, warm sunny seasonal weather. As soon as we entered the New York Turnpike the thermometer started to rise; by the time we were in Massachusetts it was zooming into the 90's.

In Portland, Maine we arrived just as they reached a high of 92° which broke the record that had stood since 1914. The rock-bound coast was beautiful however, and a strong breeze whipping off the ocean tempered the record heat.

For two days we enoyed this strong breeze—it was soothing to our sunburned 'red as a lobster' faces and arms; it did exciting things to the water, white-caps danced atop high waves as they came crashing to the shore and it moved the clouds at a furious pace across the bright blue June skies.

Just before arriving in Bar Harbor we began to have misgivings about this strong wind; was it's playfulness turning nasty?

DRIVING THROUGH the beautiful Acadia National Park, most of which is located on Mount Desert Island just off the coast of Maine, our suspicions increased. It was a magnificent ocean-side drive but as the afternoon wore on, the waves seemed to lash at the rocky shoreline with increased vengeance and the blue sky turned gray while dirty looking storm clouds settled on the top of Mt. Cadillac.

Saturday morning we awoke to find ourselves in the midst of a true 'Nor'ester'. Rain, wind and my, what a drop the temperature had taken.

For five days the cold wet weather plagued us.

Since a two week vacation does not allow time for waiting out storms and bad weather, we went ahead almost as planned.

Across Maine, through Bangor and Skowhegan, into New Hampshire we drove and even through rain and fog the country side was beautiful.

Taking Route 2 into Gorham, New Hampshire, we drove through the Shelburne Birches and were completely awed at the magnificence of these stately old white-trunked trees; in fact, all through New Hampshire we marveled not only at the number of birches but at their size and the extreme whiteness of their bark as well.

IN PLANNING our vacation, one of the "musts" had been a trip to the top of Mt. Washington; however, our talent for weather asserted itself again. The day we were to drive up the mountain, just as the three that proceeded it, was cold and dark and wet.

Years ago a unrewarding drive to the top of Clingman's Dome in the Smokies, during a spell of bad weather, taguht us the futility of battling up a cloud-shrouded mountain. Once up, there is nothing to see but more fog! So it was that we just cast a long and longing look at the Summit Road, added it to the fast growing list of things to do and see next year and continued on our way.

That night in a snug and warm motel room we listened to a weather news flash that told of an unseasonable snow storm on Mt. Washington which piled up drifts two feet high.

Bad weather is no stronger to Mt. Washington but two feet of snow in the middle of June is most unusual they say. The storm did provide us with one thrill we had not expected, we saw snow-capped moutains!

Driving along roads lined with verdant green forests it was most exciting to look up and see white snowy mountain peakes. Fun to see but we had no desire to be up in them!

BACK IN the Empire State the sun started to break through the overcast skies and by the time we arrived in Newark, on our way to the Jackson and Perkins Rose Gardens, the weather had definitely taken a turn for the better. As rose lovers from way way back, we were most grateful for the change.

J & P are reputed to be the largest commercial rose growers in the world and their display gardens were truly all we had hoped for—hundreds and thousands of roses at their peak of bloom were lovely lovely lovely!

It was indeed a rose lover's paradise and our all too short visit will be long remembered as one of the highlights in our '59 vacation.

So, there you have in brief form, actually too brief to do it justice, a capsule version of our two week New England vacation and an explanation of why, at the start of this article, I called us expert weather changers.

We were disappointed that it rained so much (and look as hard as we might, we ran into no vacation rain-checks — they give them at base-ball games but somehow, for trips it doesn't seem to work the same) but nevertheless, it was a wonderful wonderful vacation!

Even through the back and forth swishing and swashing of the windshield wipers the looking through our car windows was magnificent!

To be truthful it must be admitted that the rain had its good points. It was much needed for the farm lands and forests were dry to a danger point they said.

From the cameras' standpoint it was bad and we didn't get nearly the pictures we had hoped for. We have some however enough to keep memories of our trip fresh—and, as mentioned before, we have a long long list of subject material for another vacation.

Actually not being able to take pictures permitted us to see far more and travel much further than we would have had the weather been good.

Photography does take time, and who knows, had the sun shone every day, we might never have gotten away from Bar Harbor or through the White Mountains. We fell in love with them through the rain.

Watch Out! Rover Will Eat Anything

So that his patients may have added comfort, Dr. Carlos Knisley is expanding his veterinary hospital, 106 S. Maumee near E. Chicago.

"It will double my capacity," said Dr. Kniseley who has been here since Jan., 1958.

"I now have kennels for 19 dogs but I will have room for 35 or 40," he said.

"Dogs get toothaches, just like humans, but they don't have cavities. I don't know why.

Besides examining all kinds of animals, including birds, he performs many different operations, such as tonsillectomies or the removal of tumors or kidney stones

"I even do Caesereans on dogs," he added.

He warned that dogs shouldn't have bone because they are easy to swallow. They usually lodge in the throat.

"THE GREATEST DIFFICULTIES LIE WHERE WE ARE NOT LOOKING FOR THEM"

Some people thoughtlessly obtaining medicines and health-aids from unqualified sources, do not realize they may be causing serious difficulties. Medicines are not ordinary merchandise to be sold by anyone.

Pharmacists are taught that any medicine can be potentially dangerous if taken improperly. Patent medicines sometimes only relieve symptoms while masking serious troubles. We can tell you about any possible dangers and advise you when it is best for you to consult a physician. You are safer when you get medicines from a pharmacist.

PLAY BALL!

The young ballplayer runs toward first base. Then he is tagged out by the first baseman as the umpire cries: "Yer out." Kicking the bag, he returns to the dugout. He tried to beat out that infield throw. He didn't. As he sits down on the dugout bench, he hopes the next batter will get a single or perhaps a home run. Then an irate fan shouts: "Hey, ump, you need glasses." Removing his mask, the umpire points a finger at his glasses. Noticing the glasses, the fan says, "You'd better clean them." Answers the umpire: "Got a handkerchief?" So the fan obliges the umpire. The game continues. This is just one of the anecdotes which happen—game after game—at Little League baseball games. Last Thursday night, a Herald photographer went to the field, behind the swimming pool, and got these candid shots. Here is what he saw as the Products team meet the Exchange. The final score was Products, 4 and Exchange, 2. Each team got five hits. And the player who was called out at first got his wish, too: the next batter hit a triple.
